Euromart Move 'Total' Says Brown

University Autonomy To Be Studied

MONTREAL (CP)—A study of relations between universities and governments—from the ground up—was announced at a press conference today by representatives of university students and teachers.

Announcement of the study was made on an assurance received Wednesday that the Ford Foundation will finance the $150,000 project.

Dr. Jacques St. Pierre, chairman of a steering committee of teachers and student leaders which approached the foundation, said three commissioners would be appointed "within the next few weeks" to undertake the year-long study.

The steering committee includes Dr. St. Pierre, professor of mathematical studies, University of Montreal, Doug Ward of the Canadian Union of Students, Robert Thessier of the Quebec General Students Union, Dr. A. B. B. Moore, president of Toronto's Victoria University, and J. Percy Smith, executive director of the Canadian Association of University Teachers.

Dr. St. Pierre said the mandate of the study is to examine "the distinctive role of universities in the changing Canadian society and to determine the need, nature and extent of both university autonomy and government control of universities."

Recommendations on the basis of the study will be submitted by the three-man commission for approval to the student and teacher associations and the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada.

DENIES INFERENCE

Dr. St. Pierre denied that the study was given impetus by the decision last year of the federal government to discontinue grants to universities, thereby leaving them dependent on provincial governments in financial negotiations for public money.

The problem of university-government relations, he said, has been growing increasingly acute in the opinion of members of the academic community in the last few years. It has also been recognized by governments.

"When we approached the departments of education of each of the 10 provincial governments they were very enthusiastic about the proposal, but didn't feel they were in a position to contribute financially."

The steering committee eventually applied to the Ford Foundation in preference to a Canadian financial source, he said, because the only possible sources in this country are government-sponsored, and "we didn't want it to look as though we were beginning with loaded dice."

Mr. Thessier, representing the French-speaking students' union, said in French that although his organization was a strongly autonomous one, its executive welcomed the opportunity to take part in the "first university-governments relations study which has not been pragmatic, bureaucratic and content to accept the status quo."

Dr. St. Pierre said the commission would receive briefs from all interested groups and would hold public hearings.

'MILLIONS APPROVED WITHOUT DEBATE'

STARR
. . . unfair to taxpayer

OTTAWA (CP) — Michael Starr, interim leader of the Opposition, today bitterly criticized the government and Commons rules for allowing millions of dollars in 1967-68 appropriations to be voted by the end of the day without adequate debate.

He said the Progressive Conservatives will not agree to renewal next session of the temporary rule now in effect requiring all remaining spending estimates to be voted on the 30th day of Commons study of the appropriations.

"This is not what the taxpayer expects of Parliament," Mr. Starr told a press conference. "It's not fair to the taxpayer."

Political, Economic Destiny

LONDON (AP) — Britain's commitment to join the European Common Market is total, Foreign Secretary George Brown declared today.

"Our major field of operations from now on must be in and through Europe," Brown told a packed House of Commons.

The foreign secretary was speaking against the background of a political turmoil which has placed his own government post in danger.

Britain, he said, wants to "work out in Europe, and with other Europeans, our common destiny and not just our economic destiny, but our political destiny too."

Brown said there is a growing public opinion in Europe urging Britain and Europe onward toward "a really effective European unity." But he shied away from advocating some form of federalism when questioned by a Labor MP.

PROMPTED LAUGHTER

He brought laughter to ease the tension somewhat when he referred to French opposition to British entry into the Common Market as "the immovable object." He quickly added:

"The forces building up more and more in support of our entry into the European communities are not ranged against France and they are not ranged against the French government.

"The tide of public opinion is for Europe. And France, no less than Britain, is an essential part of Europe."

Brown said he has noted a shift in emphasis in the last few weeks in the French position toward British entry. The British have long maintained that President de Gaulle's attitude toward British membership is political.

Now, said Brown, the French see Britain's economic strength and the world role of sterling as the main obstacle. The British government, he said, stands ready to discuss in detail these viewpoints during negotiations.

The foreign secretary spoke of Vietnam and the possibilities of peace in glum terms. He said prospects of negotiations are dim "because the gulf between the combatants seems at the moment to be much too wide."

SEES HALT IN BOMBING

He said he remains convinced the Americans will halt the bombing of North Vietnam "as soon as it is clear that the possibility of progress to negotiations for peace is in sight." He added, however:

"But with no indication from the other side of what might or might not flow from a decision to stop the bombings, the cost has to be counted in terms of Vietnamese, American, Australian and New Zealand lives."

On the Middle East dispute between Arab and Jew, he warned that time is running out.

"Yet I believe there are no elements in the problem fundamentally insoluble. It is the cloud of suspicion, of fear and of recrimination which prevents progress and I believe that cloud is so dense that it is unrealistic that the mere pressure of events will bring the two sides together in negotiation."

He said he hopes to announce soon resumption of diplomatic relations with Egypt.

FROM ANGOLA

Mercenaries Invade Congo

KINSHASA (AP) — A column of white mercenaries and Negro soldiers invaded The Congo's Katanga province from the Portuguese colony of Angola, Congolese government sources said today.

The unidentified band crossed the border some time Wednesday and stole at least four trucks, the army reported. Other government reports put the number of trucks at 16.

From the border the soldiers drove about 60 miles east and captured a train, the army said.

Latest reports put them about halfway to Lubumbashi, the Katangan capital formerly known as Elisabethville, with about 100 miles to go.

Military sources said The Congo Army would probably blow up one of several bridges along the way. The government said all troops in the area have been dispatched to cut off the column.

PROMISE ACTION

In a recent interview in the Brussels daily La Derniere Heure, two close collaborators of the Belgian mercenary leader, Col. Jean Schramme, had announced that if negotiations with The Congo government for the evacuation of the rebels failed, a new action would be undertaken. The interviewed mercenaries added that at any rate the political action against the Mobutu regime would continue.

Reports in Kinshasa, the federal capital formerly known as Leopoldville, said Congolese troops have launched a new attack in the Bukavu area.

The Red Cross has been trying in vain to organize evacuation from Bukavu of the white mercenaries and rebel Katangans. The Congolese government has not yet replied to a Red Cross request for a cease-fire so that the rebels could be flown out of The Congo.

Bukavu, near the eastern border of The Congo, is about 1,000 miles northeast of the force reported invading from Angola.

Communists Beaten Off, 463 Killed

SAIGON (CP) — Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops tried and failed again in a massive attack today to capture Loc Ninh, a district headquarters town they first struck last Sunday. U.S. and South Vietnamese soldiers, artillery and planes hurled them back.

Field dispatches said 463 Communists were killed in this fourth drive of the week on Loc Ninh, near the Cambodian frontier 72 miles north of Saigon. Geurrillas in retreat after a disastrous setback Tuesday had told villagers they would return.

CELEBRATION ON

Moscow Unveils Statue of Lenin

MOSCOW (CP)—Russia today began its formal celebration of the 50th anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution by unveiling a statue of Lenin in the Kremlin.

Leonid Brezhnev, Communist party general secretary, walked slowly up to the pedestal holding the statue of Lenin, founder of the Soviet state, and cut the ribbon holding a sheet over it.

Russia planned six days of festivities to mark the anniversary. The celebrations are to culminate in an hour-long military parade through Red Square Nov. 7 and a spectacular fireworks display that night.

While Soviet factories produced replicas of old coats and conical hats worn by the first Red Army, Communist leaders began gathering for talks. A key subject was China, the one major Communist power that snubbed Russia's invitation to the big party.

Communist sources said they expected the current discussions to lead toward a world Communist conference at which the Soviet concept of proper Communist policies could be officially endorsed and China's condemned.

SOVIET SPACE 'SPECTACULAR' STILL AWAITED

BOCHUM, Germany (UPI) —The West German space observatory today reported the Soviets were broadcasting Russian march music and songs on their space experiment frequencies, apparently as a prelude to a new space spectacular.

Heinz Kaminski, director of the institute for satellite and space research at Bochum, said "apparently the Soviets are trying to free these frequencies entirely to use them for the major space experiment we are expecting."

'OPPRESSION'

China Raps Russian Leadership

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The New China news agency today launched a violent attack on the Russian leadership, accusing it of capitalist-style exploitation and police state oppression.

In a lengthy article, marking the start in Russia of celebrations of the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, the agency bitterly denounced what it called "the privileged bourgeois stratum" ruling Russia.

"It exercises strict control over the armed troops, ceaselessly strengthens police measures, plants plainclothed agents in every nook and corner of the country, sets up many concentration camps and ruthlessly supresses the discontent and opposition of the working people," the agency said.

The agency claimed that demonstrations and strikes are held in many places in Russia despite police suppression.

'BACKUP' PLANE HIT

KUALA LUMPUR (AP)—A U.S. Air Force C-118 transport, scheduled to serve as a backup plane for U.S. Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey's South Vietnam battlefield tour Wednesday, was hit by four rounds of small-arms fire while on a flight with only the crew aboard, a U.S. spokesman in this Malaysian capital said today. No one was hurt.

St. Vincent Society

TINY AGENCY HELPS FAMILIES IN NEED

By TED GASKELL

The St. Vincent de Paul Society only receives 1.3 per cent of the United Red Feather Red Cross Appeal budget but every penny will be well spent.

Its total budget is $5,810 and the United Appeal will provide $5,245.

Where does the money go? It goes to families in need; it helps to provide homes, permanent and temporary for children who are destitute.

In the first 10 months of this year, says secretary Maurice Johnson, the society has provided 2,750 quarts of milk to the needy. It has served 400 hot meals, provided 870 night's shelter. Last Christmas the society distributed 53 hampers which served 205 persons.

It has found homes, foster or adoption, for 88 children and gave a Christmas party for the same number.

Two truckloads of warm clothing were sent up to Tofino to help out people who had suffered as the result of the tidal wave.

Not long ago the society learned of an elderly couple, both too old to work, who lived in two rooms which they couldn't afford to heat. The society paid the fuel bill.

Four youngsters in a family were suffering because their father was too sick to work but wasn't eligible for welfare. The society provided for their needs until the social welfare could take over.

A tradesman from the east expecting to find work here, moved out with his family. There was no work and no money until St. Vincent de Paul Society arranged for him to retrain at a vocational school and provided temporary help for his family.

"We try to get people to help themselves wherever possible," said Mr. Johnson. "We have no office and always visit the needy at their homes so we can see for ourselves what is required.

But the society isn't always paying out.

Sometimes the families helped make donations when they are financially able. Recently a cheque was received from Quebec from the family of a transient the society had helped here.

The society helps in the case of fires and disasters and is working on a plan to act as a central control for general aid.

"The society, under the proposed plan, would act as a co-ordinator of donations," said president G. F. Cox.

"At the moment there is sometimes an embarrassment of one thing and a shortage of another, when disaster or fire strikes.

"As co-ordinator we would accept donations and issue clothing and furniture as needed. In case of duplication we would hold articles for use at another time."

Committee To Hear Viet Monk

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons external affairs committee decided today to call a Vietnamese Buddhist monk as a witness Nov. 16.

It decided at the same time by a vote of 4 to 2—the other seven committee members present abstained—to call a witness who would express the viewpoint of the South Vietnamese government.

The monk is Thich Venerable Nhat Hanh, who lives in Paris.

The committee also instructed the external affairs department to find out whether a Canadian Parliamentary delegation would be welcome in Saigon and Hanoi.

Marcel Lambert (PC—Edmonton West) said that if the committee is going to provide a platform for everyone who wants to sound off it should also hear both sides of the Middle East, Rhodesia and Nigeria problems.

Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) said that if the committee is going to delve into the Vietnam situation it should call Canadians to testify.

He suggested Chester Ronning, who made two diplomatic missions to Hanoi for the Canadian government last year.

'Freedom This Month'

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain announced today it will give independence to the South Arabian Federation in the second half of this month, when all British forces will be withdrawn.

Co-operation Aim of Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and France have made a deal to co-operate more closely in development of programs in the field of defence production, research and development, it was announced today.

A brief government release said the move was aimed at strengthening relations between the two countries. But it was understood that another aim is to promote trade in the defence field between the two countries.

STANFIELD ELECTION FOES ALLEGE BRIBERY ATTEMPT

TRURO, N.S. (CP) — The two candidates running as independents in the federal Colchester-Hants byelection Monday say they have been offered bribes to withdraw from the contest. The third candidate is Progressive Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield.

Elwood Smith of Sudbury, Ont., campaigning as an independent despite membership in the New Democratic Party, said today he has sent a letter to Chief Electoral Officer J. M. Hamel in Ottawa asking for an inquiry.

He says in the letter he is prepared to name the persons involved in the bribery offer to an inquiry.

Robert Kirk, an Independent Liberal who came last at the polls when Colchester-Hants was won by Conservative Cyril Kennedy in the 1965 election, said he too had been offered bribes.

"Definite," he said in confirming the report. He was urged to withdraw by "not only bribery but by threats of life."

The bribes were offereed in person by individuals he would not name. The threats were made by telephone and became so violent that "I had to get the doctor to come and give my wife a needle for her nerves."

However, Mr. Kirk said he would make no pre-election protest because it might hurt his chances. "The election might be called off and I think I can defeat Stanfield."

In his letter to Mr. Hamel, Mr. Smith says that "on Oct. 24, an offer of money was made to encourage me to withdraw from the campaign.

"The offer indicated that I would be paid my nomination fee and possibly additional money to cover expenses."

WOLVERHAMPTON, England — Prince Philip says he doesn't know all that he might about British industry but won't go to work in a factory to round out his education.

William Kirk, a Wolverhamption industrialist who criticized the Queen's husband last week for knocking British management, got an appeasing letter from Philip Wednesday.

"I am quite prepared to agree," the prince wrote, "that a closer inspection of industry would do me a lot of good.

"But have you considered the possibility that I might come out even more irritated and frustrated, judging by the problems you list in your letter?"

Prince Philip regularly needles British industry to make itself more efficient. After his latest criticism last week, Kirk wrote him suggesting he didn't know what he was talking about and citing some of the headaches of management. He advised Philip to put in some work on the factory floor.

"This is a most sincere letter," Kirk said Wednesday night. I'm going to send him a note inviting him to visit this factory."

LOS ANGELES — Roman Catholic nuns live to an average age of 77—longer than any other group of Americans—a New Orleans surgeon said Wednesday.

Dr. James T. Nix, associate professor of surgery at Louisiana State University, reported to the 1967 convention of the American College of Gastroenterology after a five-year study of nuns living in 262 religious communities.

"They have no stomach cancer, no cirrosis of the liver, only rare cases of appendicitis and their diseases generally come later than other women's."

Nix said his study was proposed by Pope John XXIII and carried out with the aid of the American Cancer Society and the Conference of Major Religious Superiors for Women.

"Pollution! What pollution?"

Canadian Aid To Vietnam Called 'Mess'

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Michael C. Hall of Toronto, a surgeon who served for three years in Vietnam, today described Canadian aid to Vietnam as a "mess."

He testified before the Commons external affairs committee that at least six other countries—the United States, France, Japan, West Germany, Australia and Thailand—have given more aid to Vietnam than Canada.

He said he was unable to understand External Affairs Minister Martin's Oct. 11 Commons statement that Canada ranks third in this field.

Andrew Brewin (NDP—Toronto Greenwood) demanded that Mr. Martin be called before the committee, which next meets next Thursday, to explain his statement.

COULD BE BETTER

Dr. Hall said Canadian aid has not been generous and that it could have been of better quality. He made these specific charges:

—He asked in 1964 for Canadian technicians to make artificial limbs for civilian war wounded. The matter was still under discussion.

—The External aid office would not pay the minimum salaries asked by Canadian nurses who wanted to go to Vietnam.

—The only medical supplies ever sent him by the office were bandages and rubber gloves. He had asked for medicine, including antibiotics to treat tuberculosis patients.

—He had become a "professional beggar" seeking medical supplies from representatives of other countries.

—One of the 10 pre-packaged hospital units sent to Vietnam this year for civilian use was given to a Vietnamese military hospital.

—Canada ranked 12th among 14 countries supplying medical personnel to Vietnam. There were six Canadians.

—After three years no action had yet been taken on construction of a rehabilitation centre for child amputees.

—Canada has sent wheat to Vietnam although the Vietnamese have no ovens to bake bread.

Seeks Jets In Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — King Hussein of Jordan said Tuesday night Jordan will try to buy jet fighters from Russia if Britain refuses to supply them.

The 31-year-old king, speaking on his arrival at London Airport for a two-day visit to Britain, said Jordan not likely will have difficulty getting military equipment from the Soviet Union.

He denied he came to Britain to ask for aircraft, but he said there is a strong possibility he might ask Britain for figher aircraft in the future.

"We will look at our requirements and try to get equipment from any source, including Russia, if necessary."

He was to meet British Prime Minister Wilson today, then continue to the United States Thursday afternoon.

Avoid Imposing Morals New Plea on Abortions

OTTAWA (CP)—A national referendum or plebiscite among mothers and women of child-bearing age might help decide whether to make it easier to obtain an abortion legally, a woman witness suggested to the Commons health committee today.

The idea came from Mrs. Lore Perron, 31-year-old mother of two and president of the Association for the Modernization of Canadian Abortion Laws.

Mrs. Perron said if the legislators find it difficult to decide whether to change the abortion laws they might "let women of child-bearing age and mothers" do so.

"Could we not put it on the ballot when the next election comes up?" she replied when Ray Ballard (PC—Calgary South) questioned her about the mechanics of getting the opinions.

SEEK CHANGES

The association called for changes to the Criminal Code to permit abortion where the physical or mental health of a pregnant woman is endangered, where pregnancy results from rape or incest and where there is a high probability of retardation or malformation of the child or where a serious hereditary disease is present.

Mrs. Perron said this is the position of a majority of the association's 350 members and, she believes, of most Canadian women.

Ralph Cowan (L—York Humber) was ticked off by two colleagues for questioning Mrs. Perron closely about her knowledge of the abortion laws in Canada before she moved here 10 years ago.

Mrs. Perron got a round of applause from the women in the audience for telling Mr. Cowan she "chose this country as my own and there can be improvements made in any country no matter what its standard of living or legal standards."

The association advocates wider use and knowledge about birth control devices of all kinds and the teaching of sex and birth control in the schools.

The association brief argued that those who regard abortion as murder have no right to impose the consequences of their beliefs on those to whom it is morally acceptable.

Touching briefly on the moral issues, the association's brief argues that only at around 12 weeks has the child developed to the stage of being recognizably human.

By the time a pregnancy has gone that far "it is too late for any abortion except one to save the mother from a very direct threat to her life."

The brief says that since 1869 the Roman Catholic Church has held as doctrine that the soul appears at conception, although theologians of the Church in earlier times placed it at later periods of pregnancy.

No Reason For Duel

MONTEVIDEO (AP) — An Uruguayan court of honor decided Wednesday there is no reason for a duel between President Oscar Gestido and his former finance minister, Amilcar Vasconcellos.

Gestido, a 65-year-old retired air force general, challenged Vasconcellos Saturday, saying Vasconcellos had made offensive remarks in a speech after resigning his post Oct. 9.

100 DROWN ON FERRY; 2 SAVED FROM DEBRIS

JAKARTA (AP) — More than 100 persons are reported drowned after a ferry capsized in the treacherous rip tide of the strait between the Indonesian islands of Lombok and Bali.

The official news agency Antara said the craft, reported to be a small military vessel, sailed 10 days ago.

The captain and one passenger were rescued after being discovered clinging to a piece of wood.

Silently Against War In Ottawa

WEEKLY VIGIL IN OTTAWA

Silent Protest Against War

By TOM MITCHELL

OTTAWA (CP) — Charlotte McEwen finished her 30-minute silent vigil as the clock in the nearby Peace Tower chimed 1 p.m.

She lowered her placard calling for an end to the war in Vietnam.

"I think for me it all started when I heard a spokesman for the external affairs department struggling over the term concentration camp and replacing it with the term strategic hamlet."

Then there was a report on war injuries and deaths of children in Vietnam—"babies burned by napalm, and this is in South Vietnam, mind you."

Another point was an award by the United States to a scientist who discovered a rice blast fungus to kill the rice in Vietnam, in a world that is hungry."

"It makes one want to do something about it."

STANDS 30 MINUTES

One thing the Ottawa housewife is doing is standing silently for 30 minutes each Wednesday in a vigil organized by members of the Ottawa Committee to End the War in Vietnam. It is held at the end of the downtown Sparks Street shopping mall, a block from Parliament Hill.

Eight women and one man completed the vigil Wednesday, the second one held here. There had been 11 participants but two had to leave before the 1 p.m. finishing time.

The participants spaced themselves about 10 feet apart along the sidewalk where the mall meets Elgin Street. They stood silently, but answered questions when any passerby asked the purpose of the demonstration.

They plan to continue the "recurring, visible, personal witness" every Wednesday and have invited other groups to join them in protest against the war.

A statement prepared by the group says:

"Letters can be filed away but we believe that our presence cannot be so easily dismissed."

The silent vigil has caught on in more than 200 U.S. cities and in Vancouver and Victoria, Mrs. McEwen said.

Oppose War, Gordon Asks

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Walter Gordon urged Canadians Wednesday night to do all they can to mobilize world opinion against the war in Vietnam before a bombing escalation leads to nuclear war between the United States and China.

Speaking to an audience at Queen's University, Mr. Gordon, president of the Privy Council, said the danger of a nuclear war is "aggravated every day by what is going on in Southeast Asia."

Mr. Gordon predicted that Canada's standard of living would be twice as high at the end of the century if nuclear war is avoided and if Canadians "can learn to live together."

Referring to relations between French and English-speaking Canadians, Mr. Gordon said Rene Levesque "performed a great service,' when he faced Quebec Liberals with the separatist issue.

Mr. Levesque, a former Liberal cabinet minister, recently broke away from his party over the separatist issue.

Political Background Asked

IMMIGRATION FORM TOUCHES OFF DISPUTE

OTTAWA (CP)—An application form requiring immigrants to list their political and social backgrounds is aimed at opening the door to immigrants from behind the Iron Curtain, an official said today.

"The things we're asking people on the form are things we've always looked into anyway," the official added.

Vancouver lawyer Douglas E. Sanders objected Tuesday during a University of British Columbia panel discussion to the government asking for such information.

Mr. Sanders, who brought the new form to light, said an official told him it was aimed at keeping out subversives. "I told him that being a Communist was not illegal in Canada and he said 'maybe we don't want any more Communists here.'"

An immigration official here said however that under the present Immigration Act, it may be illegal for a Communist to enter Canada.

"The rights of a Canadian and a person seeking to live in Canada are different under the act," he said.

The form went into use Oct. 1. Earlier this year, the department posted an officer in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. It hopes to do the same in other Communist countries.

The official said the department was unable to admit would-be immigrants from such countries before because it couldn't make inquiries about them.

The new form was the alternative to closing the door to all such immigrants.

"Communist membership isn't and absolute barrier," the official said.

The screening was aimed at criminals or those who might "come in and destroy the country and its institutions."

It was evident that criminals wouldn't list themselves as such. However, the written information might tip alert officers to a criminal background.

HUMPHREY LASHES WAR DISSENTERS

SAIGON (WP)—Using South Vietnam as a special base for his attack, Vice-President Hubert Humphrey lashed out Tuesday in a fighting speech against anti-war extremists in America.

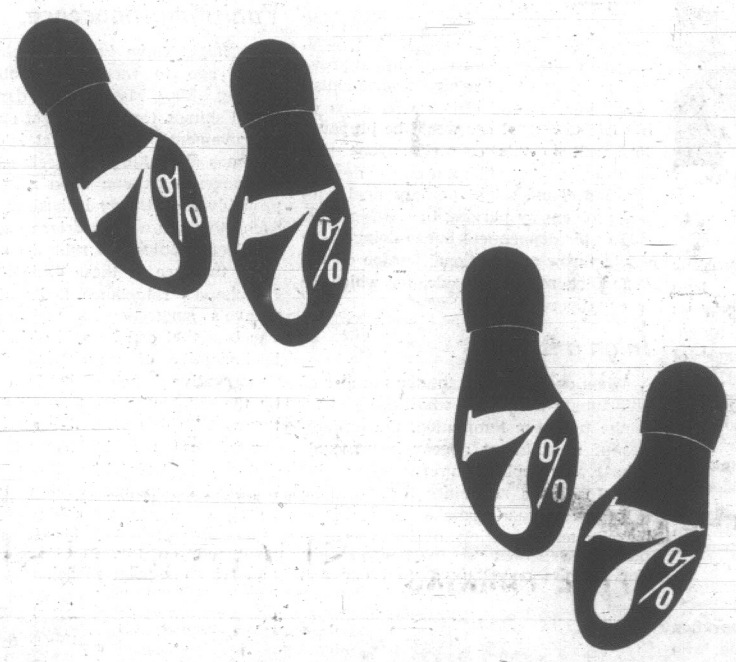

"These angry voics of ugly dissent are not the true voice of America," he cried at one point. "The true voice of America is a soldier's child asking his mothr where his daddy is."

A Plain Message

INCREASING NUMBERS OF federal ministers, bankers, industrialists and economists have voiced their warnings that unless something drastic is done, and soon, we shall be in for an even more serious acceleration in the inflationary spiral. And the usual threat has been that unless the demand for goods and services is slackened by voluntary retrenchment then higher taxes must be imposed to remove excess buying power from the market.

Now the able governor of the Bank of Canada, Mr, Louis Rasminsky, reinforces those warnings, and he puts his message over in a few graphic sentences—the ABC of inflationary theory.

"In real terms," Mr. Rasminsky says, "the increase in our income per head depends on the increase in our output per head. If we increase the money incomes we pay ourselves more rapidly than we increase our production, then costs and prices are bound to go up."

"Over a period of time what we can consume depends on what we can produce. If this fact is not reflected in appropriate restraint and prudence on the part of government, management and labor, then we shall have to adjust to hard economic reality in other more painful ways."

* * *

There it is in plain terms. The key word is restraint—not only in our private demands for goods and higher incomes but in our resistance to any government which tries to cut back on public spending.

Government can impose policies which will help to curb rising prices and interest rates, but it can go only as far as the public is willing to tolerate. It can set tax rates higher, cut its own spending and within limits manage the money supply and interest rates. But the public must understand what its government is doing and support it in achieving the objective.

The role of labor is outlined by Mr. Rasminsky's comment that the pressures of costs on the economy can be moderated "by keeping increases in incomes closer to what the economy can really back up in the form of goods." That, of course, goes for all income-earning employees, executive or otherwise. The logic of the appeal is evident all around us in the way prices of the things we need keep pace with the increased incomes we have available for spending.

Governments today, with their vast construction and development programs, contribute heavily to the pressure on prices and have become a major inflationary factor. Government demand for money, through large bond issues, is likewise a major part of the demand which has pushed up interest rates—the price of borrowed money.

* * *

The difficulty is that from the individual's viewpoint so many of the spending projects are essential. It is the other fellow's projects which should be cut in order to ease inflation: our schools, our hospitals, our museum, our housing, our hydro complex must go ahead; let the cuts be made in some other part of the country.

The problem is not confined to domestic affairs, of course. Price levels and interest rates that are out of line with the trend in other countries invite early readjustment. Says Mr. Rasminsky, on this point: "The most obvious danger is that if we fail to keep our costs under control, we will price ourselves out of export markets and lose out to import competition at home, so that the growth of the economy will be seriously impaired."

That would constitute one of the "more painful ways" in which adjustment would be made. To avoid it, and other equally unfortunate events, Finance Minister Sharp may raise taxes before the year ends, and there may be other measures designed to curb spending. The reception of such steps, by political opposition and the country at large, will indicate whether we have yet got the message that we are headed for serious trouble and that counteracting measures must be immediate, not vaguely in the future.

Voices From on High

THE PROMISE THAT COMmunication satellites hold out for an international common market of high quality television, is threatened by commercial and government avarice, warns a man who qualifies as an expert on the subject.

He is Mr. Fred Friendly, the highly-respected public affairs producer who quit his job with an American TV network when executives over-ruled his decision that it was more important to let viewers watch the United Nations debates following the Arab-Israeli war than the scheduled offerings of soap opera and daytime quiz shows.

Now a consultant for the Ford Foundation and a professor at Columbia University, Mr. Friendly said the other day in a London lecture that "Television can make so much money doing its worst that it cannot afford to do its best." The problem is, he said, that the international decisions about the use of synchronous satellites for TV program interchange are being dominated by "dollar, pound, franc and rouble considerations" and that governments are proving to be just as greedy as commercial operators when it comes to seeking revenues.

A "promising world village" linked by satellites, Mr. Friendly said, is in danger of being turned into "an electronic slum" unless some way can be found of asserting the public's right to decent quality. This is a dismal enough prospect, but perhaps more dismaying is the possibility that satellite TV may become more concerned with promoting national images—propaganda, in a word—than with international understanding.

Border Sparring

IT WOULD BE NAIVE TO believe that the increase in provocative incidents on the border dividing North and South Korea is anything but a harassing tactic related to the Vietnam war. South Korea has sent two brigades to fight with the United States in South Vietnam—offset to some degree by American reinforcements in South Korea—and the Pyongyang government has stepped up its attacks in the border region as retaliation and in sympathy with Hanoi.

Nevertheless, there is a disturbing feature to the North Koreans' refusal to allow the United Nations to adjudicate the border disputes. The UN political committee, by a vot of 58-25 with 25 abstentions, agreed to extend the invitation on the condition that North Korea unequivocally accept the competence and authority of the UN to settle the matter. Communist spokesmen on the committee argued during the debate that the UN Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea is nothing more than an extension of the Pentagon and serves no useful function.

It would be easier to dismiss this as typical Communist anti-American propaganda were it not for the fact, admitted by the UN authorities, that the United States which does in fact run the Commission has submitted no report on its operations to the UN since 1953. It should be a matter of considerable concern to all members that any organization operating under the aegis of the UN should be responsible to it, that the members should receive regular reports and should be in a position to define policy.

"... someday I'll have a link-up, by golly ... some place ... somehow ... with somebody ..."

Times Good Music Hour

It is a long time now since I began to listen regularly to your nightly concerts, and now these are more valuable to me than ever as I am very much of a shut-in at nights. Not very often do we get really good music nowadays, so I do appreciate what we get, and want to let you know that your evening hour of music on CJVI is enjoyed very much indeed.—Mrs. Janet J. Milne, St. 75, 3360 E. 4th Ave., Vancouver.

. . . Cake and Eat It

The proposed closing down of the shipbuilding section of VMD brings home the truth of the well-known adage: "You can't have your cake and eat it too." In this case B.C. can't go on paying the highest wages in Canada, and hope to compete successfully against shipyards in eastern Canada, Sweden or Japan, where wages haven't sky-rocketed to such an extent as they have here in B.C.

The labor unions must see that their continual demands for higher and higher wages, and shorter and shorter hours, and their numerous strikes and picket lines, are pushing the cost of the finished product so high that their employing firms can no longer compete successfully in world markets.—M. Rockwood, 2464 Plumer.

Sense of Values

We have lost our sense of values to the extent that, both socially and legally, the main body of sympathy now goes to the perpetrator of a crime, rather than to his victim; or (in the case of murder, including sex-slayings) to those who have tragically lost a loved-one.

In a panel discussion in Vancouver recently a political science professor differed with an eminent member of the legal profession in the matter of civil-rights, advocating the American system with respect to criminals which makes it almost a crime to convict one of them. One's rights end where they infringe upon the rights of others; to wit, a homicide has no right to deny another his 'right' to live.

We reach the ultimate in contradictory language when we decree, "not guilty by reason of insanity," or because the offender was not conscious of the act by reason of hallucinosis produced by intoxicants or drugs.

Guilt, as described by Webster, is "the fact of having committed a breach of conduct; culpability; sin." Apart from insanity (though this too very often is similarly induced), impairment is born of self-willed indulgence in habits fully known by the participant to rob him of his senses. Homicide is not necessarily the intent of the culprit — but the victim is just as dead as if it were.

Dr. Duncan Sandys, prominent British politician, is reported to be heading a movement to restore capital punishment in that country, because convictions for capital murder in the two years since suspension in 1965 are 67 against but 35 prior to that action. — D. C. Hartley, 1284 Revercomb.

FROM OTTAWA — By MAURICE WESTERN

Only Little Old Ladies Need Apply

IN AN effort to be helpful to Immigration Minister Marchand, Robert McCleave, a Nova Scotia Conservative, has suggested that the rather controversial ten-point immigration test be scrapped in favor of the single question to be answered by the immigration officer: Would you buy a used car from this person?" Mr. McCleave, as a fair-minded man, conceded that the new approach might involve certain difficulties. "I am afraid," he said, "that were (the new test) applied completely it might mean that Canada would become occupied by little old ladies, of both sexes, who drove their vehicles only on Sunday."

Western

While there may be a trace of bitterness in this remark, the Halifax member is likely to be reproached for it only by those drivers (approximately 50 per cent) whose used cars were formerly in the possession of elderly clergymen, most of whom walked to work on Sunday. In any case all this is marginal to the immediate problem raised by the McCleave proposal.

A Few Low Hurdles

The trouble is that any immigration official, working for Mr. Marchand, who yielded to temptation and bought a used car from an intending immigrant, would immediately be introuble with the minister of national revenue. Our law governing such prohibited goods is based on the conviction that it is not possible to import user cars without exporting used car dealers.

It is true that one desirable change often leads to another and the above situation could be easily remedied by an appropriate change in the law. If past governments have been right in their judgment, we would then have used car dealers moving in and used car dealers moving out; a reasonable normal situation when one considers our immigration history.

The great attraction of Mr. McCleave's proposal is that it is completely non-discriminatory. There is nothing in it about race, color, creed, education, technical qualifications, or brothers-in-law in Canada. It requires only that a man should have a manner and countenance frank and open enough to draw the elderly ladies and clergymen in the first instance and sufficiently reassuring to lull the customers in the second.

It has another merit. Our national purpose, obscured by innumerable speeches about the constitution but plain enough from the speeches of Trade Minister Winters and George Hees, is to sell. Any man equipped to sell the used cars now on our roads should be capable of selling anything. It is surprising that External Affairs Minister Martin, who comes from Windsor, has not drawn more heavily on the pool of talent represented by the used car industry in his efforts to sell his Vietnam policy or the 12-mile fishing zone to the U.S. government.

There is, however, a disturbing possibility that Mr. McCleave's test, although non-discriminatory, might prove in practice thoroughly restrictionist. What immigration officer who owns or has owned a used car would be prepared to admit to this country anyone who looks even faintly like a used car dealer? Mr. Marchand might perhaps deal with this problem by purging the immigration side of his department but in doing so he would throw an additional burden on the expanding manpower side, for which he is equally responsible.

In on a Bike

When one considers the the number of unfortunate Canadians who have yielded to the used car temptation, the difficulties of recruitment appear insurmountable. Every applicant presumably would have to pass a resistance test. Does he look like a man capable of riding a bicycle and resisting dealer blandishments throughout his service career? For let him once buy a used car and objectivity vanishes the day following. Only the resolute would meet Mr. Marchand's need. But would they? An immigration officer of such resolution will obviously not be moved by the sales pitch from any intending immigrant and consequently will be no fit person to apply Mr. McCleave's test.

Vanishing Innocence

It might have been possible a few years ago to meet the problem by staffing Mr. Marchand's department with Eskimos (and this might still be an improvement). But the fact is that the Eskimos are taking to wheels as fast as the government can build roads. Some probably are already in business, selling each other old wrecks driven exclusively by elderly ladies and retired clergymen.

In the face of these difficulties, Mr. Marchand's reluctance to buy Mr. McCleave's suggestion is understandable. The best that can be said of it is that it is indicative of new thinking on the Conservative benches, inspired possibly by the sight of Robert Stanfield gazing thoughtfully day after day at the backs of ministerial necks. Original thought is, of course, as welcome as it is rare in our House of Commons. But it will have to be shown to be workable before Mr. Marchand will trade in his almost new 10-point job, on Mr. McCleave's new-as-tomorrow one-point model.

FROM LONDON — By TIM TRAYNOR

Rejecting the Deification of War Heroes

NOT MANY days ago, several thousand grey veterans of the Battle of Alamein gathered for a reunion at London's Festival Hall. They listened nostalgically as Vera Lynn, turned out in forties style, sang the songs of the Alamein era: "Yours," "The White Cliffs of Dover," "Kiss Me Goodnight Sergeant Major." They themselves sang "Happy Birthday" for Field-Marshal Montgomery, once their leader and now entering his eightieth year. Some wept with him when he described his recent return to the North African battlefield, reminded them of the desert sunsets, and told them it was their victory, that the quality of generalships hadn't mattered in the end.

Traynor

The reunion took place almost exactly 25 years after the opening of the decisive twelve-day battle. The anniversary had not gone unheralded. Besides Lord Montgomery's well-publicized expedition of rediscovery, there had been much retelling of the Alamein story over radio and television and in the press. A Sunday color magazine had serialized a massive feature — documentary battle pictures, Montgomery's account of his strategy, interviews, anecdotes, dissertations on weaponry, pages of "color" copy celebrating the eccentricity, the humor and the camaraderie attributed to the desert war by its veterans. The stage, in short, had been well set for the anniversary reunion.

It had not been set for the film on the battle which opened in Piccadilly Circus in the same week, however. Titled "How I Won The War," the film savagely ridicules both Churchill and Montgomery, renders grotesque the legendary "light side" of the desert war, and depicts Alamein in terms of bloody death, ranting idiocy and retrospective absurdity. Ostensibly a comedy based on the progress of a troop of misfits from Dunkirk to the Rhine, the film is in fact a bitter attack on the glorification of the war and particularly of the desert war. The superficially comic troop, constantly parodying the desert war sterotypes of magazine and film, actually seethe with fear, hysteria and hate for their effete, upper class lieutenant. There are vivid glimpses of them suffering from heat and thirst and in the end they all die brutally in a documentary-type battle sequence.

Riotous Opening

The film only opened after being rejected by Britain's biggest cinema chains and the first showing was disrupted by demonstrators who threw stink bombs and shoulted that the film was "an insult to the memory of a million British war dead". Reviewers, by and large, tended to damn it with faint praise. It is, nevertheless, drawing large numbers of young viewers. One reason, no doubt, is the fact that Beatle John Lennon is in the cast. But Kenneth Tynon, doyen of British theatre critics, is convinced there is more to it than that. He believes the film may be the first to reflect what many younger people really feel about the last war — and its continual celebration in print and on cinema and TV screens.

Specific Aims

He recently interviewed the makers of the film, Richard Lester and Charles Wood, to ascertain their specific aims and views. The film says in effect that the war was not worth fighting but the interviewees stopped somewhat short of this. It was sometimes necessary to kill, but all killing was filth, and all soldiers who have killed (in the words of one) "should wear black and slink about at night." Britain was not the exclusive target of the film nor were they attacking Churchill personally, rather "The idea called Churchill." By this was meant "the deification, the myth that surrounds him ... also the fact that every time we make a hero in this country, it's a war leader or a general. The only thing that seems to matter is whether we can breed people who can win wars."

To what extent does this represent the thinking of youth, not only here but anywhere? It must be a compelling question for the middle-aged fathers who wept with Monty and cheered Vera Lynn at the Alamein Reunion. Here is the way one of the film-makers summed up: "We accept the fact that sometimes you kill people, but for God's sake, don't make it your finest hour. Don't turn the people who told you to do it into living gods. Don't revel in it, don't make money out of it, and above all, don't feel so bloody proud of it."

DENNIS THE MENACE

Looking Back

From The Times, Nov. 2, 1907:

A little strip of land 800 feet wide and several hundred miles in length will be transferred from Canada to the United States in Alaska as a result of the work done by a joint survey party in that country.

The fixing of the line of the 141st meridian will determine the question of the control of very rich copper deposits.

The deposits are situated close to the boundary line, but it is not yet clearly known whether they are in the United States or Canada.

Something to Wail On

Toronto Star

Quebec separatists have coined a new phrase for English-speaking Canadians—"Anglosaxophones".

It is presumably intended as the opposite of "francophone," the term used by President de Gaulle to describe French-speaking people around the globe.

The new title, we fear, is going to cause confusion, what with all the other "phones" now on the market — Megaphones, microphones, telephones, gramophones, videophones, saxophones—and now Anglosaxophones.

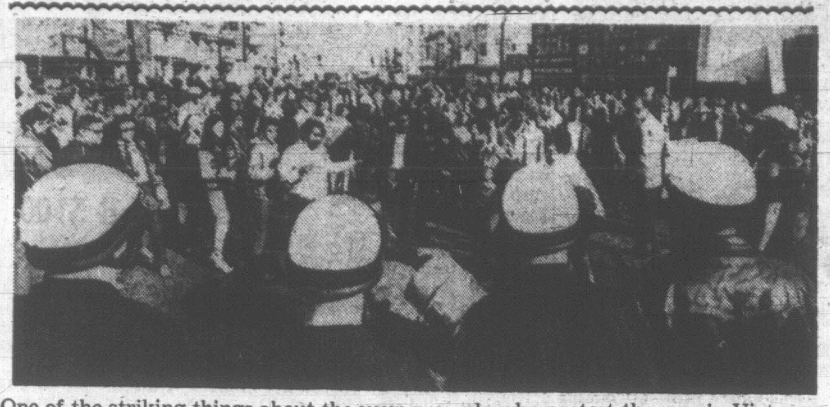

The conscientious separatist who meets an Anglosaxophone may not be sure what to do with it — beat it, play a tune on it or try to buy it on the instalment plan.

By CHRISTOPHER JENCKS

The New Left, "participatory democracy,' these are catch phrases used to describe a radical form of politics which is making itself heard in the United States and to a lesser degree in Canada and other Western countries. This new politics is primarily a manifestation of youth discontented with the established society who have found an outlet for their discontent in civil rights, anti-poverty and anti-war movements.

The author of this article, excerpts from a series in The New Republic, recently had an opportunity to study typical spokesmen for the New Left at a conference in Bratislava, Czechoslovakia, where two delegations of North Vietnamese met with 40 young Americans to discuss the Vietnam War. Mr. Jencks noted that the Americans "all saw the war as an inevitable by-product of some ill-defined sickness in the American system which could only be cured by radical political remedies."

One of the striking things about the young people who protest the war in Vietnam is their strong identification with the Viet Cong. The author of the accompanying article states that "inability to identify . . . is one of the obvious differences between the generation which came to political consciousness under Eisenhower, as I did, and the generation which worked out its political position under John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson . . . The common bond between the New Left and the National Liberation Front is not a common dream or a common experience but a common enemy; the U.S. government, the system, the Establishment."

The historical failures of American radicalism are, I think, linked in important ways to distaste for American culture and American institutions.

One reason why the radical revival of the early 1960s captured the American imagination and achieved modest successes was that it seemed so completely native, so true to the professed high purposes of the Republic.

It appealed to the Constitution, to schoolbook stories of what America should be, to injustices which troubled millions of decent citizens.

But the New Left has never numbered patience among its virtues; it soured on America once it became clear that radical change, rather amorphously defined, would be neither quick nor easy.

If America could not undo the evil consequences of racism in a few years, then America was hopeless. If America could not restrain its military, if it would not support revolutions in the underdeveloped countries, then America was a positive menace and the primary task of our time was to contain American power.

Having begun a few years earlier with great residual faith in the American people, and a conviction that "the people" had strengths from which a new and better society might be built, many of the young radicals moved to the conclusion that Americans as a whole were hopelessly complacent, corrupt and self-centred.

Gains Ground

This view is not yet universal in the New Left, but it seems to be gaining ground.

The central weakness of the New Left, it seems to me, is its attitude toward authority. This came out clearly two years ago when this journal asked a number of young radicals to describe what they thought was wrong with America and what should be done about it.

The essays were almost monotonous in their insistence that the people have no voice in decisions which affect their lives; that they are powerless.

That is true, but it is by no means a universal complaint. The toiling masses of Marxist memory still toil, but they do not seem to feel oppressed by the insitutions within which they live. On the contrary, most defend these institutions staunchly.

If, for example, you ask poor people what is wrong with America, they will usually complain about the results of decisions which affect their lives, not the process by which the decisions are made. They want good schools or good housing; relatively few of them want a voice in the operation of these facilities if the results are satisfactory.

The New Left, however, cares more about how a decision gets made than about what the decision is. The Free Speech Movement at Berkeley exemplified this outlook. Very few Berkeley students had any real interest in whether the university allowed political advocacy on its property. But many came to resent the university's making such decisions arbitrarily without consulting anyone, and thousands enjoyed participating in the struggle to alter the rules.

An allergy to paternalism is not unique to the New Left, but young radicals of the kind who went to Bratislava have taken it more seriously than almost anyone in my generation and more seriously than most of their peers.

It is this which has driven many into total opposition to the American way of life, which, they say, is largely shaped by big organizations and involves passive dependence on enormous numbers of remote experts, bureaucracies and commercial enterprises.

Their opposition has led a growing minority to talk about the need for a revolution in America — though no one has any clear idea who would organize such a revolution, or whom it would bring to power, or how post-revolutionary America would be organized.

Cynicism

It is this opposition, too, which has made the young radicals cynical about the anti-communism of their elders, forgetting that many liberal anti-Communists were also anti-authoritarian. They are ready to support any sort of attack on the American establishment, even if it is launched by Vietnamese guerrillas with whom the New Left has only the most remote ideological or cultural kinship.

How widespread is this readiness to identify with "the enemy?" The militant, embittered sentiments described above are probably confined to one or two per cent of the younger generation.

But I think the basic attitudes which lead the activists to sympathy for the Viet Cong are quite general among the young, and that their impact is only beginning to be felt.

These are children of the 1940s, raised in relatively permissive middle-class homes where authority was supposed to be rational rather than arbitrary.

Unlike earlier generations, their parents were reluctant to take advantage of their monopoly on physical, economic and legal power. Their youngsters were free to challenge the legitimacy of parental authority from an early age, by arguing that their parents were not using their power reasonably or wisely.

Often Succeed

Not only that, but such challenges often succeeded. Even when they failed, the children often curbed their parents' power indirectly by refusing to join in a consensus which defined certain rules as sensible and just.

Without such a consensus many parents felt reluctant to impose their will, and in many cases found it impossible even when they tried.

The emphasis on consensus and rationality in these young people's upbringing was accompanied by reliance on new forms of discipline.

The distinctive feature of a "permissive" home is not that "anything goes." It is that the limits are supposed to be set by the child's internalized sense of what is reasonable and unreasonable.

In order to keep up this pretense, overt sanctions and punishments are frowned on. Instead, if the child behaves in what the parents regard as an unreasonable fashion, they retaliate by making the child feel he has hurt them, has let them down.

Such a threat was doubtless terrifying to the very young. As they grew older, however, children discovered that they too could use such weapons. Children fear rejection, but so do parents, at least in modern America.

A child who acted as if he hated his mother could frequently reduce her to tears. This leads to a system of mutual deterrence, which makes parents hesitate to use their ultimate power and produces an unprecedented equality in relations between the generations.

Such children emerged into the larger society with relatively little experience of authority structures based solely on superior force. Yet this is almost always the ultimate source of authority in large groups and organizations.

Confronted with such authority these young people's first reaction was to resort to the tricks they had learned at home.

First they tried reason. Racism, they argued, was a violation of the Constitution; the Saigon government was founded on a violation of the Geneva Agreements; and so forth. Such arguments had some success on the racial front, but virtually none on foreign policy.

When this tactic failed the young radicals tried withholding love and approval from their elders. This was both the origin and the effect of the protest marches and of civil disobedience — a technique known to all children in all times.

Like reason and legalism, emotional confrontations proved moderately effective as weapons against racism.

The liberal leaders of the national establishment wanted the young to love and admire them. They did not want to play the tyrannical father and enforce order with a paddle. (Small-town Southern elites came from an older tradition, and felt no more embarrassed by using force against protesters than they did about spanking their children.)

Little Effect

Civil disobedience has not yet been tried on a large scale to curb the Vietnam war, but the small efforts to date have not had much effect.

The failure of the techniques learned in permissive, middle-class homes has brought a crisis in America's radical movement. Ghetto Negroes have turned naturally to violence, for they have mostly been raised on it. Young middle-class whites, on the other hand, find violence almost impossible.

The radicals must, therefore, either abandon the struggle and retreat into cynicism and privatism or else compete with other adults for control over the apparatus of the state — which means, ultimately, control over the apparatus of violence and coercion.

One way to do this might theoretically be violent revolution, but as a practical matter this seems infeasible, undesirable, and an escape from reality.

The only real alternative seems to be creating political organizations capable of taking power, first locally and eventually nationally.

Yet it is precisely here that the young radicals' distrust of all authority becomes an apparently insuperable problem.

Small Cells

They are allergic to leadership, hierarchy and discipline. They want a movement of small insurgent "cells," organized around mutual trust, equality and respect for every man's individuality.

These are appealing values. They are, indeed, my own. But I doubt that they can lead to the creation of political organizations capable of winning and wielding power.

If the children of permissive, middle-class parents are unwilling or unable to participate in established political institutions, or if their distaste and alienation from the whole pattern of American life makes it difficult for them to communicate with a relatively complacent and chauvinistic majority, who will exercise power?

The most likely answer is that power will go by default to conservatives and reactionaries from more traditional backgrounds, who are less allergic to leadership, more willing to submit to the discipline of political organization, readier to make the compromises inherent in the assumption and exercise of power.

'Let's Not Crucify Canada On a Cross of Words'

By LESTER B. PEARSON

(These are excerpts from an important policy speech on Canadian unity delivered by the Prime Minister at the dinner of the Quebec Liberal Federation in Montreal.)

I feel that the debate on Canadian unity has taken on a more positive and constructive tone recently.

There are still many questions to be answered, many hopes and fine words to be translated into action.

But to those outside this province who have been asking what the people of Quebec want, the answer is becoming clear: they want Canada, true; but a Canada where they will feel at home from coast to coast and where their cultural and language rights will be recognized and secured throughout the country.

Much of the debate on these matters is from the head—from the intellectuals. But much of it is from the heart—as one would expect when deep feelings and emotions are involved.

The emotional arguments are, of course, the ones that often sway judgment, and they get most of the publicity—often distorted and slanted publicity—because they provide the drama of conflict; especially when they advocate a revolutionary break from Confederation.

The emotions aroused are passionate and deep and should not be dismissed as something that will be removed by trade and investment statistics alone, however relevant and important. So our argument for Canada and Confederation and against separatism must be positive, not negative; on human values even more than monetary value.

I can be stirred by a crusade as easily as anyone else.

Indignation

But I am stirred only to opposition, to indignation, at the appeal to break up a political society, to divide and destroy a country whose people, all of them, of whatever race or background, are more and more coming to realize the true nature of our Canadian Confederation; who are willing and anxious to take the steps that are necessary to ensure that the French-speaking part of that Confederation will play a full part in our national development; with its French language and culture unimpaired, extending its good and enriching influence across the whole land.

For now we are realizing, far more than ever before in our history, how fortunate we are to have as the foundation of our Confederation, the two great languages and cultures of the West; one that has spread the idea of man's freedom and dignity throughout the world, and the other that has done so much in organizing that freedom for political action based on law and justice.

How fortunate, also, we are that on this dual foundation we have been able to build a national structure which includes the strength and color and quality of Canadians of so many other racial strains.

In so many, many ways we are among the most favored of the world's peoples, a chosen land of destiny.

Yet there are some, inspired by a variety of motives, who would convert this land of destiny into separate, divided and conflicting peoples.

In the face of our achievements, I reject doubt and division. I refuse to get panicky over semantic controversies about the nature of our national society.

Two Groups

The plain fact remains that, in 1867, two basic language groups, English and French, two societies, formed a single sovereign Canadian Confederation, a single state, which now exists and must continue to exist.

The French-speaking group was guaranteed certain rights in that Confederation. Those must be maintained—and extended—in such a way that French-speaking Canadians, with their own culture, language and traditions, become full partners in the Canadian Confederation and feel that they are so, in whatever part of Canada they live.

There is a danger now, however, that the balance between cultural diversity and political unity will be shaken if we attach too much importance to words; if we use them, not to clarify, but to confuse, or even deceive.

This verbal confusion is not new. For decades, scholars have discussed whether Confederation was a compact or merely an act of the British Parliament. But let us not have civil conflict over the words "nation" or "special status". Let us not crucify Canada on a cross of words.

Belief Stronger

My own belief in Canada is stronger than ever—as we near the end of this great Centennial Year. I can express it simply and briefly:

(1) I believe in a single sovereign Canadian Confederation built on the two founding societies.

(2) I believe that in this Confederation there must be full and recognized opportunity for the French Canadian society to grow, flourish and play its full part in the development of our whole country.

(3) I believe that the greatest danger to the identity of our English-speaking Canadian society is from the pressures and attraction of the U.S.A., and the greatest danger to the French-speaking Canadian society comes from the indifference of their English-speaking compatriots to its special character and from the separatist demands of its own extremists.

(4) I believe, with all Canadians, in the rights and privileges of Quebec embodied in the Constitution and that the cultural and linguistic rights of French Canadians outside Quebec should also be recognized and assured.

(5) I believe that, where necessary, the Constitution should be brought more into line with the requirements of today's federalism, and today's world.

(6) I believe that particular provisions for Quebec, as well as for other provinces, where required, to insure the fulfillment of particular needs, can be recognized and secured in the Constitution without destroying the essential unity of our Confederation. Our first hundred years have shown that this can be done.

(7) I do not believe in any form of separatism which would mean the break-up of our country; or in other formulas which, directly or indirectly, would bring about this result.

(8) I respect the value of the institutions and traditions we have inherited from both our British and our French past which do not inhibit the development of Canada in unity and strength.

(9) Finally, and as important as any of the above, I appreciate the contribution made to Canada by its citizens who come from other than British or French stock and who share with all other Canadians the honor and responsibilty of full and equal citizenship.

Policy, Action

Our problem is to convert this credo for Canada into policy, and action. Our success here will be the measure and the test of our faith.

This means, for one thing, that the federal government—and, I earnestly hope, other governments—must make French a working language in the public service in all those parts of the country, including the national capital, where French is used by a substantial proportion of the population.

We must consider changes in the structure of certain federal institutions, so that they will better reflect the federal system that is needed today.

Above all, we must define national goals more clearly and find a better way to achieve them than through the ad hoc, pragmatic solutions of the past.

While these goals must provide for real and effective guarantees for the survival and development of the French fact in our society, all the necessary adjustments should not have to be made by English-speaking Canadians, or made unfairly at their expense.

French-speaking Canadians must, on their part, realize that Canadians of British or other racial background, value their own special heritage, cherish their traditions and resent the suggestion that all such traditions must be abandoned as relics of a colonial past.

Not Responsible

Individual English-speaking Canadians should not be expected to feel personally responsible for past failures to recognize the true nature of our dual society. French-speaking Canadians should realize that the situation is improving and that the objectives we are now seeking are far more generally recognized than ever before as the right ones. That is what matters.

Finally, we must make those amendments to our Constitution, with due care but no unnecessary delay, which are necessary to bring about a federalism which will meet the needs, not only of today, but of the next hundred years.

We must look ahead in what we do.

We must be sound innovators, not short-term tinkerers.

We must build for a great Canadian future.

We must not let fear and supsicion and resentment be our governors; we must be governed by faith and trust and courage.

Saigon Draft Plan 'Last Gift to People'

By LEE LESCAZE
The Washington Post

SAIGON — South Vietnam's new mobilization plan is the most talked about action the military government took during more than two years in power.

It is also the most unpopular.

Almost every family is directly affected by the mobilization and almost every Vietnamese thinks it is unnecessary and unjust.

The people have no confidence that the present inequities in the draft system will be eliminated under the new program.

Theoretically, all men between 20 and 33 are called into the armed forces under the present system, but thousands avoid the draft by bribery or influence.

What angers the people is not that the draft age will be lowered to 18, but that men who have already served their four years will be recalled, and particularly that men now in the armed forces will not be discharged when their four-year hitch is up.

Draft-dodgers, most people believe, will still be able to escape if they are rich or have powerful friends.

The mobilization is described ironically as the military regime's last gift to the people.

Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky knew the impact it would have. They were ready to announce the partial mobilization several months ago, but waited until after the Sept. 3 election in order not to cost their ticket votes.

Thieu and Ky were equally aware that the newly-elected congress woud not pass the program without extended bitter debate, if at all. Therefore they issued it last Thursday, five days before legislative powers were assumed by the congress.

Most Vietnamese believe the partial mobilization is an effort to please the Americans, a preface to an invasion of North Vietnam, or both.

In January, the government is expected to close down all of Saigon's dancehalls. The bars with hostesses will be left open because their clientele is almost entirely American, but many Vietnamese mix with Americans and other foreigners in the often very expensive nightclubs where dancing is permitted.

Signs that either mobilization or closing night clubs will create a new spirit are lacking. Mme. Nhu's ban on dancing won no support for the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

A woman whose husband recently went abroad wrote to him Saturday to stay out of Vietnam until the draft policy is changed again. She explained that she would rather be separated from her husband than have him exposed to the dangers of the army. Then, she added, there is always the chance that she can leave too and join him.

●

A woman with three sons said she knew Thieu and Ky would issue such a mobilization plan and she doesn't understand why the people voted for them.

No matter how angry women like these become, the crucial test of the mobilization will be its effect on the morale of South Vietnam's armed forces, which has never been remarkably high.

Soldiers who could look forward to a discharge in one, two or three years now may serve until they are 33 years old.

Many Vietnamese predict that the army's desertion rate will increase as a result of the mobilization.

A 22-year-old sergeant who has been in the army for two years was discussing the new plan the other day.

"What do I look forward to now? When I am 33 how will I find a young girl to marry me? What job will I be able to find?" Then he shrugged: "But I cannot believe that I am completely unlucky. Perhaps things will change again."

The Vietnamese have had war for so long that war is not a crisis. It there is no crisis, they seem to believe, why change the rules of the game?

Reeve Slammed Over 'Secrecy'

Esquimalt Report Delay Under Fire From Labor Body

By ROGER STONEBANKS

The Victoria Labour Council voted Wednesday night to condemn the "inaction" of Esquimalt in implementing the recommendations of the 18-month-old Macdonell police report.

Delegates also condemned "secret reports on public affairs," a reference to the fact the report was kept secret until someone sent it to newspapers earlier this week.

IWA delegate Murray Drew said it was "a real dastardly piece of skullduggery on the part of the reeve. They spend people's money, hide the report in the cupboard and then he chastises someone who handed it to the press.

"If a union did this you'd have every Chamber of Commerce and red-baiting character in the province after us.

"Freedom of speech means to be able to say that which the other fellow doesn't want to hear, rather than the other way round."

SECRET REPORT

Council president Jack Groves said the original mistake was made when Esquimalt decided it would be a secret report and "you have got to criticize each and every council member who would ask anyone to make a report as serious as this and ask them to agree that it be confidential."

Neil Hindle of the boilermakers union said "we have to have a more open society" and labor also suffers from keeping things secret.

The provincial government has kept secret the Carrothers report on civil service bargaining rights and on Thursday there was to be a closed meeting between shipyard union officials, Victoria Machinery Depot president Harold Husband and Mayor Hugh Stephen.

Don Douglas of the shipwrights, a former member of the Esquimalt police commission, said he wasn't surprised at the report but "how many of the recommendations have been implemented?"

MORE THAN 100 cartons of clothing, quilts and hospital supplies, collected by the Unitarian Service Committee for Korea, is being sent to Vancouver with the aid of Capitol Freightways. Shown preparing the load are USC workers Edward Wilby, Mrs. Edmund Lord and Mrs. Donald Bliss.

Brief Against Closed Shop Called Bid for Publicity

Christian Reformed Churches of B.C. were criticized by Victoria Labour Council Wednesday night for calling upon the provincial government to end the closed shop.

"They should be treated as crackpots and should be ignored," said Murray Drew of the IWA.

"We have some in our union. I haven't seen one that said he didn't want the conditions or wages. They don't refuse to take the gain."

E. T. Staley, president of the B.C. Federation of Labour, said the small church is trying to convince the public of a fallacy.

"If we had 100 per cent in 100 per cent of the industries and in each case there was a union shop, they might have an argument," he said.

NO AGREEMENT

"Until then there is no argument. Any person who does not want to join the carpenters' union can work for a contractor we haven't signed. That's his privilege. I'm sure everyone can find an employer where no agreement is in effect."

Another delegate said the church group started its own union in Toronto, but one of the conditions was that employees had to belong to the church.

John Nicol, business agent for the Retail Food and Drug Clerks Union and a member of the Victoria Religion-Labour Council which is supported by the Victoria Labour Council, said "these people are publicity hunters. They want as much publicity as they can."

The labor council will ask the B.C. Federation of Labour to oppose the changes in the Labour Relations Act as requested by the church group.

Strike Limps On For Shingle Men

Two meetings with a conciliation officer have proved "fruitless" in the 18-day strike of 17 Lime Bay shingle workers, the Victoria Labour Council was told Wednesday night.

William Bell of the Shingle Weavers Union, Local 2802, said no offer was made by McCarter Shingle and Shake at the meetings Tuesday and Wednesday.

He said morale of the strikers is high despite a company mail campaign directed to the employees.

"We are stuck on daily earnings," he said.

"They are approximately $40 a day for sawyers and packers get $30, but they were $28 and $19 at McCarter prior to the walkout.

"Due to automation some men are expected to do 100 per cent more work than is normally expected in this industry."

He accused Forest Industrial Relations, a management bargaining agency for wood and allied product companies in B.C., of "standing firm between the two parties."

He also said Smith Cedar Products needs skilled men and could get them among the McCarter strikers but refuses to hire them.

Man Fined $100 For $11 Theft

A man who took $11 worth of groceries from a store on a dare Tuesday night was fined $100 in magistrate's court Wednesday.

Darrel Warren, 52, of 141 Homer St., pleaded guilty to theft under $50.

Esquimalt police reported when they apprehended him with $11.28 worth of groceries taken from the Maverick Market, 880 Esquimalt Rd., he said he did it "on a dare."

Police said he had been drinking.

Mail Deadline Nears

Friday is the deadline for sending Christmas parcels by surface mail to Central and South America and the West Indies.

Postal authorities have indicated Dec. 8 for sending parcels to the same places via air mail and Dec. 12 for letters. Letters by surface mail can be sent until Nov. 12 to get there before Christmas Day.

The deadline is past to send letters and parcels by surface mail to South Africa, India, Pakistan, Australia and New Zealand. It is also too late to send parcels to the European continent.

Deadlines for Christmas parcels via surface mail to Britain is Nov. 21 and for Japan and Hong King, it is Saturday.

Christmas letters by surface mail to Britain must be mailed no later than Nov. 29; European continent, Nov. 17; Japan and Hong Kong, Nov. 13.

AS SHIPYARD CLOSES:

'Workers First to Suffer'

One shipyard union has 120 skilled men unemployed, the Victoria Labour Council was told Wednesday night.

Neil Hindle, business agent for Local 191 of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, said there will be a layoff at Yarrows this week and there was a layoff at Victoria Machinery Depot Wednesday.

Referring to the closure of the VMD shipyard, he said "I don't think the firm is meeting its responsibilities."

He said the whole issue "revolves in politics" but the "people who suffer first are the workers, it is always the workers first."

The VMD yard is closing because of the poor future picture for federal contracts. The company has no orders beyond the end of the year.

The council was told by one delegate that locals of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union are protesting to Ottawa.

TENDERS TO BE CALLED FOR TILLICUM ARENA

Tenders will be called this weekend for the Tillicum Arena in Saanich.

This was agreed Wednesday by council's special projects committee, handling details of the municipal arena approved in a capital referendum earlier this year.

Architects told the committee tenders will be due in the early part of December and construction will take six or seven months.

Refusal to Testify Nets Man Jail Term

A man the Crown alleges is the victim of assault refused to testify in magistrate's court Wednesday.

Magistrate Ostler, after a brief adjournment, sentenced him to two months in jail.

Coenradus Boudewyn, 21, 5196 Rambler, was subpoened to testify in an assault case against Dr. George Evans, 628 Brookleigh.

Dr. Evans is charged with assaulting Boudewyn Oct. 8.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF CUTS

Saanich police produced photographs of cuts to Boudewyn's head which they said were taken the night of Oct. 8.

A doctor testified he treated cuts to Boudewyn's head that night, and said the cuts were inflicted by "a sharp instrument."

When Boudewyn came to the witness box, he said, "I wish to say that I will not give evidence."

Magistrate Ostler said there was no choice.

"You are under oath and you must give evidence."

But Boudewyn persisted.

"An understanding of the case defies verbal expression," he replied.

The magistrate then called a short adjournment, and on his return sentenced Boudewyn to two months.

The assault case was remanded to Nov. 9 to allow the Crown to reconsider its position.

Runaway Truck Costs Owner Fines of $53.50

A man who didn't set the hand-brake properly when he parked his truck Aug. 25 was fined a total of $53.50 in traffic court Wednesday.

Jake Feenstra of Port Alberni was charged after his truck rolled out of a gas station at Colwood, crossed the Trans-Canada Highway and hit a building. Total damage was $3,000.

Feenstra was fined $15 for not properly setting the brake, $25 for not filing a report, $10 for not having a driver's licence, and assessed $3.50 costs.

Fined in traffic court for careless driving were Eric Ferguson of 301 Kingston, involved in an accident at Four Mile Hill Oct. 8, $50, and Leopold Hayes, 1019 Joan Crescent, involved in an accident at Yates and Wharf Oct. 6, $35.

'I AM EXCITEMENT'

Brown Makes a Point Of Flouting Tradition

By GODFREY ANDERSON

LONDON (AP)—The day George Brown took over the foreign office, he came in by the back door while officials waited to welcome him at the front. He has been flouting tradition ever since.

"I am excitement," he once said. "Either I create it or it follows me around."

This week his critics are up in arms over an attack he made Tuesday night on Lord Thomson, the press tycoon, at a banquet Thomson gave.

Brown, 53, is a bouncy, round-faced man with black hair greying at the sides, surprised-looking eyebrows, and black-rimmed spectacles perched on a big nose. He relishes the good life that goes with being foreign secretary.

Brown, Right, With Wilson

LACKS DIPLOMACY

He is acknowledged to be hard working and sometimes brilliant. But there are those who feel the head of Britain's foreign service also should be diplomatic. That Brown isn't, and he's unrepentant.

"I think the country has to make up its mind whether it will accept me as I am, because there is not the slightest chance of my changing," he told a television interviewer last month.

Brown was just as candid when asked about his drinking. Sir Winston Churchill liked alcohol, too, he said, but there was an unwritten rule not to write about that.

He knows his limitations. Asked on television if he'd like to have Harold Wilson's job, Brown replied: "I don't believe I have what you need to be prime minister. I am much too aggressive, too assertive."

STAFF FEARFUL

The foreign office staff live in fear of what will come next.

Brown was born in London's crowded borough of Southwark on the south bank of the Thames, four weeks after the outbreak of The First World War.

Brown first ran for Parliament in 1938 and lost. When a general election was next held after the war, he won the Derbyshire seat of Belper in 1945 and has held it ever since.

He has been married for 30 years to the former Sophie Levene and has two grown daughters, Frieda and Patricia.

Although official duties keep him out until midnight or later most nights, Brown is usually up by 6 a.m. and singing in his bath.

He is generally considered a moderate in politics, though the Israelis have accused him of favoring the Arabs. He is heart and soul in favor of Britain's joining the European Common Market.

His tongue is sharp, his cheeks flush as his hackles rise, and the words come tumbling out with angry vehemence.

TRUCKERS END STRIKE

MONTREAL (CP)—A five-day strike by 1,400 Montreal area truckers ended early today as strikers voted to accept a management offer giving them an 80-cent hourly increase in a two-year contract and a shortened work week.

NEGRO ANTI-POVERTY WORKER:

Hiring Militants Headed Off Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Houston anti-poverty worker credits the hiring of Negro militants under a federally-financed program with heading off a racial crisis in the Texas city last summer.

But the chairman of a Senate group investigating U.S. riots suggested such a move amounted to "paying off" dissatisfied Negroes just to obey the law.

The exchange came Wednesday as the Senate investigations subcommittee continued its investigation of the causes of Negro riots.

Samuel L. Price, a Negro and a deputy director of the Harris County Community Action Association, said the program—called Project Go and paid for with $600,000 in federal funds—was organized a month after a riot at Texas Southern University in Houston.

Among those hired, said Price, were two men under indictment for the slaying of a policeman during the May 16 uprising at the state's largest Negro university.

Battered Child Hysteria Danger To Parents—MD

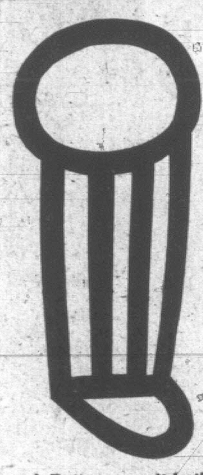

VANCOUVER (CP) — Innocent parents are being sent to jail because of over-zealous prosecution of suspected child-beating cases, a United States professor of pediatrics said Tuesday.

Dr. J. P. Caffey of the University of Pittsburgh told a press conference the potential for conviction of innocent parents is high because of the stigma attached to the term "battered child."

"At first, medical evidence indicated an urgent need for action against mistreatment of children," he said. "Now, the pendulum has swung much too far that way, and many parents are in danger of being abused by courts which are swayed by emotionalism.

Dr. Caffey, who was here to take part in an orthopedic symposium at the University of British Columbia, pioneered research into the "battered child syndrome" with a wide-scale program in New York City in 1945.

It since has been established that X-ray examination can show certain bone damage indication a child has been beaten.

It's a shinguard. Better wear it in that dark garage of yours, because if the wheelbarrow doesn't get you, then the lawnmower will. Or, better yet: talk to your electrical contractor about better lighting. In and around a home wired to Medallion standards, there are lots of lights and lots of switches.

Aren't you glad he cared more about coriander than everybody else?

Let's face it.

A coriander doesn't look like much. Even to another coriander.

And maybe that's a big reason why English gin-makers in 1769 neglected this funny looking herb so much.

Except Alexander Gordon, a Highland Scot. He had a hunch. And it paid off. He discovered that by treating the very best coriander just right, it would give gin a wonderful new taste. That gin had never had before.

The rest is history.

200 years later, Gordon's is now the largest selling gin in the world.

And still made exactly to the same secret recipe.

Nobody else knows it. And it's not hard to understand why.

How many people do you know, who really care about what happens to a coriander?

10 PER CENT STAFF CUT

Railmen Ask Ottawa To Delay CNR Layoffs

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers pressed Prime Minister Pearson Wednesday to delay mass layoffs by the CNR.

W. J. Smith, president of the 32,000-member union, said in a letter to Mr. Pearson CNR supervisors across the country have been instructed to reduce staff by as much as 10 per cent.

The publicly-owned railway already has laid off 427 workers in the Atlantic region and distributed layoff notices to 500 employees in the Prairies.

SHORT NOTICE

Mr. Smith said the government should prevail on the CNR to "act in a more humane and socially responsible manner." Employees were being cut on four days' notice.

"We find it ironic that, at a time when your government is attempting to relieve the economic hardships resulting from the irresponsible and inhumane actions of a private corporation at Sydney, N.S., a publicly-owned corporation should be behaving in a similar manner, if on a somewhat smaller scale."

DOSCO PARALLEL

This was an apparent reference to the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp decision to close its Sydney steel mill next April.

Smith said the CNR layoffs are the result of a traffic decline caused by a new express-freight rate structure. He said a loss of business resulting from a management decision such as this should be borne by the company, not the workers.

Saanichton Fair To Mark Centenary

Committees will be appointed to plan celebrations to mark the 100th anniversary of the Saanichton Fair at the annual meeting of the North and South Agricultural Society Monday.

The meeting, starting at 8 p.m., will be chaired by president Gordon Michell.

FISHERMEN SEEK HELP

VANCOUVER (CP) — The fisherman's union said Wednesday it will appeal to Ottawa for emergency action to find employment for 1,000 men put out of work by the closure of the British Columbia herring grounds.

Homer Stevens, Secretary of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union, said Labor Minister Nicholson and Fisheries Minister Robichaud will be asked to come to B.C. to discuss the possibility of finding employment for the herring fishermen and plant workers.

Mr. Stevens said fishermen place the blame for the decline of herring stock at the door of the federal government.

He said fishermen have been advocating more stringent government regulations for the past few years, but have been ignored.

Guaranteed Pay Won by Dockers

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal inquiry set up to resolve a bitter dispute between Quebec longshoremen and their employers has awarded management a reduction in the size of stevedoring gangs with a price tag of job security.

The issue was at the heart of a 39-day strike last year that closed the ports of Montreal, Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres.

Dr. Laurent Picard of Montreal, who handled the inquiry, said the job security plan, guaranteeing the 4,250 longshoremen a season's pay whether they work or not, will end unrest over automation.

There would no longer be any reason for their union, the International Longshoremen's Association, to oppose technological change.

The report of the Montreal commerce professor, which is binding on both parties, was made public Wednesday when Labor Minister Nicholson tabled it in the Commons.

REDUCE GANGS

Basic gang sizes are reduced to 17 men from 20 at Montreal, to 17 from 19 at Quebec City and left unchanged at Trois-Rivieres, where the standard is 16. The figures include one foreman in each gang.

Employers must establish a job security fund, paying into it 15 cents for each ton of freight handled, to provide a guaranteed income for the workers.

The guarantee is 40 hours a week for the 37-week shipping season at Montreal and a total of 1,560 hours for the 39-week traffic season at Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres.

Only men who earn the main part of their income on the docks will be eligible. When their paid working hours in any year fall below the guarantee they will get the difference out of the new fund.

Dr. Picard's 192-page report attached one condition to the work guarantee. It will not apply in full unless port productivity equals the peak level achieved at Montreal and Quebec in 1964 and at Trois-Rivieres in 1966.

END RESTRICTIONS

Dr. Picard also ordered an end to what he called "restrictive practices" by the unions. Among other things, a ship crew now will be able to handle the work of opening hatches, loading or unloading can be carried out in all four corners of a hold at one time and more than one fork-lift truck may be used in a hold.

In another concession to employers, Dr. Picard reduced the minimum pay for a recall to three hours from four.

GRANTING OF APPEAL DELAYS BANK WINDUP

WINNIPEG (CP)—Toronto financier Sinclair Stevens and Canadian Finance & Investments, Ltd., of Winnipeg, Wednesday won leave to appeal a court decision giving the Bank of Western Canada the go-ahead to wind up its affairs.

The appeal will be heard November 7 by the Manitoba Court of Appeal, and until then a stay of proceedings will be in force restraining the bank from starting wind-up actions.

U.K. Gold, Dollar Reserves Jump

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's gold and dollar reserves rose by 27 million pounds $75.6 million U.S. in October, the treasury announced today.

They stood at 1.003 billion pounds $2.8084 billion U.S. by the end of the month.

The jump in the reserves, which was better than expected, made no immediate impact on stock market prices and the pound held unchanged on foreign exchanges at 2.7825 in terms of the U.S. dollar.

In September the reserves had fallen by 9 million pounds ($25.2 million).

RUN CHECKED

The increase in October checked a five-month run of successive falls in the reserves which in September hit their lowest level since August 1965.

The jump in the reserves came after the receipt of the Swiss Bank loan to Britain of 37 million pounds ($103.6 million).

This Swiss loan was in fact believed to be the return of working bank balances to London which had been transferred from Britain by certain Arab countries during and immediately after the June fighting in the Middle East.

In view of the dock strikes which hit Britain's exports and interruption of rail services plus the international worries, authoritative sources called the movement in the reserves "not unsatisfactory."

Authoritative sources noted today that Britain's liabilities to the International Monetary Fund were cut by 21 million pounds ($58.8 million) in the month through sterling drawings on the fund by other countries. This reduces the debt to be repaid this year to 91 million pounds ($254.8 million).

Sharp to Meet Provincial Finance Chiefs

OTTAWA (CP) — Fresh troops are on call for the government's beat-inflation campaign.

Finance Minister Sharp said Wednesday he will meet provincial finance ministers Nov. 16 and 17 to plot "energetic action" to limit public spending and lending.

He reaffirmed his intention to make another full statement soon on his own economy measures.

And he kept the door open for a possible supplementary budget before Christmas, although he told the Commons a decision on this step has not yet been made. The unanimous speculation: Tax increases.

Consumer Spending Power Jumps

OTTAWA (CP)—The current income and readily-available cash savings of Canadians have risen by almost $1,000 per capita since the present economic expansion began in 1960.

Personal income after taxes, personal savings deposits in the banks, Canada savings bonds holdings, and bank notes in circulation now amount to $60,954,000,000, or $2,987 for each of the country's 20,405,000 persons at mid-year.

Seven years ago the figures were $18,092,000,000, or $2,077 per capita.

The grand total represents consumer resources, the spending power that individuals would have if they wanted to put all their cash savings and income after taxes into the market place at one time.

For the statistical family of five, it means consumer resources amounting to $14,935 this year, compared with $10,385 in 1960.

The figures are in the current value of dollars in 1960 and 1967.

In that time, consumer prices have risen 17 per cent, but the family consumer spending power has risen 43 per cent, leaving a marginal gain of 26 per cent.

The gain in consumer spending power in Canada almost exactly parallels experience in the United States. Though comparable incomes and liquid savings there amount to almost $5,000 a person, the increase since the 1960 boom started, after discounting consumer price increases, is 26 per cent.

The figures represent the combined total of personal income after taxes, personal savings in the chartered banks, and Canada Savings Bonds in force along with Canadian dollar notes in circulation.

While there were additional savings easily converted into ready cash in the form of deposits in other institutions, the inclusion of all notes in circulation probably offsets these. There are no readily-available statistics showing how many dollars are salted away in cash, rather than in current circulation.

The growth in liquid family spending power started slowly with the start of the current expansion period, now unprecedented in its longevity. But over the years since 1960 it has averaged 5½ per cent a year and reached eight per cent in 1962 and 1964.

Phosphate Deposits Located in Province

CALGARY (CP)—Western Warner Oils Ltd. Wednesday announced it has reached a farmout agreement with Imperial Oil Ltd. for exploration and possible development of phosphate deposits in southeastern B.C.

A Western Warren spokesman said it remains to be determined if the deposits, which reach the surface in some areas of the Fernie basin, can be economically worked.

The spokesman said that under the agreement, signed Tuesday, Imperial Oil will undertake a diamond core drilling test program in the area "as the weather permits."

No details of the agreement were given other than that Imperial would have "exclusive" marketing rights to the phosphate, an ingredient of fertilizer, if the deposits can be mined.

The agreement covers 6,050 acres, part of a 130,000-acre area in southeastern B.C. and southwestern Alberta, on which Western Warner staked 110 claims in August, 1966.

Imperial already had planned a $55,000,000 fertilizer plant at Redwater, Alta., and Western Warner said this was one reason the company had approached Imperial Oil.

The spokesman said phosphate rock samples had been given to Imperial and Imperial had conducted chemical, geological and economic feasibility studies since late April.

A Western Warner geologist described the phosphate deposits in the coal-mining area as an extension of phosphate areas in Montana, a source of Canadian phosphate imports totalling $18,100,000 in 1966.

Five stars for Seagram's Special Old.

A whisky this good deserves top rating. So we've added a big gold star and five small ones on the label. Easy to spot on the new square bottle.

But inside the bottle is the same easy-tasting whisky that's been a favourite for years here in B.C.

If you want to find out why, that's easy too.

BOSTON (AP) — "Carl Yastrzemski needs a secretary. Light typing and good telephone voice," the classified ad read.

Portland Printing Corp. said the response Wednesday jammed its telephone lines with at least 500 calls. Interview appointments were made for about 300 and the rest were told that the position had been filled.

The Boston Red Sox' triple crown winner is a salesman for the firm during the off-season.

A similar ad run a few days ago without Yastrzemski's name brought about "six or eight answers," a company spokesman said.

East or West, Green Shows Golden Touch

By DOUG PEDEN

Last season Charlie Green was voted the most valuable player in the Eastern Division of the Continental League.

This time around Charlie is calling signals for San Jose Apaches in the Continental League's Western Division and he appears certain to receive plenty of support when it comes time to name the best of the crop of western gridiron gladiators.

Green has flashed the poise and daring expected of a pro quarterback while guiding the Apaches into second place, one game behind the Orange County Ramblers of Anaheim. He has clicked on about 50 per cent of his passes, accounting for 1,241 yards and eight touchdowns via the aerial route.

GLEN GARDNER
. . . 270-pound Tyee

Every quarterback knows there will be days or nights when he is forced to spend a lot of time on the seat of his pants. When survival must take precedent over passing accuracy.

For Charlie Green, one of those times could arrive Saturday at 8 p.m. That's when he'll lead the Apaches out against Victoria Tyees (nee Steelers) at Royal Athletic Park.

Taking dead aim at the San Jose pilot will be five Tyees who are shaping up as the western division's Murderers' Row. The front five of the Victoria defensive unit formed a bone-jarring wrecking crew at Sacramento last Sunday as the Tyees whipped the Buccaneers 14-3 for their second successive victory.

Former Redskin Standout on Line

Bringing smiles to the face of owner-coach Don McKeta all afternoon was a newcomer to the Tyees—Ron Corbett, a 245-pound former University of Arizona star who was a defensive tackle with Washington Redskins of the National League this season until he cracked a collar bone. Later released by the Redskins, Corbett was a standout in his debut with the Tyees.

"I'm real pleased with him," McKeta said Wednesday. "He's exceptionally quick for his size and his reactions are remarkably good."

Lining up with Corbett on the front line Saturday will be Glen Gardner (270 pounds), Mose Watkins (245) and Wendell Jones (230), with all-star candidate Fred Forsberg (252) again working as middle linebacker.

They'll be up against even more beef in the San Jose line but they could make it an unhappy evening for Green.

McKeta hasn't been forgetting offence. He has been altering his plays in workouts this week in an attempt to confuse Apache defenders. With Terry Durham again operating at quarterback, halfback Steve Jones is expected to get the most work as a ball-carrier, but the Apaches could see a lot of another new Tyee—fullback Weldon Rutledge.

Rutledge, a 200-pound six-footer from New Mexico State, was with St. Louis Cardinals for three years before being released this season. Because it takes time to fit into an offensive backfield, Rutledge saw only spot duty at Sacramento but he may be ready to ramble by Saturday.

Cash Box Offers Another Problem

At stake for the Tyees are their win streak and the chance of finishing the season in second place. For McKeta, part of the stake is financial survival.

Operating on a pay-as-he-goes system since taking over the club from former owners, McKeta is waging a rugged struggle to keep the Tyees going. Because he has faith in the future of the league and of football in Victoria, he is determined to complete the season. And he is already working on next year's plans, which include subsidization by AFL or NFL clubs and a more efficient system to operate the club.

Since funds raised through sales of season tickets were expended by the former management, McKeta can use plenty of new customers at the club's remaining two home games. He can also use shareholders in his new corporation, which he intends will be controlled by Vancouver Islanders.

He has acquired two directors and from this area he is hoping to obtain another seven, who will be able to become owner-directors for an investment of $5,000. Non-voting stock at $1 per share is available to all football addicts, who can obtain more information on Tyee plans from Bill Clark (384-4136), or Len Ingraham (385-6731).

The Apaches are benefitting this season through subsidization by San Francisco 49ers and Oakland Raiders. They wear Raider uniforms, they use the Oakland system of signals and some are talented enough to play with the AFL club.

"They're big and they're good," said McKeta of the Apaches. "But we have some good ones, too. And we want this game.

"We're ready to take them on."

They Still Fear Arnie Despite 79 in Pro-Am

HONOLULU (AP)—Gay Brewer carried pro-amateur honors into today's start of the $100,000 Hawaiian open golf tournament at his favorite course.

Brewer carded a 69 that included a 32 on the back nine Wednesday of the 7,000-yard, par-72 Waialae course. He won the first Hawaiian open over the course in 1965 and last year tied with Billy Casper for the second place.

Arnold Palmer, one of the co-favorites with Brewer and Casper, piled up a 79 in the pro-am, including a flubbed sand trap shot. But no one was counting him out when the bell rings today.

A win for Palmer would put him over the $200,000 for the year—a first time that has ever been done—and a top three finish would push him past Jack Nicklaus on the money list.

Top score for the day, with a handful of the players out, was 67 by Tommy Aaron, the slender, bespectacled Georgian who has a history of leading golf tournaments in the early rounds but seldom on Sunday.

WHEN IS A GOAL NOT A GOAL?

On this occasion it wasn't a goal when Toronto's Brian Conacher was bouncing Montreal goalie Rogatien Vachon while puck was rolling into net during National Hockey League game Wednesday night in Toronto. Disputed play came in second period but Maple Leafs didn't need tally. They bombed Canadiens 5-0 as veteran goalie Johnny Bower stole the show.

NEW CONTRACT FOR BOWER?

Only Players Over 40 Get That Opportunity

By The Canadian Press

Excellence is not necessarily its own reward, but you'll have a hard time convincing Johnny Bower.

The 43-year-old veteran Toronto Maple Leafs goalie Wednesday night blanked Montreal Canadiens 5-0 and to celebrate the deed, Toronto coach Punch Imlach gave Bower a new National Hockey League contract.

After the game Imlach tore up a symbolic piece of paper before Bower, indicating a new contract. Neither would discuss possible terms of the new contract.

The loss kept Montreal in third place in the NHL's Eastern Division behind idle Detroit Red Wings and New York Rangers, who moved two points ahead of Detroit with a 2-0 defeat of California Seals.

In other games Wednesday, Boston Bruins lost their second game in eight starts, 5-1 to St. Louis Blues, while Pittsburgh Penguins downed Minnesota North Stars 4-1.

KINGS STILL LEAD

The results left Los Angeles Kings still atop the Western Division standings with 10 points, one more than Pittsburgh.

The Leafs got goals from Dave Keon, Frank Mahovlich, Bob Pulford, Mike Walton and George Armstrong while New York's goals went to Rod Gilbert and Orland Kurtenbach.

Ron Stewart scored twice for St. Louis with single goals going to Wayne Rivers, Barclay Plager and Al Arbour. The lone Boston goal was scored by Ross Lonsberry.

At Minneapolis, the Penguins grabbed sole possession of second place in the west on goals by Andy Bathgate, Art Stratton, Paul Andrea and Keith McCreary while Andre Boudrias scored for Minnesota.

FIRST-PERIOD FEAT

Bower was unbeatable, especially during the first period when Montreal outshot the Leafs 17-9.

"That was what kept us in there," said Toronto defenceman Marcel Pronovost. "Bower made some great saves while we were falling over ourselves."

The Leafs had placed themselves so much in Bower's hands during that first 20 minutes that at one point Jim Pappin passed to the goaltender hoping to start a rush during a Toronto power play.

"I told him he played so well, I'll tear up is contract and he'll get a new one," said Imlach after the game.

"He'll get a good raise. Only players over 40 get that opportunity."

STOPS RANGERS

California goalie Charlie Hodge held off New York for most of the game at Oakland, with the Rangers finally winning on two goals scored four minutes apart in the third period.

The Rangers, undefeated in eight games, got Kurtenbach's winner just 15 seconds after he stepped out of the penalty box after serving five minutes for high sticking and hurting California's Mike Laughton.

Goalie Ed Giacomin got the shutout.

Lonsberry ruined St. Louis goalie Glenn Hall's shutout bid with a 30-foot shot with only about two minutes left in the game, just seconds before Bob Plager cut him down with a solid body check.

Tonight, the Red Wings get a chance to tie the Rangers as they take on the Leafs in Detroit while Chicago Black Hawks visit Los Angeles and Minnesota North Stars play the Flyers in Philadelphia.

Surge by Cougars Cools Fenton Fire

Victoria Juniors Romp to Victory At Westminster

By ERNIE FEDORUK

NEW WESTMINSTER—Bob Fenton came out breathing fire Wednesday and Victoria Cougars wielded the extinguisher that might have cooled off the New Westminster Royals' coach.

Cougars, erupting for a 7-0 first-period lead, doused Royals 10-6 for their second straight B.C. Junior Hockey League victory.

Fenton, who piloted Royals to the Western Canada final last spring, had a verbal run-in with Cougars' president Bill Ferguson. Fenton took objection to a letter Ferguson submitted to league headquarters requesting an earlier starting time for Victorias' mid-week games in Westminster.

TRAVEL TROUBLES

Cougars' first game here, which Royals won 9-4, started at 8:30 p.m. and created some transportation difficulties for the Victoria team. Cougars had asked for "at least an 8 p.m." start, or, preferably, 7:30.

Fenton didn't think Ferguson should have gone through league headquarters with Victoria's strongly-worded letter. Then, warming up, Fenton said: "You cost us nothing but money . . . and we really don't need you in the league."

He charged that an abortive attempt to start junior "A" operations four years ago," "soured our fans on Victoria" because "Cougars showed up with nine or 10 players . . ."

LACKED ORGANIZATION

"You can't blame us for what happened four years ago," replied Ferguson, who readily acknowledged that the old coast league was a haphazard, loosely-knit setup that lacked organization and did nothing to bolster the junior "A" image.

Players now are under orders to travel "with shirt and tie" and, as Fenton discovered Wednesday, a complete lineup.

They also play better hockey although, as yet, not consistently. Wednesday offered a classic example of the inconsistency.

For the first 20 minutes, Cougars played excellent positional hockey, skated hard and broke out of their own zone like gangbusters on their way to a speakeasy. Ergo . . . 7-to-zip.

WITHIN TWO GOALS

For the first five minutes of the second period, good hockey was forgotten and Cougars scrambled aimlessly. Ergo . . . 7-1.

Back to good hockey for another five minutes . . . then more scrambling. The stretches of good and bad alternated through to the end. It is to the Cougars' credit that they did manage to pick themselves up in key spots.

And perhaps the most important such spot came after Royals had closed to within two goals (8-6) of overhauling the Cougars.

THREE FOR GOW

But Jim Murdoch banged in his first goal of the season and Greg Gow polished it off with his third of the night.

Gow also earned two assists for a five-point night. Greg Wedderburn and Garth Grieg each added two and singles went to Barry Clark, Al McIvor and Dennis Ferrill.

Cougars had some worrisome moments when goaltender Murray Finlay was injured midway in the second period. A sizzling, deflected shot sliced his right ear and head. Rookie Ron Grahame took over and held the fort the rest of the way.

Football Great Off to Vietnam

NEW YORK (AP) — Felix (Doc) Blanchard, one of the U.S. Military Academy's greatest football players, has been assigned to flying duty in Vietnam, the Air Force said.

Blanchard, a three-time all-America at fullback and winner of the Heisman and Sullivan Trophies in 1945, will join the 388th Tactical Fighter Wing at Korat Air Base in Thailand on Feb. 25, 1968.

Junior Brawl Injures Three

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Three persons were injured Wednesday when Vernon hockey players stormed into the stands with 36 seconds remaining in a 4-1 defeat by Kamloops in a B.C. Junior Hockey League game.

None of the injuries was serious.

Vernon players charged the Kamloops fans after their bench had been pelted by eggs. RCMP were called, but rink attendants managed to break up the fighting before they arrived. No charges were laid.

One fan received a cut on the back of his head, a Vernon supporter suffered a cut face and a third fan was trampled during the melee.

Earlier in the game, action had to be halted three times to allow eggs to be cleaned from the ice.

Kamloops rookie Grant Evans scored two goals and assist for the winners. Randy Rota and Joe Bedard added the other markers. Keith Rolson scored for Vernon, which plays in Victoria on Saturday.

Canucks Continue Touring Troubles

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League may not accept another invitation to visit in the American League.

Canucks Wednesday failed in their sixth straight game in AHL cities, losing 5-2 to Cleveland Barons while Phoenix Roadrunners of the WHL broke a three-game win streak for Buffalo Bisons of the AHL with a 7-4 victory.

Canucks got goals from Larry Popein and Bruce Carmichael.

THREE-GOAL EFFORT

Barons, leading the AHL's western division, got three goals from rookie Norm Ferguson and one each from Doug Senior and Pit Martin. Bob Ellett assisted on all three Ferguson goals.

Tom McVie scored three times to pace Phoenix with single goals going to Del Topoll, Jean Racette, Lou Jankowski and Walt McKechnie.

The Buffalo goals went to Camille Henry, Mike Labadie, Al Hamilton and George Hill as the Bisons dropped only their third game in seven starts and the first of a WHL road trip.

TOTEMS IN TIE

At Seattle, the Totems had to settle for a 2-2 tie with San Diego to keep their Western League unbeaten string alive before 3,196 fans.

The tying goal came with just 58 seconds remaining in regulation play. Bill Dineen fired in a 20-footer to send the contest into a scoreless overtime.

Guyle Fielder gave Seattle the edge early in the first period, but Nick Libett tied the score before the period ended.

The second period was scoreless, then Alex Faulkner blocked a shot at the blue line and went in on a breakaway to give the Gulls the lead.

Dear Brutus Tops Record For Jumping

NEW YORK (CP)—Dear Brutus, a brute of a horse, set a record jump of seven feet, three inches, in the Puissance high jumping test at the Natignal Horse Show Wednesday night.

The record for Madision Square Garden had been set by Canada's Tom Gayford, five years ago. Gayford, a business executive from Gormley, Ont., set the mark of 7-1 in 1962 aboard the famed Blue Beau, and it was equalled twice but never broken until Wendesday night.

Dear Brutus was ridden in the open jumping test by Russell Stewart, a 42-year-old American.

ADVICE TO WINNIPEG . . . FROM CITIZENS' COMMITTEE

Bury Idea of 1976 Olympics

WINNIPEG (CP)—A citizens' committee 42-page report made public Wednesday advises the City of Winnipeg, "reluctantly and with regret," to bury any idea of bidding for the 1976 Summer Olympics.

Lack of accommodation for athletes and visitors was listed as the No. 1 reason for not trying for the Games, which will be held next year in Mexico City and in Munich in 1972.

The five-member exploratory committee, headed by Mr. Justice R. O. B. Dickson of Court of Queen's Bench, was appointed by Mayor Stephen Juba following the success of the Pan-American Games here last summer.

Its report was made public by the mayor.

The committee recommended that Winnipeg, with a Metropolitan population of 500,000, look into the possibility of staging the Commonwealth Games, and it suggested Winnipeg might bid for the Olympics at some later date when adequate facilities exist.

CALLED SPORTS CAPITAL

Establishment of a Manitoba Sports Development Corporation is recommended to further the cause of sport in the province. The committee said Winnipeg should be promoted as the "sports training capital of Canada."

The report said Olympic village accommodation would have to be provided for approximately 12,000 athletes, team officials and judges at an estimated construction cost of $50,000,000.

Winnipeg would also need at least an additional 9,000 hotel rooms to handle visitors. This figure was based on the 200,000 visitors the Olympics are expected to lure to Mexico City and Munich.

Necessary additional sports facilities would cost $27,000,000 and would have to include an additional swimming pool with a seating capacity of 7,500; a smaller arena with approximately 5,000 seats; another arena with a seating capacity of 6,000; two more practice tracks and extensive shoreside facilities for yachting events.

In addition, the seating capacity of almost every existing facility would have to be increased and a number of major modifications carried out.

Late Fireworks Spark Esks to Fifth Straight

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos extended their winning streak Wednesday night to five, a 24-8 come-from-behind victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers to conclude their Western Football Conference schedule.

Behind 8-3 with only nine minutes to play, Eskimos exploded for three quick touchdowns to hand the fourth-place Blue Bombers their 11th loss of the season.

Playing before an estimated crowd of 13,000 in chilly 23-degree temperature, Eskimos took a 3-0 lead in the first quarter and held a 3-1 margin going into the second half. Bombers led 8-3 after three quarters.

End E. A. Sims, defensive lineman John LaGrone and flanker Randy Kerbow scored the Edmonton touchdowns. Peter Kempf kicked three converts and booted a field goal.

RAIMEY PRODUCES

Halfback Dave Raimey scored the lone Winnipeg touchdown in the third quarter when he picked up a screen pass from quarterback Kenny Ploen and raced 37 yards. Ernie Kuzyk converted. Kuzyk also kicked a single on a 37-yard field goal attempt in the second quarter.

Sims ran 38 yards into the end zone after taking a pass from quarterback Frank Cosentino to ignite Esks' comeback.

A fumble recovery only 47 seconds later clinched the game for the Eskimos. Winnipeg's Bill Cooper lost the ball on his own 38-yard line when he was hit by Trent Walters. LaGrone grabbed the loose ball and ran into the end zone.

Cosentino, who had trouble finding his receivers in the first half, hit Kerbow with a 38-yard pass in the end zone for the last touchdown.

The win, Edmonton's eighth in the last nine games, gave them a 9-6-1 record for the season.

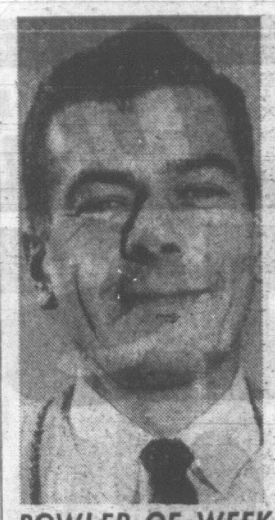

Third place Edmonton now has a sudden-death semi-final game against either the Roughriders or Calgary Stampeders. Blue Bombers play their last game Saturday against Saskatchewan.

NO DISAPPOINTMENT

Jim Thomas, voted by Edmonton fans as the Eskimos' most valuable player, was the game's top ground gainer with 73 yards on 19 carries. Raimey carried six times for 29 yards, but one of them amounted to 23 yards.

Raimey was the top receiver with 48 yards on two catches. Kerbow also caught two passes for a total of 41 yards, one of them a 38-yard completion.

Cosentino, who played the full game, was good on seven out of 15 pass attempts. Ploen completed nine out of 18 passes, while Bill Van Burkleo, who came in late in the game, was unsuccessful for Bombers on his four pass attempts.

BOWLER OF WEEK

Body shop foreman who oversees removal of car dents, Jack Plant put the big one in city bowling circles. Jack hammered out games of 355, 251 and 364 for whopping 970 triple in Mixed Classic League at Gibson's Recreations to win Times Bowler-of-the-Week award in men's fivepin division.

GOALIE KAYOED

Celtic Warns Fiery Latins

LONDON (AP)—Glasgow Celtic will call off Saturday's World Cup soccer playoff in Montevideo unless they get guarantees for their players' safety, British soccer correspondents reported today.

Celtic's goalkeeper Ronnie Simpson was felled by a bottle just before the kickoff of Wednesday night's second leg match with Racing of Buenos Aires. Racing won 2-1 to tie the series at one game each.

Jock Stein, Celtic manager, was quoted as saying: "The playoff depends on a meeting we are having Thursday, and unless we can get guarantees for the safety of our players we shall not play."

TOP GROUPS ON HAND

British correspondents reported that Celtic will seek the guarantees from officials of the relevant associations, who are in Buenos Aires for the game.

These organizations are the European Union of Football Associations, who organize the European Champions Cup, the South American Football Confederation, who organize the Latin American Cup, and the world body, FIFA (International Federation of Football Association).

Celtic had won the opening leg of the two-game final 2-1 in Glasgow Oct. 18.

The playoff game will be played at Montevideo, Uruguay.

Centre forward Juan Carlos Cardenas scored the winning goal for Racing at the 47th minute. Fullback Thomas Gemmel had put Celtic ahead at the 20th minute on a penalty kick, but inside right Norberto Raffo tied the score at the 32nd minute.

ROUGH CONTEST

The game was roughly played and the Uruguayan referee declared dozens of fouls.

Celtic players repeatedly complained about the roughness of Argentine players.

Simpson was out of the game even before it started. While the players were warming up before the kickoff, an unidentified spectator hit Simpson in the neck with a bottle hurled from the stands.

Simpson staggered off the field and John Fallon took his place in the match before 100,000 fans.

One Berth Left With Vics 'In'

Victoria High Tyees cinched at least a tie for first in the Inter-High School Soccer League Wednesday with a 3-2 victory over Mount Douglas Mountainmen at Vic High.

In another game, Claremont defeated a short-handed Esquimalt squad 4-0 at Lochside Park.

The league wraps up regular-season play Friday, and all eyes will be on Mt. View and Oak Bay—and what they accomplish. The Views play Mt. Doug while Oak Bay faces winless Esquimalt.

PLAYOFF PERHAPS?

Second-place Mount View, two points up on the Bays, needs only a tie to clinch second place and a spot in the city final against Tyees. In the event of a tie for second, a playoff will be held to determine the finalists.

In Wednesday's game, Tyees had their 3-2 lead at the end of the half with two goals by Stu Wallace and a penalty goal by goalkeeper Kjeld Brodsgaard Lorne Bunyan and Ron Burnett scored for the Mountainmen.

Keith Hannon scored three for Claremont but got only one of those in the first half as Esquimalt goalkeeper Mike Yager tried to keep the Dockers in the game with some outstanding saves.

Greg Williams sent in the second goal early in the second half and Hannon scored goals No. 2 and No. 3 just before time.

Prep Cagers Ready to Roll

Esquimalt Dockers toppled Belmont 57-38 Wednesday in the final exhibition high school boys' basketball game before the regular season gets under way.

Competition starts on Friday night when Belmont visits Mt. Douglas and Esquimalt hosts Victoria High.

The league has eight teams—Oak Bay, Vic High, Claremont, Esquimalt, Mt. Douglas, Belmont, Mount View and University School.

Top scorers in Wednesday's exhibition, played at Belmont, were Rick Allen of Belmont, with 22 points, and Bob DeCosta of Esquimalt, with 17 points.

Giants Beckon Former Coach

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco Giants announced Wednesday that Wes Westrum, manager of New York Mets for the last three seasons, is returning to the Giants to join the coaching staff.

Westrum, 45, has been a Giant much of his playing life. He was the Giants' first-string catcher for 11 seasons in New York and came to San Francisco as a coach in 1958. He transferred to New York Mets for 1964 and assumed managerial duties in 1965. He resigned near the end of the 1967 season.

. . . For Better Golfing

Greenkeepers in the Greater Victoria area have banded together in an effort to provide continued top playing conditions for the area's golfers.

Glen Meadows, Uplands, Royal Colwood, Gorge Vale and Victoria Golf Clubs will be represented in a "Turf Grass Association."

Main aim will be to broaden and expand course care and wherever possible effect a co-operative course maintenance measure that would benefit member clubs.

George Silburn, former official of the B.C. forestry service and chairman of Uplands' greens committee, is the body's first chairman. Vice-chairman is Laurie Kerr of Colwood.

Colwood's Sam Mackness is secretary.

Each club will have one voting representative and all greens superintendents will be asked to take active participation in the association.

First meeting will be held Dec. 5.

Bill Would Legalize Sale, Advertising of Contraceptives

OTTAWA (CP)—Legislation making it legal to advertise and sell contraceptive devices was introduced Wednesday in the Senate.

The bill is expected to pass in both the Senate and Commons and become law before Christmas.

It changes the sale and advertising of contraceptives from the category of an offence under the Criminal Code to a controlled, permissible activity under the Food and Drugs Act.

The government will permit a vote free of party lines on the contraception bill and on others covering capital punishment, abortion and divorce reform.

A second part of the contraception bill would give the federal government power for the first time to control substances that are legal but hazardous.

The legislation provides a series of safeguards in handling, advertising and sale.

Suspects Captured

LA PORTE, Ind. (AP) — Two men wanted in a suburban Chicago bank robbery in which two policemen were slain were seized Tuesday night at a lake cottage used by one of them as a hideout 11 years ago. A posse of federal, state and county police officers, acting on a tip, went to the cabin and arrested Clifton O. Daniels, 29, and Henry M. Gargano, 35. Gargano was found in bed, wounded and "too weak to move."

The Senate also gave second reading Wednesday to a bill making possession and trafficking of lysergic acid diethylamide ,the mind-expanding drug LSD, an offence.

A similar bill died in the spring with the end of the last session of Parliament. The new bill deletes a controversial clause restricting promotion of LSD.

The anti-promotion clause apparently was deleted because the government felt it was impractical to enforce.

The clause had been criticized as interference with free speech and civil liberty because it might have prevented people from writing or talkinng about the controversial drug.

MOSTLY OVER WAR

Protests Rife On Campuses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Issues ranging from the campus presence of CIA recruiters to the bulldozing of a favorite lounging lawn prompted student protests Wednesday at several U.S. colleges.

There were also expressions of support for open recruiting at Columbia University and a vote by University of Texas students against an immediate ceasefire in Vietnam.

Central Intelligence Agency men were recruiting at Stanford University when 75 to 200 students climbed a fire escape to an alcove over the conference room and began yelling and stomping.

More tha 100 students were charged with disturbing the peace at the University of Iowa when a demonstration against the presence of a marine corps recruiter touched off a kicking, shoving melee.

About 300 University of Michigan students in Ann Arbor staged a sit-in at the administration building to protest the school's involvement in a $1,000,000 counter-insurgency project in Thailand.

At City College in New York 49 students were arrested as they sat in muddy ditches dug for the foundations of a building they say encroaches on a favorite student lounging lawn.

A few blocks to the south of Manhattan's West Side, students at Columbia College and the university's School of Engineering were voting strongly in favor of open recruiting by any organization.

"Although many students feel that the war in Vietnam is wrong, people do not feel that suppression of certain types of speech is a suitable means of protest," commented Eden Weinbaum, president of the sophomore class.

A protest of a different nature took place at the predominantly Negro Central State University in Wilberforce, Ohio, where 200 students trapped President Harry Groves in his office for several hours.

They had gathered to show support for the school's non-teaching employees who are involved in a labor dispute with the university. The crowd dispersed before any police action was taken.

COFFEE GRANT FOR UVIC MAN

A University of Victoria biologist has been awarded a $6,400 research grant to work on behalf of the Caribbean coffee industry.

Dr. David Ballantyne received the grant from the University of Puerto Rico for investigation of methods of regulating harvest periods for the crop.

Dr. Ballantyne, 36, has been investigating plant growth at Uvic since 1963. He has worked mostly with azaleas.

Order Defied, Driver Fined

A man police say drove for two hours after he had been given a 24-hour roadside suspension was fined $100 in magistrate's court Wednesday.

Gordon Shafoval, 3,100 Jacklin, had his licence suspended by police officers at w:15 a.m. Wednesday. Police officers reported two hours later they apprehended him driving again.

Isuzu Bellett.
The economy car that didn't cut corners to get under $2000.

When it comes to cutting corners, we're square.

That's why the Isuzu Bellett ended up with 4-speed syncro-mesh and a 71 h.p. engine that tops 90 m.p.h. (That's 42% more horsepower and 13% more speed than the biggest-selling economy car.)

And the Isuzu Bellett ended up with 4 doors and 4 headlights. (That's 100% more doors and 100% more headlights than the biggest - selling economy car.)

And the Isuzu Bellett ended up with an all vinyl interior. Whitewalls. Undercoating. And a locking gas cap. All standard equipment. (The biggest-selling economy car doesn't have any of these features so there's no percentage figuring it out.)

There's one place we're at a standoff with the biggest-selling economy car. We have independent 4-wheel suspension. So do they. We don't mind sharing the glory on this one point.

Of course, we get up to 40 miles to the gallon. That's why we call the Isuzu Bellett an economy car.

Otherwise, it would probably be the cheapest luxury car going.

$1,998 suggested list price, p.o.e. Toronto, Montreal & Vancouver, plus freight, local & Provincial taxes.

JUDY HOPES SO WITH NEW ACT

Better Canadian TV Shows Coming?

OTTAWA (CP)—Higher-quality Canadian shows are one hoped-for result of the new broadcasting act, State Secretary Judy LaMarsh told the Commons Wednesday.

She said the Canadian Radio Commission, the new broadcasting regulatory body, will be required to impose conditions "which would ensure that the programming of both the CBC and the private broadcasters shall be of high quality, using predominantly Canadian resources."

Miss LaMarsh also couldn't see why more Canadian content should not be injected into commercial messages.

Opening debate on second reading—approval in principle—of the long-awaited bill, Miss LaMarsh said the previous requirement of 55 per cent Canadian content from TV stations had not worked out as Parliament had intended.

SPENT LITTLE

Aside from some stations spending as little as possible on Canadian shows, Canadian content had become confused with public-interest programming.

Under the public interest concept "such events as the World Series and Winston Churchill's funeral have been treated as Canadian content while a concert give in New York city by a Canadian artist might not be."

More profitable TV stations would be required to make a greater effort to put on high-quality Canadian shows than less-profitable ones. Licences would set out the requirements for individual stations.

Gordon Fairweather (PC—Royal) said he hoped Miss LaMarsh would accept amendments the opposition would propose on the use of Canadian talent.

One was a recommendation by the Association of Canadian Television and Radio Artists which would allow private stations carrying CBC programming to provide alternate Canadian shows using local talent.

"The list of those artists, writers, actors and other broadcasting professionals who have had to seek employment outside Canada is a veritable honor roll of talent," said the former attorney-general of New Brunswick.

Miss LaMarsh said the broadcasting bill clearly sets out the policy Parliament expects of all broadcasters and of the radio commission.

Expected of the broadcasters will be the promotion of national unity, providing a service that is basically Canadian in content and character, and extending service in English and French from coast to coast.

To give teeth to the commission, the act provides for fines up to $100,000 or prison sentences against offenders in the private sector.

In the case of CBC violations of conditions of licence, provision is made for the CRC to submit a report to Parliament.

"If Parliament agrees that the CRC report is justified, it is clear that cause will have been established for the dismissal of those responsible within the corporation."

REGULATE TV SETS

Another result of the bill could be to force makers of TV sets sold in Canada to meet certain requirements—for instance, sets capable of receiving ultra-high frequency channels as well as the very-high frequencies now in use.

With UHF, another 75 channels could be available for use in Canada.

Mr. Fairweather called for regulations spelling out when the government could order time cleared on both public and private stations for programs it considers in the public interest.

He deplored the provision that made the state secretary the referee when disputes arose between the CBC and CRC.

Robrt Prittie (NDP—Burnaby-Richmond) said he didn't want to see a witchhunt started for separatists in the French-language service of the CBC because of broadcasting's mandate for national unity.

The bill enabled the government to say "you are not promoting national unity, you are a separatist ad therefore you are out."

"There is a possible danger here," he said.

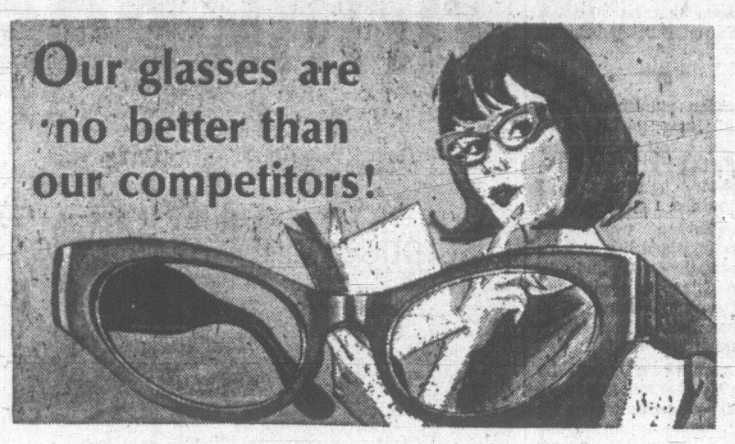

Cubans Said Booted Out By Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Robert Thompson, former Social Credit leader, said Tuesday that at least four employees of the Cuban embassy here have been expelled for "inadmissible activities."

Mr. Thompson, expanding on earlier charges of Cuban subversive acts against Canada, said in an open letter to External Affairs Minister Martin that the activities included sale of arms and ammunition to separatists and distribution to university students of a handbook on guerrilla warfare by Che Guevara, the Cuban rebel leader recently reported slain in Bolivia.

Mr. Thompson gave no further details in his letter but in an interview he said all of the expulsions had occurred some time ago and he believed at least three had been previously reported.

An external affairs department spokesman said he could not confirm that the expulsions had occurred.

Our competitors' glasses are no better than ours, either. The fact is, all reputable optical laboratories make good eyeglasses. We all use quality materials and modern production facilities. London Drugs Optical Dept. sells at lower prices simply because we see no reason to make a higher profit than we do now. That's why we offer you prescription-perfected single vision glasses for as little as 9.95. And we don't have to pretend that our glasses are better than anyone else's. Prescription-perfect is good enough.

CONOVER
. . . with Marilyn

Sex Queens, Fast Life —Goodbye to All That

By JAN GOULD

What drives some people to become pioneers? Whatever it is, is it contagious? Gulf Island writer Dave Conover has some of the answers in a book to be released soon.

Mr. Conover's factual "Once Upon An Island," is a before-and-after account of his decision to forsake a successfull Hollywood career for the quiet solitude of Wallace Island.

The book title isn't the one he had in mind during eight years of manuscript preparation plus three more years of trying to interest a publisher in what he had to say. "I was going to name it 'Island Fever,' then it hit me. Someone might mistake it for some treatise on obscure tropical diseases."

Kansas-born Conover was a successful photographer when he and wife Jean decided to leave California's fast-paced living for a quiet Thoreau-like way of existence on Wallace Island, across the Trincomali Channel from Salt Spring.

Prior to that he worked as a combat photographer for the U.S. Army and found himself assigned to—of all places—Hollywood.

There, he dutifylly recorded factory workers as they assembled aircraft parts and took time out from the assignment to photograph Norma Jean Doherty, photographs that indirectly led to her success as Marilyn Monroe.

Conover an his wife had exactly $6,000 when they decided they wanted to buy Wallace Island.

It took a certain amount of raw hope and frantic business manipulation to acquire the 210-acre island which was for sale at $18,000 in 1948.

By acquiring option to purchase timber rights on two neighboring islands and selling the timber, the Conovers acquired enough to pay off the mortgage on Wallace Island and to own the other two islands as well.

"That's when the hard work began," recalls Mr. Conover, who has written about the years of dawn to dusk labor, the mishaps and joys of learning how to build a resort, wharves, a generating plant and Shangri-la house.

Mr. Conover acquired a vast library but the most thumbed-over book was an anicient guide to Carpentry and Plumbing. To find fresh water, Mr. Conover read all he could about geology, hired a drilling rig, and drilled for himself—successfully.

●

For years, the resort the Conovers established has been popular with frantic careerists wanting to "fish jnd get away from it all." Recently sold to a U.S. syndicate, it brought financial success to the Conovers who retained their 14-acre peninsula on which their home is built.

They divide their hours between the island and Victoria where their 17-year-old son David attends school.

Mr. Conover only goes to the city to do reasearch in libraries.

While Dave Conover finds it rewarding to be a financial success, a capable businessman, plumber, stonemason and mariner, he's primarily concerned with learning the arduous craft of writing. It's one reason that he sent his book to a U.S. publishing house.

●

"Canadian publishers don't seem to have the time or money to invest in working with writers on specific manuscripts," he says. "And I knew I needed a good editor."

He's written two other accounts of island life. "One's an around-the-clock study of Wallace Island, an observation of seasonal change. The other has Salt Spring as its environment."

A Canadian citizen by choice, Mr Conover knows no national boundaries where his reading interests are. He's interested in all philosophers and their teachings, wild-life and natural history. He's maintained an interest in photography and both the cover of his book "Once Upon an Island," and the illustrations were taken by him with a camera equipped with a special timing device.

As a writer, he feels he lacks the creativity to write fiction. The subject he most likes to explore is "Man . . . the sum and substance of man and the human condition."

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR HARBOR

OTTAWA (CP) — L. K. Creelman Co. Ltd., of Alert Bay, has been awarded a $46,219 public works contract for the second phase of construction of a boat harbor at Port McNeill.

Port McNeill on the north coast of Vancouver Island is being developed to provide a harbor with moorage for fishing and pleasure boats in the area.

Boom Follows Sewer Project

NORTH COWICHAN — One of the first fruits of indication new sewer system will be laid in the south end of the municipality early next year is interest in a large housing development.

Reeve Donald Morton expressed surprise Wednesday that Western Co-operative Housing Society is thinking in terms of 100 units for a low-cost housing project in the Tzouhalem road area.

The society is working with Duncan and District Credit Union and Cowichan Co-operative Services.

Houses will likely range from $11,000 two-bedroom to $15,200 four-bedroom homes.

A contract for laying of the sewer is expected to be awarded by the end of this year.

Estimated cost of the system, to be put in under the local improvement clause of the municipal act, is $470,000.

In a report not yet made public but signed by the consulting engineers of Duncan and North Cowichan, there are four alternative sewage disposal recommendations.

Reeve Donald Morton said Wednesday one of these is an $85,000 plant.

He said the two engineers are agreed the Duncan city lagoon as it is now is not a feasible project to handle the joint flow of sewage.

Reeve Morton said a special device could be installed to increase the capacity of the lagoon.

He said another solution could be a new North Cowichan lagoon on 5.5 acres of municipal land near the present city lagoon.

Reeve Morton said: "The engineers have intimated the time will come when all sewage from this area will have to be discharged into Cowichan Bay following proper treatment."

ROUNDUP

Hall Space Proves Popular

NORTH COWICHAN — The new municipal hall is not completely finished but already council is receiving applications for use of the basement.

First in line Wednesday were Cowichan Valley Athletic Club and Cowichan Judo Club.

Coun. Gerry Smith said he could see no objection as the members of these clubs are mostly taxpayers and helped pay for the new hall.

Coun. Dennis Hogan said there is a critical shortage of hall space in the district and council should do anything it can to assist such groups.

The applications were passed to a committee to make detailed arrangements.

Reeve Donald Morton said any use of the hall basement granted to outside organizations must be temporary as in time the accommodation will be required by the engineer's department.

Four Sooke grocery stores will accept donations for the United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal Friday.

Sooke Supermarket, Brownsey's Store, Saseenos Shop Easy and Jones Store will be manned by volunteers from the district to accept contributions for the appeal.

Fly Ash 'Reduced'

CHEMAINUS — Pollution from fly ash sufficiently angered Chemainus residents that municipal council was asked last month to do something about it.

Council wrote to MacMillan, Bloedel Ltd., owners of the offending sawmill.

Wednesday the company stated it has hired a consultant to make recommendations to further reduce fly ash emission.

In a letter to council, the firm said during the past 10 years the company has spent $200,000 on fly ash abatement projects.

First major project was to electrify the planer mill at a cost of $25,000.

GARBAGE ROLE EYED BY COUNCIL

NORTH COWICHAN—Municipal council may go into the garbage collection business.

Its public works committee is to investigate costs.

Coun. Gerry Smith suggested Wednesday the council should examine whether or not it would be cheaper to go into business itself in all built-up areas of the municipality.

He said a majority of the people in the Chemainus area are not satisfied with the equipment being used by the present contractor.

Reeve Donald Morton said perhaps income didn't justify the man investing in new equipment.

The reeve said if council took it over there would have to be a minimum weekly collection at both ends of the municipality.

In reply to a question, Reeve Morton said in regard to garbage disposal any suggestion of financing an incinerator would have to be on a regional basis.

Guinness is now available wherever you drink beer

Surprise your waiter. Order one.

Guinness, that famous old Irish brew. In a pub! Not quite a beer, not quite an ale. Something quite different! Rich, creamy texture. Deep ruby colour. A subtle hint of bitterness. Try a Guinness for a change. It may grow on you.

Hot deals on hot cars.

The air-conditioned Ambassador is a great success...and that's our problem. We had to build some without it.

You've caught us by surprise. We never figured that so many people would respond so quickly to the idea of air conditioning at no extra cost. Sure, it makes life just wonderful in the summer and sure it makes the heating system that much more efficient . . . but to get swamped with orders?

As a result, we couldn't get air conditioners fast enough. And we couldn't shut down the assembly line. So, as much as we didn't like the idea, we had to build about 1200 Ambassadors without air conditioning.

Our dealers have orders to sell these cars as quickly as possible and at sizeable discounts! We have solved the shortage so the Ambassadors we build from now on, and the Ambassadors you'll see in showrooms from now on, will have air conditioning at no extra cost.

If you feel you can put up with the heat for a little longer for the sake of an exceptional deal, see your nearby American Motors/Rambler dealer. But don't put it off. The discounts are substantial, so these cars will be sold quickly.

RCMP Lose Chase At Sea

OTTAWA (CP) — The RCMP cutters were unable to overtake an Israeli freighter last Friday after an "anonymous tip" that it was leaving Pictou, N.S., with undeclared small arms in its cargo, the Commons was told Wednesday.

Replying to H. Russell MacEvan (PC—Pictou), External Affairs Minister Martin agreed that the cutters were unable to overtake the 2,728-ton freighter Nahariya before it reached international waters.

Mr. Martin said the government is still investigating the "anonymous tip" that led to the chase.

He also said that no export permits were authorized for small arms shipments to the Middle East.

The Nahariya, owned by Zim Israel Navigation Co., had loaded lumber in Pictou after picking up general cargo at St. Lawrence River ports. It was bound for Spain.

RCMP said it was learned shortly after the ship left Pictou that a case of small arms had been seen aboard it.

The chase had to be given up once the ship reached international waters because the Customs Act does not permit pursuit on the high seas.

French 'Mobility' The Key

OTTAWA (CP)—Eric Kierans, president of the Quebec Liberal Federation, said Wednesday resistance by English-Canada to French language and culture will drive French-Canadians into the arms of advocates of separatism or commercial union.

The former Quebec cabinet minister said the basic problem in Canada tody is mobility of ideas, cultures and traditions. It would become of growing importance as French-Canadians become more mobile.

If the French-Canadian finds facilities that make him feel truly at home anywhere in Canada, then the separatist and commercial union movements will disappear, he told a National Press Club luncheon.

He said that "if we were French we would want precisely what French-Candians want—the facilities to enable them to live their Frenchness."

Steps by Premier Roblin of Manitoba and Premier Thatcher of Saskatchewan toward education in French were moves in the right direction. So was the promise of Premier Robarts of Ontario to provide French-language secondary schools where the number of French speaking families justified them.

Kuwait World's 'Richest'

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—A new UN statistical table shows that Canada ranked fifth in per-capita income in 1965, the last year for which complete figures are available.

Surprisingly, the tiny Persian Gulf principality of Kuwait ranked first, ahead of the United States.

Actually the figures on incomes are low because, broadly speaking, national income is figured by adding up all the money anyone in the country makes in any legitimate way. Income per capita is figured by taking the total and dividing by the population.

The table, published today in the UN's monthly bulletin of Statistics, gives Kuwait's national income as $3,184 per person in 1965. In the U.S. the figure is $2,893.

Others are: Switzerland with $1,928; Iceland $1,870; Canada $1,825; New Zealand $1,706; Denmark $1,652, and Australia $1,620.

Britain ranked 11th at $1,451. The lowest recorded per capita national income was Malawi's $38.

Algeria Controls Set

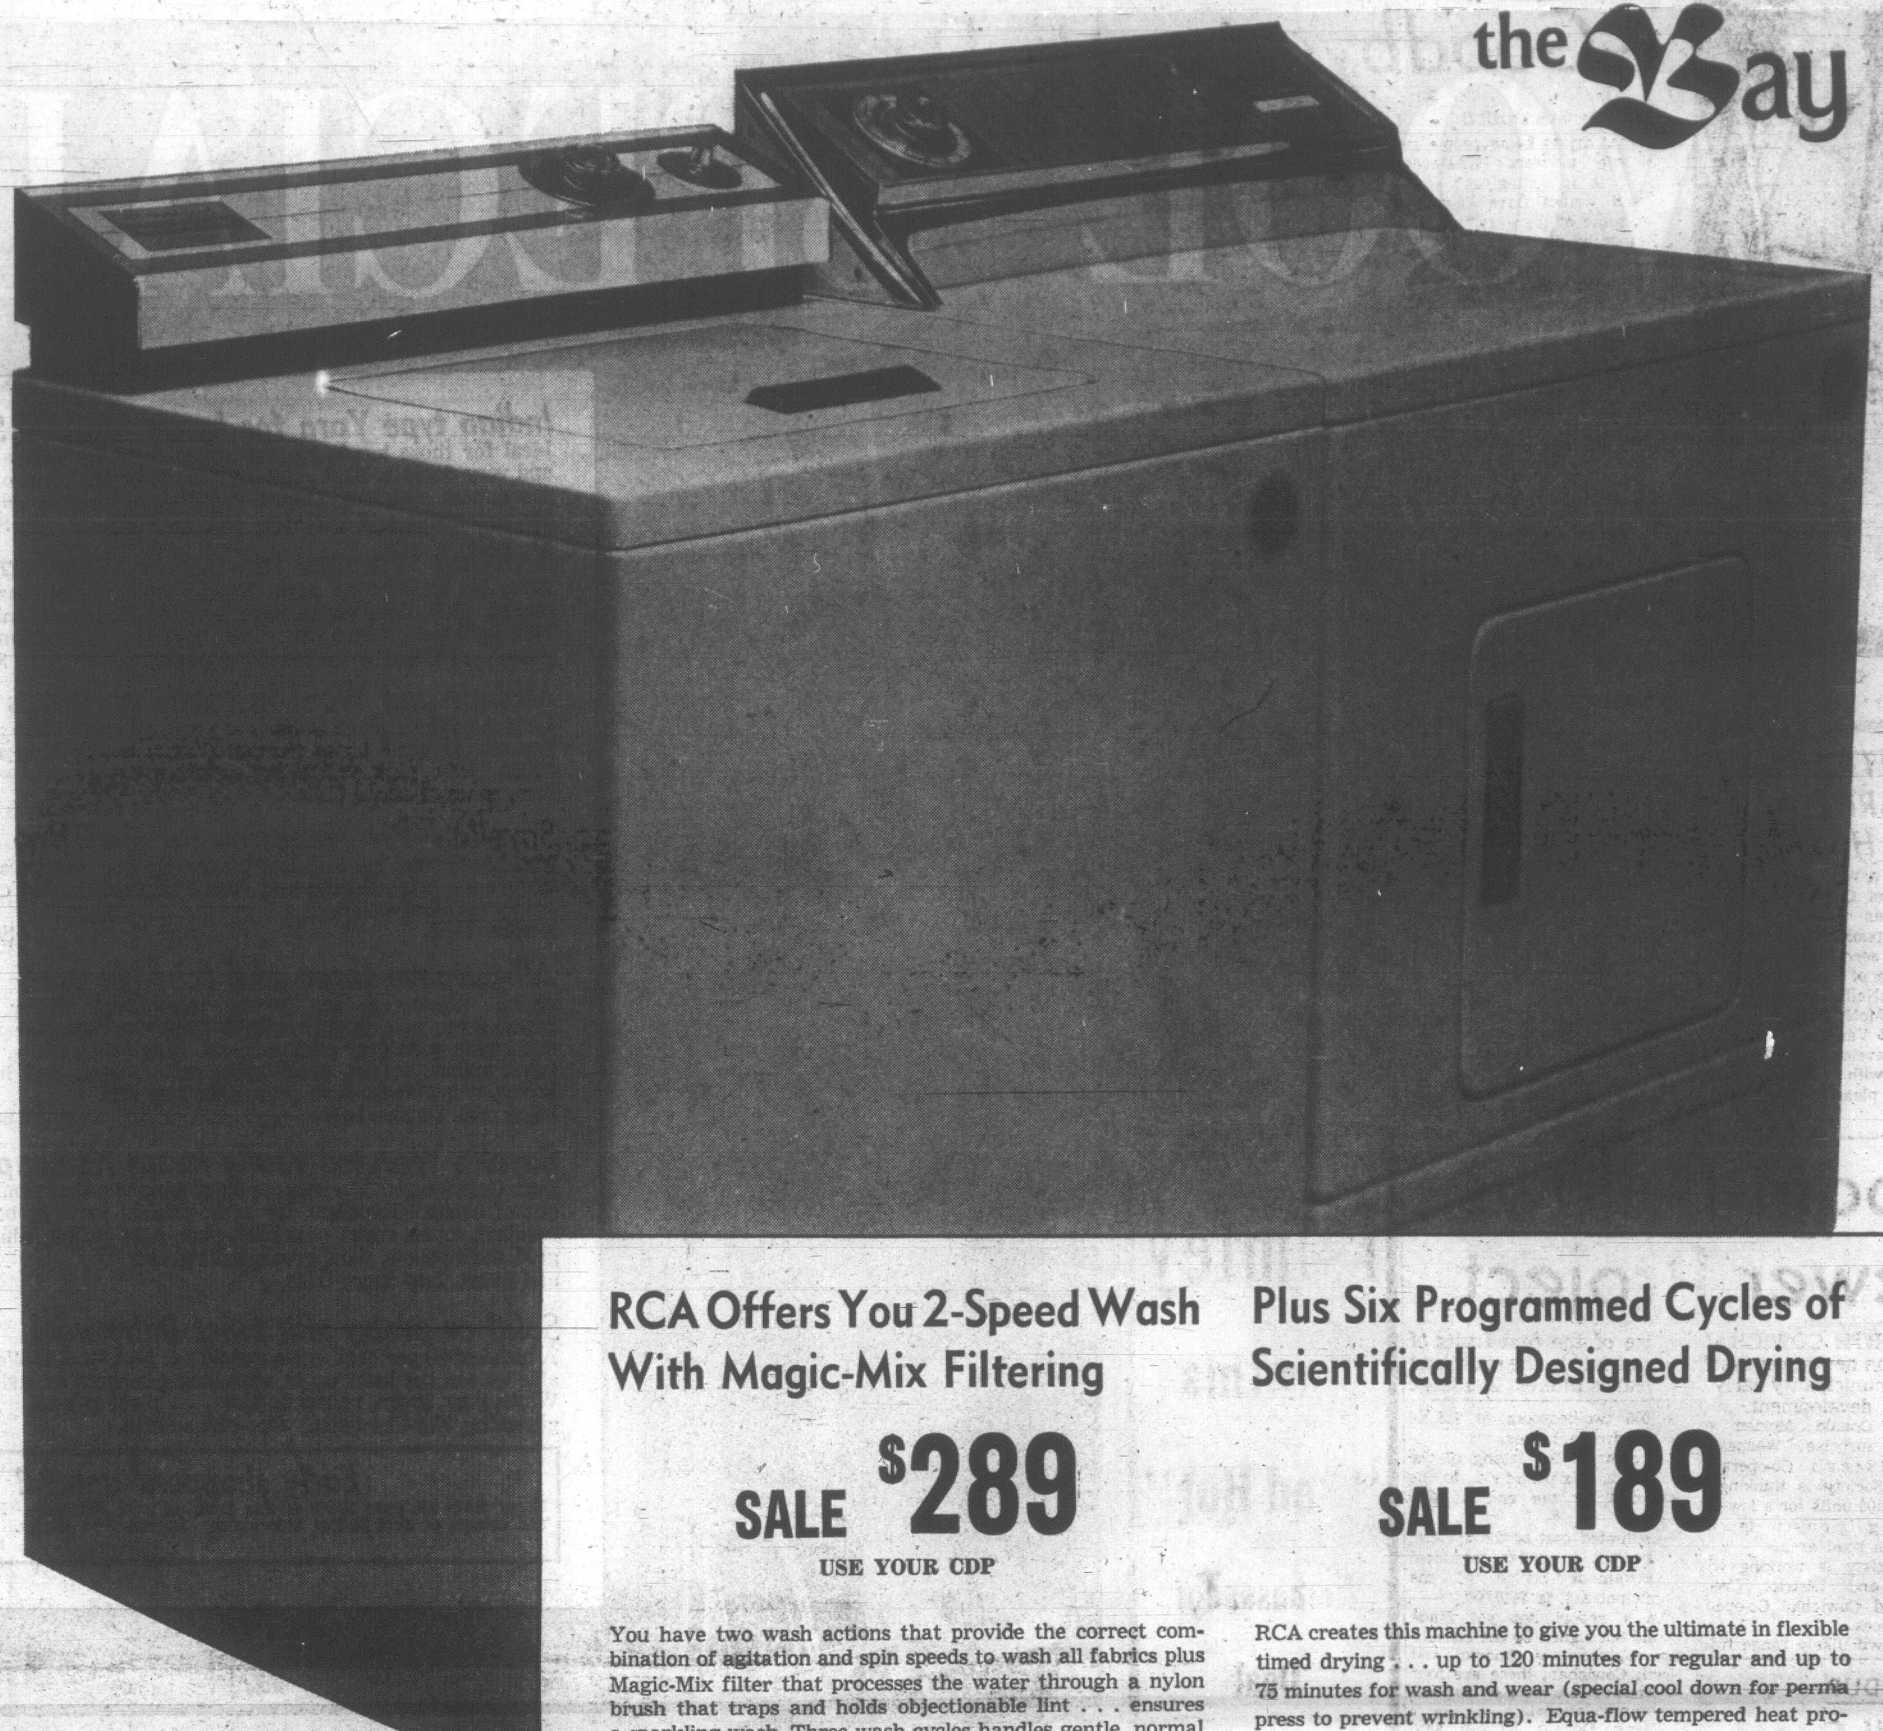

ALGIERS (Reuters)— Algeria Tuesday night imposed state control on all financial transactions with foreign countries. The move was timed to coincide with the 13th anniversary today of the Algerian independence uprising. Overseas dealings would be the prerogative of the three Algerian state banks — the Algerian national bank, the Credit Populaire, and the Banque Exterieure d'Algerie.

Air Hunting Banned

OTTAWA (CP)—United States charter aircraft that hunt moose spotted from the air in the Canadian wilds are violating their Canadian operating licences, the Canadian air transport commission said Tuesday in a ruling. The commission's air traffic committee said it has suspended for two months the licence of Bohman Airways of Ranier, Minn., for such activity.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1967 --PAGE 21

Actions on Secret Report Bared by Reeve Bryant

Arthur Mayse

We got a letter from Montreal the other morning with snips and snaps of news, and woven through all, a lament for the dear departed. This is, or I should say was, Expo 67 — and who can blame Mayor Jean Drapeau for hoping that at least a shadow of a fair so wondrous may remain?

But Expo's end was ordained even before its amazing birth. The funeral rites have been pronounced, and though the shell still stands, the essence has departed.

That, I suppose, is as it should be since we get nowhere by dwelling on past triumphs beyond the point where they bear upon our future.

What this may be, we can only guess, and if Laurier Lapierre's well-publicized forebodings are realized, Expo could have been Canada's swan song.

Dr. Lapierre, however, is stalking a seat in Commons. From an ingrained distrust of even the semi-political speech, I prefer to table his warning along with the claims of hasty eulogists who insist that because of Expo. all must now be well with Ca-na-da.

For myself, I don't believe that either national damnation or salvation are as yet so starkly visible. I'm content to be mighty proud of the fact that we succeeded in building a highly superior Big Rock Candy Mountain, which we shared in near-perfect amity with all the world.

★

I first saw Expo as a bewilderment of mud and raw red structural steel, and, standing in danger of sudden death from galloping truck and flying cable, tried hard to project the finished picture.

But imagination can only extend so far; and Expo in embryo did not prepare the viewer for the full-feathered reality.

If you were lucky enough to see it with your own eyes, you don't need my picture. For those who didn't make the pilgrimage, let me tell you first that Expo as it burst upon my startled sight something over a year after that first visit, was uncommonly like my childhood picture of heaven.

There were no pearly gates, only ticket booths and turnstiles, and the paving was common blacktop instead of gold. I didn't see any identifiable angels, either, although the total friendliness of the place suggested that here indeed was millenium.

You walked uncrowded, although one of a vast throng; and ahead of you, and on both sides, and behind you, incredible buildings blossomed.

You could spend hours ransacking with amazed eyes the treasures that any of them contained, and pass on to the next and the one after that, knowing the catalogue of wonders was inexhaustible.

Some of those buildings had spires—you have seen their pictures—and some were mere airily-supported roofs, that flowed in compound curves, both delicate and strong. There was the great orb that glowed at night as earth must when seen from distant space, and a jewel-like pagoda, looking languid at a waterway where sampans cruised.

True the sampans were motorized, and so were the gondolas; and for a reminder that heaven hadn't altogether materialzied on the St. Lawrence, such lineups as we may never witness again.

There were also beer gardens where the nations met and the brew was good.

I remember one in particular where a physical education teacher from Pennsylvania leaped lithe as a gazelle over a railing, beer mug in one hand and my wife's camera in the other, to oblige us by taking our picture.

She wouldn't do anything like that at home, I'll bet, or in Victoria either, always provided we had become civilized to the point of acquiring beer gardens. This, though, was Expo, a moated city of peculiar magic.

Expo was all I have tried to tell you, and infinitely more. It was even worth the sacrifice of three fishing weeks. Higher tribute than that, I cannot pay.

DIRECTORS BACK CHAMBER CHIEF

Esquimalt Chamber of Commerce directors today backed president Ian Andersen in his dispute with Reeve Ray Bryant and Coun. Gerald Horne.

The directors agreed the reeve should not have blamed political opponents for the unofficial release of the controversial Macdonell Report on municipal police and fire department inefficiency.

And the directors said the reeve should not have criticized Mr. Andersen for objecting to the reeve's statements.

A statement issued by the chamber said:

"Esquimalt Chamber of Commerce directors met this morning and gave a unanimous vote of confidence to its president, Ian Andersen."

NOT INVOLVED

The directors noted that the reeve and councillor had publicly claimed Mr. Andersen was hurting the chamber image by being politically biases.

"While the chamber does not intend to get involved in political issues . . . they unanimously endorsed president Andersen's stand that the reeve should not have gone on national television and local media accusing his election opponents of dirty politics and smear tactics when no one knows who released the report or why it was released."

PRESSURE GROUP

The directors are Peter Gardner, vice-president; Ken Bishop, secretary; Len Wakeman, Charles Harris, George Laak and Ed Liersch. Jim Turnbull was absent from the meeting.

They said they were concerned about continued accusations that the chamber is a political pressure group that does little for the community.

The directors attached a long list of community projects carried out in the past year on publicity, park planning, beautification planning, window painting and costume contests and anti-litter campaigning.

"With some encouragement from council there is much more the chamber could do," the statement added.

Books Loaned At Night

Evening hours at libraries in two Greater Victoria schools were introduced for the first time Wednesday evening.

At Victoria High, where the library will be open from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Monday to Thursday on an experimental basis, principal Duncan Lorimer said he was pleased with the initial response from students.

"They were coming and going but there was up to about 20 using it," he said, predicting use will increase as word spreads.

The evening hours will provide students with more facilities to research projects and do homework, he said.

The same hours will be kept by Esquimalt Junior Secondary School.

Principal Don Smith said there had been little advance notice and only two students showed up Wednesday night.

"But I think they'll be more tonight. It's going to take a little time to catch on."

In both cases the use of the libraries is restricted to students at the school.

Two Seek Saanich Seat

An insurance underwriter and a woman active in parent-teacher activities said Wednesday they will contest the lone Saanich seat coming vacant on the Great Victoria School Board.

They are Richard Reeve, 4105 Torquay, who previously served 14 years on the board, retiring undefeated in 1963, and Mrs. R. B. Restall, 3208 Bellevue, past-president of the Greater Victoria Parent-Teacher Council.

Both will be after the seat now held by Mrs. Frances Thompson, a 10-year veteran who announced recently she will not be seeking re-election.

There are three urban Saanich representatives on the nine-man Greater Victoria board, three from Victoria, two from Oak Bay and one from Esquimalt. Members serve staggered two-year terms.

NO OPPONENT

No opponent has yet declared himself against board chairman Peter Bunn who sits for Oak Bay and is seeking re-election.

In Victoria, past-chairman John Porteous and newcomer trustee Dr. Victor Rogers are completing two-year terms. Mr. Porteous said he will seek a fourth term and Dr. Rogers said he has not made his mind up yet.

This is an off-year for election of Esquimalt's trustee.

Marijuana Trial Set

The trial of a man charged with possession of marijuana for purposes of trafficking has been set for Nov. 27.

Francis Neel, 746 Dupplin, was one of four men who appeared in magistrate's court today to have the dates for trial fixed on marijuana charges.

Edward Sukis, 809 Penwell, charged with possession, will also be tried on Nov. 27.

The joint trial of Verne Green, 536 Johnson, and Alfons Hughes, Lake Cowichan, was fixed to continue Friday afternoon.

All four have pleaded not guilty.

Esquimalt police commission this morning listed the major recommendations of the Macdonell job evaluation report already implemented in the municipality.

In releasing the list, Police Commission chairman Reeve Ray Bryant said the commission would not discuss now, nor in the future, the personality problems mentioned in the report by retired RCMP officer Macdonell.

"If anyone wishes to publicly discuss them they will find from competent legal advice that they will immediately be subject to legal action," he said.

One of the major recommendations of the Macdonell report was that the Esquimalt police force be strengthened.

"In May, 1966, the Esquimalt police force totalled one chief, two sergeants, two corporals and 17 constables," the statement released today by the three-man commission states.

"As of October this year the force totals one chief, two sergeants, five corporals, 16 constables, three clerk communicators and clerk typist.

"Also there now exists a signed mutual assistance fire agreement with the Dockyard Fire Department which did not exist in May, 1966."

Other changes made following receipt of the Macdonell report include:

- The establishment of a detective branch when practical and necessary but with a training program formulated at once.
- Revision of holiday roster.
- A non-commissioned officer in charge of each shift.
- Improved office accommodation and a complete renovation of the police station.
- More and better police equipment.
- Changes in the promotion system placing merit above seniority.

Changes recommended by the Macdonell report but not implemented by the police commission included a suggestion that the rank of corporal be abolished.

Reeve Bryant said serious consideration was given to the recommendation but the unamimous decision was that the rank of corporal should be retained for the time being.

"This is only some of the work done by the commission since receiving the report," the police commission statement said. "But it is felt that it is sufficient to correct any suggestions that the commission has ignored this report.

"The commission would like to go on record at this time and categorically state its pride in the Esquimalt police department, the members of the force and their record of service and protection to the people of Esquimalt."

DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE
. . . supports younger generation

Hippies Block Out Good Efforts Of Young—Duke

The hippies are getting hippier and the squares are getting squarer.

That is how the Duke of Devonshire sees the young people of Britain today.

"I use the term 'square' in reference to the hard core of young men and women who are working really hard to make something of themselves.

"The hippies are still very much with us, but in Britain, as elsewhere, they get all the publicity and little is heard of the solid young citizens who are part of our national backbone.

"In the mass, I have no fears for our younger generation."

The tall, 47-year-old Duke of Devonshire flew to Victoria this morning to address a joint luncheon of the Royal Commonwealth Society, Greater Victoria Chamber of Commerce and Victoria Rotary Club in the Empress Hotel.

TORY MINISTER

He is both president of the Federation of Commonwealth Chambers of Commerce and chairman of the Royal Commonwealth Society, which has a world membership of 30,000.

The duke last visited Victoria in May, 1964, when he was Britain's minister of state for Commonwealth Relations in the then Conservative government.

"I'm out of politics now," he said, "and I think the British Labor government will be in power for quite a while."

He declined comment on the current fracas between British Foreign Secretary George Brown and Lord Thomson of Fleet but said of Lord Thomson:

"He is a good friend of mine and he makes a fine contribution to many debates in the House of Lords."

The duke believes Britain should join the European Common Market and says it wouldn't weaken her link with the Commonwealth.

MANY THREADS

"The Commonwealth is changing fast," he said, "but I see no integral weakness in it. We are a cross-section of the world composed of prosperous countries, poor countries and developing countries. We are tied, not by a rope, but by a myriad of threads."

The duke believes Canada and other senior countries of the Commonwealth are doing much to help developing countries.

"This is not only morally right; it is in our own interests, for when these countries get on their feet they will create markets for us, and they will be less likely to join with Communist powers."

The duke, whose family title goes back to 1694, has a castle in Southern Ireland, a home in Derbyshire, England, and a residence in London. He was entertained at a reception given by the Victoria branch, Royal Commonwealth Society, this afternoon.

Shares Stolen From Home

Some $30,000 worth of shares were stolen from a Lansdowne Road home Monday, but it appears they are worthless to the thieves.

Oak Bay police doubt the shares, taken from the home of Edward Rosenthall, 3020 Lansdowne, are of any use to anyone other than the registered owner.

Cuff links, a watch, radio and some food were also taken.

AS STOP-GAP MEASURE

Send Work West Mayor Urges PM

By JIM HUME
Times City Hall Reporter

Mayor Hugh Stephen will wire Prime Minister Pearson today urging that some federal shipbuilding or ship repair programs be swung to the west coast.

The mayor said he felt that some work could be shifted west even if only as a stop-gap measure to keep the VMD shipyard active while alternate solutions to the present impasse were found.

Mayor Stephen made the statement following a long session in his office with shipyard union officials and Harold Husband, president of VMD.

'OPENLY, HONESTLY'

"It was an amicable meeting," the mayor said. "We discussed just about every facet of the problem openly and honestly. No definite proposals for the future emerged, but then we didn't expect any. The idea of the meeting was that we should get together and openly discuss the problem and that is what we did."

Mayor Stephen said he had received a telephone call from MP David Groos in Ottawa stating that the Liberal member for the area was still working on the problem but so far without definite signs of success.

The matter has, however, been placed before the prime minister and it is with this in view that the mayor was to communicate with Mr. Pearson expressing the city's concern at the loss of one of the major payrolls in the area.

"I don't think there is much else we can say at this time," the mayor said.

The announcement that VMD had built its last ship was made last Friday by Mr. Husband.

Fund Target $250,000 For New Clinic

A $650,000 building is planned on Queen Alexandra Solarium grounds by the Handicapped Children Clinic.

A capital campaign aimed at raising $250,000 will be held after the first of the new year.

Balance of the cost has been pledged by federal and provincial governments, clinic board of directors president Fred Tanner confirmed today.

Mr. Tanner said the project resulted from an offer of three acres of land by the Solarium on a 40-year lease basis. The renewable lease will cost the clinic $1 per year.

"It is all contingent on us raising the $250,000," said Mr. Tanner. He said it had not been intended to announce the drive until after the current Red Feather-Red Cross campaign.

The clinic depends on the united appeal drive for $20,000 of its annual $50,000 operating cost. The province gives an operational grant of $15,000 annually and the women's auxiliary to the clinic raises $15,000 independently.

TREATMENTS

The clinic, which now offers treatments and training to 112 youngsters, most of whom suffer from neuro-muscular ailments, opened at Royal Jubilee hospital 13 years ago.

Since then it has been forced by an expanded clientele to move to an abandoned army hut on Argyle Street. Today this is overcrowded.

"We began negotiations with the two governments a couple of years ago," said Mr. Tanner.

A staff of 19 is employed by the clinic, including four teachers and an aide who are paid by Greater Victoria School Board.

Columnist Sues Broadcaster

Bill Thomas, columnist with The Daily Colonist, has filed a suit for slander against Ralph Pashley, open-line broadcaster with radio station CKDA.

The suit, filed in B.C. Supreme Court here Wednesday, is in respect of an alleged defamatory statement made by Mr. Pashley regarding Mr. Thomas in an open-line program on Feb. 28 last.

Louis Lindholm is counsel for Mr. Thomas.

No Sale Before Summer

Victoria lost its first London barrow-boy this morning before he unlimbered his first load of fruit and flowers on the Causeway.

But there is a good chance that ex-Cockney P. H. P. Helleher, 1076 Esquimalt Road, may pop up in Bastion Square next summer with a "fresh apples—don't bruise 'em if you ain't gonna buy 'em" cry.

Mr. Helleher asked Victoria's health committee this morning for permission to operate a fresh fruit and flowers "barrer" on the Causeway.

The committee declined.

"If we allow one there will be many other requests," Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said.

City Manager Denis Young agrees, but with regret.

"I must say the idea is appealing," he said. "But I think we have to refuse."

Ald. Lily Wilson suggested a compromise.

"For a long time I have had the idea that during the summer a part of Bastion Square could be used for the sale of fresh fruits and flowers," she said. "I think it would be a pleasant and attractive addition to the Square and would be bound to attract traffic."

The rest of the committee agreed and Mr. Young was instructed to check the possibilities of operating such a miniature farmers' market in the Square during the summer months—with, naturally, at least one London "barrer boy" selling his wares.

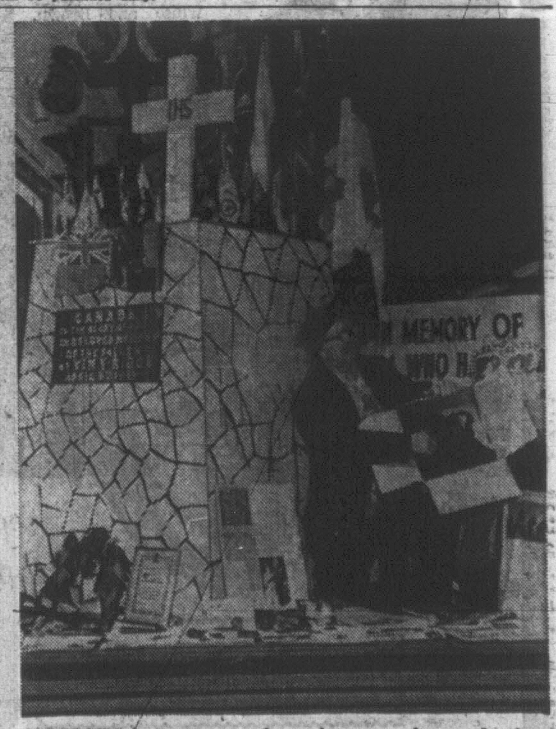

Indecent Calls

A 19-year-old youth pleaded guilty in magistrate's court today to eight counts of making indecent phone calls.

Oak Bay police testified the youth admitted to placing over 100 of the calls to women selected at random from the telephone directory.

Most of the calls took place in early July.

Magistrate Ostler remanded the case to Nov. 10 and ordered a pre-sentence and a psychiatric report.

POPPIES in memory of servicemen who made the supreme sacrifice go on sale to the public Friday evening and all day Saturday, and proceeds will go to help Victoria veterans. George Burnham, 620 Cook, displays box of poppies beside Royal Canadian Legion's memorial window display at Fort and Government. A non-denominational Remembrance Day service will be held in St. John's Anglican Church, Sunday, at 3 p.m., when Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will read the lesson.

SIDNEY, NORTH SAANICH — POLL TEST SATURDAY

Survey Hints Merger Vote Will Read 'No'

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Will residents of North Saanich and Sidney vote in favor of amalgamation?

The question is uppermost in the minds of residents of the two districts who will cast their votes for or against merger at the two municipal halls Saturday between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.

●

While the question will be decided at the polls a consensus at this date indicates the vote will be "no" unless (and this is unlikely) there is a last-minute swing.

There are several factors which appear to doom the union proposal at the present time.

The first is that a 60 per cent majority vote in each of the two municipalities is necessary. Both Sidney and North Saanich must favor union.

Another involves the social characteristics of the two districts.

Sidney, for example, has a high proportion of elderly people who are expected to vote "no" because union will mean a tax increase. Statistics show that 23 per cent of the population is under 14 years and 25 per cent over 65 years.

While the Stevenson and Kellogg report shows that Sidney will stand to gain taxwise by amalgamation in a few years, public opinion is that elderly people with limited income will vote against union.

Family incomes are also lower in Sidney than North Saanich. It averages $4,822.

●

The family income in North Saanich is $5,199, almost 8 per cent higher.

But despite higher family incomes and with fewer residents over the age of 65 (21 per cent), the majority of North Saanich voters are also expected to vote "no," but for different reasons.

The main objection to union is the fear it will result in the destruction of the rural amenities of the municipality.

This view is not shared by Sidney residents who are on the whole just as interested in preserving the open spaces of the adjoining municipality. Taxation is the only issue.

Sidney Mayor A. W. Freeman and North Saanich Reeve J. B. Cummings are divided on the subject.

Mayor Freeman feels amalgamation would be a good thing, but the people are not yet ready for it.

He feels the matter should be considered at some later date.

Reeve Cummings takes a different view.

As head and a member of various inter-municipal committees and boards dealing with such problems as sanitation, hospitals, recreation and planning, he feels union should take place now to curb rising taxes.

●

It would be cheaper to unite now than later, he believes.

Another factor induced him to bring the amalgamation to the fore and that was to find out what the residents wanted so that planning could go ahead in one direction or the other.

SHOPPING GUIDE

This English Jane Is Anything But Plain

By PENNY SAVER

A fair-haired Englishwoman, who's almost as famous as Twiggy, is in this town this week, and if you visit a downtown store you'll be bound to meet her. Mrs. Jane Toms-Smith, who many women will remember from her visit here last year, is an international beauty adviser for a well-known English cosmetic company. Since she visited us last year she's travelled 55,000 miles around the world.

There's nothing Plain Jane about this vivacious visitor, and if she has anything to say about it, you'll never fall into that category either. I've been enthusiastic about her company's products ever since I met Jane last year. It was the visitor's warmth that started my love affair with these English products, but I must admit that it was the effectiveness of the beauty preparations that finally won my heart.

One that is going to be a boon to any woman who finds it hard to look "bright-eyed and bushy-tailed" when she remembers those tiny wrinkles that become "gate-crashers" around the eyes, is a brand new product that I've already tried this week. It's great! It's a combination of fine oils and hexadecanol, that miracle-worker that conserves the natural moisture of the skin. Used on the eyelids and below the eyes at night . . . and morning, too, if you get up in time . . . it's the grandest antidote to aging eyes I've found yet. The bottle that sells for $3 will last you for months.

Not new to this line, but just as helpful at keeping the years at bay is the non-greasy lotion this company sells for the neck. Used all day, and night, too, it will help keep your jawline tight and young.

This dandy little preparation works with the efficiency of a Hollywood star's expensive face-lift job and is well worth the $4.75 a two-ounce bottle will cost.

Part of the secret of Jane's gorgeous skin is a similar lotion which is used on the face. It sells for $4.50 and is the best early-morning booster I know. I've used it for a year now under my makeup and I swear I can feel my skin firm up minutes after I've put it on.

Another new item this year, which I hope I'll find under my Christmas tree, is a gem of a travelling kit that comes in its own zippered plastic case, colored the delicate pink which I'd expect to find on the lobe of a mermaid's ear, if I ever was lucky enough to see one. Cleopatra would have given up Antony willingly had she been presented with the five beauty aids inside the case! There's moisturizer, skin food, cleansing lotion, a delightfully fragrant freshener and neck cream; everything a travelling gal should have in order to always look as if she'd just stepped out of her boudoir.

If you have a minute this week, you should drive downtown and meet Jane. She's here until Saturday evening and I guarantee that you'll find her as helpful and charming as I did. Phone me at 382-3131 and I'll tell you how to meet her.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

Advocates Using Antiques

THORNHILL, Ont. (CP)—One thing you can do with antiques is use them, says Mrs. Kenneth Smith, a Canadiana collector, and former antique shop manager.

That's her answer to those who hesitate to buy something they like because they aren't sure what they could do it with when they get home.

"Everything from the past has its use. You have to look at the old thing without being prejudiced by the fact that it is old."

But one thing Mrs. Smith cannot abide is altering an old item to the point where it is beyond restoration—such as converting a butter churn into a lamp.

President Mrs. A. C. Wurtele (extreme left) and Mrs. Brigadier V. C. Underhill, assisted by one of the residents, Mrs. Kerridge, will greet the guests when the Women's Auxiliary to the Salvation Army Matson Lodge holds a tea and sale this Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Lodge. The affair will be opened by Mrs. Ray Bryant, wife of the Esquimalt reeve. Seen here with Mrs. Wurtele, left to right, are Brigadier G. M. Bradley, Mrs. Al Smith, Mrs. M. Weightman and Mrs. J. Perestam.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Home Decor Not Son's Choice

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After 18 years, my husband and I are finally building our dream house. Our problem is our 14-year-old son, Clyde. He thinks we should decorate it according to his taste instead of our own.

My husband and I like Early American but Clyde likes modern. We compromised and decorated his bedroom in modern, but he isn't satisfied. He wants us to decorate the family room in modern, too. Clyde says if we do it in our "square" Early American style he will not bring any of his friends over. We want him to have his friends over, but we've worked hard for this lovely new home, and think we should be able to decorate it the way we want to. Your opinion would be greatly appreciated.

TROUBLED MOTHER.

DEAR MOTHER: It's one thing for a 14-year-old to express a preference in decor, but for him to threaten his parents with refusing to bring his friends home unless he gets his own way, I think is a bit much. Do the family room in Early American, and I'll bet Clyde will overlook the "squareness" and come 'round' with his friends.

DEAR ABBY: I have read your column for years and this is the first time I have ever felt compelled to write and protest one of your answers. It is in regard to "Concerned and Furious," who was upset over a neighbor's allowing her preschool children to play in the nude in the back yard in full view of the public.

Abby, what "public"? Busybodies who have nothing more important to do than watch their neighbors? They should be concerned for their own dirty minds. And you, Dear Abby, should be ashamed for advising them to "call the police, who will inform those neighbors in question of the risks involved with nudity of small children."

But perhaps with people like you, everything has a dirty meaning, yes, maybe those children are in danger.

Try cleaning up your own thoughts before you censor the thoughts of others.

ALSO FURIOUS.

DEAR ALSO: Hold it. I see nothing "dirty" about nudity in children. Nor would I have objections to children playing in a fenced-in area—away from the public view, or where their mother could keep her eye on them. But there are risks in allowing nude children to play in full view of the public and in an area not fenced-in. True, no healthy-minded person would look twice at a naked child, but how about the off chance that some mentally deranged person might wander by and become aroused at such a sight?

If you doubt that this can happen, check with any homicide squad. They have on file records too hideous to describe here of crimes perpetrated on such children.

DEAR ABBY: When all a lady could find in the way of shoes were those pointed toes with narrow high heels, you had a letter of protest in your column.

Today, the sensible shoes are back, thank heavens, but look what has happened to the dresses. Let's be honest. No one over 22 years of age looks good in a mini-skirt. Don't say, "the men like them," because their reasons for defending mini-skirts are obviously selfish.

Lest you think I am being defensive, I am a 52-year-old grandmother and still wear a size 12.

I am not opposed to young people having their fads in dress, but they don't have to take over the entire fashion world. It's unfair and ridiculous!

The only good thing I can say about the new clothes is they're saving me money, for I refuse to buy the "garbage" being shown today.

DISGUSTED.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Beautiful Neck Is Achieved By Good Posture, Exercise

Are you just a neck away from beauty? The neck gives women as much or more trouble than the face. One reason for this is that many women who take good care of their face neglect their neck. Also, the neck is a victim of poor posture as the face isn't.

Lowman

Crepey neck, lined neck, sallow neck and stringy neck are the main complaints. All of these, with the exception of the sallow neck, can be greatly improved by improving posture, and by exercise. Try to keep your chin parallel to the floor and push up with the top of your head so that you feel a lightness at the back of the neck.

Exercise can fill out atrophied muscles and can stretch those which have shortened. The muscles under the chin tend to become tense and shorter. To remedy this do the following exercise. Lower the head backward as far as you can. Lift the head. Continue, slowly. Hold the head in the backward position for a few moments while you feel the pull on the underchin muscles.

Also do this. Apply a generous amount of lubricating cream to your neck. Lower your head backward. Hold your head in this position while you place the edge of your left hand just under the chin. Push up and back with the hand. Hold while you count to six. Relax and repeat a few times.

For filling out the neck lie on your back on a bed, with your head and shoulders hanging off the edge of the bed. Lift the head and try to touch the chin to the chest. Slowly lower head and continue.

Now let's deal with that old enemy, the sallow neck. It helps to stir up circulation. There are circulation creams available for this purpose or you can do a do-it-yourself job. Stimulate circulation with a complexion brush and lots of soap suds. One of the soaps with cream in it is good one to use.

For bleaching try buttermilk with some lemon juice added. Do not use too much juice or it may be irritating, and anyway, it will make the mixture too thin to remain on the neck. Leave this on for a half-hour, and then rinse off.

Always apply lubricating cream to your neck every time you apply it to your face. Also, remember to extend your facial makeup all the way to the base of your neck so that there is no line of demarcation.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Is Your Chinline a Pain in the Neck?" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Pipers Frank Knight and Ray Gandy of the Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's) Regiment will pipe in the grand march and members of the Victoria Girls' Drill team will act as markers. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes will be the honor guests. The aide-de-camp in attendance will be Wing-Cmdr. C. C. Margerison. Mrs. Margerison will also be present.

Other special guests who will be attending are Mayor Hugh Stephen and Mrs. Stephen, Alderman and Mrs. Percy Frampton, Alderman and Mrs. Robert Baird, Alderman and Mrs. C. M. Parrott, Alderman Lily Wilson, Police Commissioner Mr. J. G. Martin and Mrs. Martin, Police Commissioner G. Carter and Mrs. Carter, Supt. G. W. Mortimer, RCMP, and Mrs. Mortimer; Deputy Chief Constable J. Fisk and Mrs. Fisk of Vancouver, Fire Chief Eric Simons and Mrs. Simons, Lt.-Col. H. C. Pitts, QOR of Canada, and Mrs. Pitts; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hadfield.

The festivities begin at 9 p.m.

Dinner Guest

Mr. Campoli will give a recital on Friday evening at 8 in the auditorium of the Education and Arts Building on the University of Victoria campus. His accompanist will be Mr. Robin Wood. Following the recital, the artists will be entertained at dinner in the McPherson Playhouse Restaurant by Prof. Peter Garvie and Mrs. Garvie. Also attending the dinner will be Mrs. Wood and Dr. George Hendrie, chairman of the division of music at the university.

Farewell Party

A farewell party will be held for Miss Audrey Smale and Miss Koljeet Dheensaw on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Davies, 1518 Athlone Drive. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Davies, who is Miss Smale's sister; Mrs. J. Burdge and Mrs. R. Ralph. Miss Smale and Miss Dheensaw will leave Saturday for India. En route they will spend two days in Tokyo and one week in Hong Kong. Miss Smale will be gone three months and will visit her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Duke in New Delhi. She may visit England on the way home. Miss Dheensaw will remain in India for a year.

Novel Cake

Mrs. M. Martin made a "typewriter" cake, complete in every detail for a surprise shower, given by Mrs. J. Richardson in her Quadra Street home for bride-elect, Miss Linda Mae Fitzpatrick. Gifts were in a decorated basket, and the bride-elect's chosen attendants, the Misses Lynn Jordan and Jan Watt, assisted her in opening the gifts. The honor guest received white carnations en corsage and a similar corsage in red and white was presented to her mother, Mrs. I. Fitzpatrick.

Three University of British Columbia students have been awarded annual bursaries by the Ladies' Pharmaceutical Auxiliary (Victoria). They are, left to right, Miss Diane Boughey, who is in her final year of pharmacy; Miss Linda McDonald, who received the University of Victoria bursary and is now in her first year of pharmacy, and Miss Donna Wallace, a final year pharmacy student.

Saturday Bazaar

Queen City Chapter No. 5, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its annual bazaar this coming Saturday from 2 to 4:30 p.m. in the K of P Hall. The event will be officially opened by Dr. W. W. Bell, past grand patron of the Grand Chapter of British Columbia.

Proceeds from the bazaar will be used to further OES support of cancer research and the free cancer dressing station.

Presiding at the head table will be the worthy matrons of other local chapters. They are Mrs. J. Pinninger, Mrs. H. Wolf, Mrs. E. Le Dain, Mrs. J. Hunter, Miss J Stancombe, Mrs. P. Jessiman and Mrs. I. Park.

General convener is Mrs. R. Sadfrey and tea conveners are Mrs. M. Stevenson and Mrs. M. Cummings. Tea hostess will be Mrs. N. Houston.

There will be a variety of stalls, including small gifts, penny ante, home produce, candy, post office, superfluities, home cooking, aprons, a delicatessen, fish pond and fancywork.

Bingo will be played, there will be a cake walk and several raffles.

Visitors from Space

By PAT DUFOUR

A space ship landed on the stage of the Oak Bay Junior Secondary School's auditorium, Wednesday evening, and there wasn't a single sign of panic in the large audience that witnessed its arrival.

The ship's crew was mostly female, although three men rounded out the complement. The heavy balance on the distaff side was due to the fact that the ship's arrival was the colorful finale to an imaginative presentation "Coiffurely Yours," presented by Raymond Salons Limited and sponsored by the Alpha Zeta Chpater of Beta Sigma Phi.

One of the spacemen had a rounded head that gleamed of chrome and another had puckish ears that seemed to reach up and back to the planet he'd supposedly had left. The third male was a realistic interpretation of a future robot.

The women crew members were just as strange to modern eyes. Their uniforms were black jump suits, titivated with silver collars and wide belts. Each became feminine only when you saw their different choice of color for their high boots and gazed in awe at their way-out—or rather, way-up hairdos. They glittered with baubles resembling colorful galaxies of stars and were swirled in curls and formations that even a meteor couldn't imitate. The unusual "guests" were the show's interpretation of what may be seen 100 years from now.

The landing was preceded by an evening that was full of ideas to inspire any woman who's looking for a change of hairstyle. With skill and speed, teams of hairdressers came on stage to transform a veritable army of "customers" by coaxing their coiffures into a variety of designs, and creating topside magic with the use of postiches, wigs, wiglets and falls. The latter are about 12 inches in length and versatile enough to provide a short-haired lass with curls at her shoulders or give her a more sophisticated hairdo, regal enough for any queen.

The mix-and-match flair has hit the hair scene. Many of the wiglets were in two tones, giving extra verve to milady's topknot. One particularly striking example was presented when a model with silver blonde hair capped it with a midnight black wig, having her own bangs swept back over it to give an ethereal wing-like effect.

One grandmother entered into the spirit of things by having her grey hair bolstered with a wiglet to tone that was prettied with tiny blue bows to match the gown she wore.

Like any good show, there was a bridal scene. The bride and groom on this occasion were both members of the salon staff and had, in actual fact, tied the marriage knot late this summer. Anything but conventional in appearance, the bride wore a white minidress and white lace stockings. Her dark hair could have doubled for a bouquet. It was raised high and flattered with a garden of white flowers.

One of the hair styles that received overall approval was a close-cropped Grecian design that whispered of femininity yet was created for a woman who leads an active life. Commentator Ruth Sinclair told the audience that this was one style that could be actually created by running fingers through the hair.

This plain can contains the best buffable floor wax in the world!

It's buffable. The best all-floor buffable liquid wax on the market. With a shine that is every bit as deep as that of the finest paste wax, a shine that outlasts paste wax and you can damp-mop it and re-buff it over and over again.

How's that for an easy-to-use liquid wax? And it works on any floor, be it wood, tile, cork or linoleum.

We must mention here that it costs more than ordinary waxes. We don't think you'll mind because you'll save in the long run – on money and work.

And that's a promise.

Italian Couturiers Like Navy and White

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI)—Italian fashion designers think mother was right when she said there is nothing like navy blue with a touch of white for spring.

International fashion experts seem to agree with them because one of the most applauded collections in today's knitwear shows was toned in on navy and white.

The Milan knitwear house of Cadette also reflected the Italian fashion world's marked nostalgia for the good old days of the 1930s. The hemlines of the collection's navy and white outfits all hit well below the knee. Suit jackets had wide lapels, usually faced in white and adorned with a flower in the buttonhole.

Avagold also played up the blue and white theme. Maljana, another Milan knitwear designer, added touches of red or yellow to the basic mixture.

Today's knitwear collections wind up three days of spring-summer style shows in Florence. Designers presented their high fashion ready-to-wear and boutique styles as well as knits.

AT WEDNESDAY SHOW

Jungle Makes Fashion Hit

Exotic jungle colors set in the opulent fabrics of French velvets, silks and chiffons and many magic new synthetics will step out of milday's boudoir this season and be worn for dining and dancing.

Such was the prediction at the showing of "Dream Fashions," held in the McPherson Playhouse restaurant on Wednesday.

Canadian lounge-wear, featuring the award-winning Clair Haddad fashions, and Bards and Carolyn Wear designs, were on show from "Impacts and Imports."

Fashions were only part of the picture at the affair for all the Centennial Square merchants were represented. "The Handloom" put on a display of Canadian handicrafts and the "Book Nook" designed a display table of new publications.

McPherson Restaurant provided the delicious tea and pastries, to say nothing of the perfect backdrop of the sunlit square.

Fashion held the spotlight, though. Reminiscent of African drum beats was a velvet coat, printed with black, shocking pink and orange on a green ground . . . or a silk brown and white zebra-striped kaftan.

The Oriental look of Japan appeared in an orchid-toned cut velvet kimono, finished with a wide orchid tulle cumburbund and kimono sleeves . . . a dress for at-home lounging or the most sumptuous dinner party.

The romantic look will never die, and an Ariel-like mini-gown of green and yellow chiffon complete with a chiffon cape that shimmered to the hemline was the epitome of this fashion favorite. A gown of white French cut velvet, featuring a muted gold design and trimmed with a blond mink collar, was fit for a fairy princess.

Life of Boredom for Seamen Aboard Ships Trapped in Suez Canal

. . . FOR ARTILLERY DUELS

GREAT BITTER LAKE (AP) — It's kind of boring, being a stranded Suez seaman.

It's also nerve-wracking, sometimes, wondering whether a stray shell from the occasional artillery duel might blow you up.

Five months after the Israeli-Arab war in June, 14 ships and their crews still find themselves stranded in Egypt's Suez Canal.

Some things do change.

When the war broke out, the American freighter African Glen was on her way back from South Vietnam under charter from the U.S. defence department.

Steaming in the opposite direction in the Suez Canal was the Bulgarian cargo ship Vassil Levsky, headed for North Vietnam.

Today, the two ships lie anchored almost side by side in the canal's Great Bitter Lake, trapped with 12 other vessels by the war's closure of the canal.

At first there was a coolness between the crews of the African Glen and the Vassil Levsky, but soon a comradeship developed because of their common plight.

"We became like members of one family," said one American.

Anchored here are two American ships, four British, two Polish, the Bulgarian, one Czechoslovakian, one French, one West German and two Swedish vessels.

Shortly after the canal was closed by the fighting and sunken obstacles, most of the Americans were sent home but skeleton crews remained on board.

One doctor aboard the Polish ship Djakarta gives free services to all ships.

Egyptian authorities send tugs regularly to the ships with food, fresh water and medical help when required.

"Boredom and uncertainty are our worst enemy," said Capt. Joseph Arena, skipper of the African Glen.

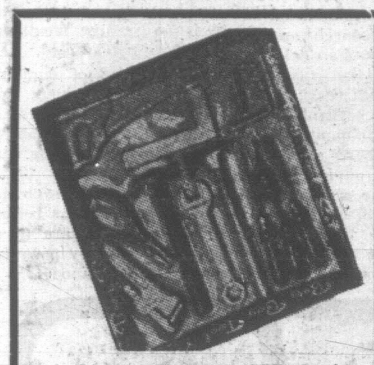

Some of the seamen race with lifeboats and small sailing boats.

The seamen have seen artillery duels between Egyptian and Israeli forces as shells fly across the canal.

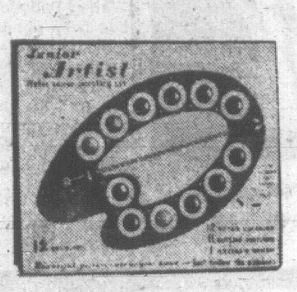

"But we are never in danger," said one seaman. "We understand no one would intentionally hit us."

Sometimes the seamen go ashore and drive to Cairo for relaxation.

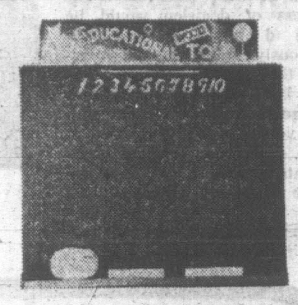

Seamen complain of slow mail delivery from home. But they have enough food and drink, they said.

'Gov't Adviser Helped Me' Says Levesque

QUEBEC (CP)—Former cabinet minister Rene Levesque said Wednesday a key economic adviser to the Quebec government helped formulate the Levesque proposal for a sovereign Quebec within a Canadian economic union.

Mr. Levesque told a student audience at Laval University he received help from Jacques Parizeau, adviser to the Quebec cabinet on federal-provincial affairs who until recently was the cabinet's leading economic adviser.

Mr. Parizeau, an economist, was engaged by the former Liberal government. He helped draft the Quebec pension plan and continued as cabinet adviser for the Union Nationale government of Premier Daniel Joshnson.

He resigned recently as full-time economic adviser to the Union Nationale government to resume teaching at a Montreal university but he remains cabinet adviser on fiscal and economic affairs.

Mr. Levesque recently quit the Quebec Liberal party which branded him and his sovereign state thesis as separatist. He since has reiterated his view that a majority of Quebeckers will rally round the idea within four years.

Student members of the Liberal club at Laval who resigned from the party along with Mr. Levesque, presented him with a petition of support Wednesday.

CAMP'S VIEW

Straight-Talkers Rising in Politics

TORONTO (CP)—A new breed of man is moving into politics with a dynamic combination of brains and muscle and a no-nonsense outlook, Dalton Camp predicted Wednesday night.

Speaking at a Toronto dinner, the national president of the Progressive Conservative party forecast better parties, politicians and parliaments in Canada and sweeping political changes across the country.

There will be a decrease in anti-Americanism brought about by the weakening of ties with Britain, Mr. Camp said. The Canada of the future will have little anger or despair.

Mr. Camp said what has distinguished Canada as a nation was "our furtive, virulent anti-Americanism—the envy and the fear of another culture. . . ."

Mr. Camp said anti-Americanism could destroy initiative and sap energy in Canada.

Predicting that the new breed was coming not to learn, but to lead, Mr. Camp said the new generation is not interested in ideology, dogma or the past.

The profound political decision of the new generation would be over leadership. The process of decision would be more democratic, more rigorously selective and "neither the existing hierarchy nor the back-room establishment are going to have the determinant voice."

Mr. Camp said he did not anticipate finding many politicians in the future who know the right answers. "What we must look for are politicians who will ask the right questions."

Wasp Eggs Spoiled

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI)—Embryos in some eggs laid by wasps which orbited the earth in a satellite showed genetic changes from radiation and died, it was disclosed here Tuesday. The finding parallels the experience of scientists studying other insects and organisms in the same satellite, it was reported.

Sue Bureaucrats For Pollution—MD

British Columbia's civil servants should be sued for allowing sewage to pollute the province's inland and coastal waters, Dr. James McAnulty said Wednesday.

Dr. McAnulty is public health representative for Canada on the International Association on Water Pollution Research and has been named Canadian delegate to the association's conference in Prague next year.

"The archaic civil servants in the B.C. health department and Pollution Control Board should be sued for the bad advice and disinterest they have shown in pollution," he said in an interview.

Dr. McAnulty was a medical health officer at Trail until he was fired in May, 1965, for insubordination by speaking out against a sewage disposal system in nearby Castlegar.

Now in general medical practice in Oyama, in the Okanagan, Dr. McAnulty said government health officers in North Dakota have been sued and so have engineers whose promises on sewage treatment systems were not fulfilled.

He said instead of dumping sewage into lakes, rivers and the ocean, it should be stored in long ditches where natural biological agents will cause it to decay.

He charged that the provincial government is "15 years behind the times—they are using principles proposed by powerful bureaucracies of engineers."

43-VEHICLE SMASH-UP ON ONTARIO FREEWAY

STREETSVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Heavy fog along the four-lane Macdonald-Cartier Freeway near this community 12 miles west of Toronto Wednesday caused a massive traffic pileup involving 33 automobiles and 10 transport trucks which sent at least 20 persons to hospital.

About 15 ambulances were called to remove the injured.

One witness described the stretch of highway between Cooksville and Milton as "a five-mile battlefield" with vehicles interlocked, overturned and damaged.

PSYCHIATRIC NURSES:

Government 'Broke Word' On Work, Pay Agreement

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Psychiatric Nurses Association of B.C. said Wednesday the provincial government has broken its word in refusing to implement recommendations involving wages and working conditions.

The association said in a statement that the government has introduced recommended wage increases of $36 to $55 a month but has changed recommended terms covering holidays.

The statement said the government is also considering recommendations on shift differentials, anniversary vacations and increases in standby-call time.

The association and the government agreed last May that a fact-finding committee's recommendations would be binding. The committee was appointed when nurses agreed to withdraw resignation letters tendered en-masse.

The recommendations and terms recommended by the committee have not been officially revealed.

But Lloyd Whalen, Teamsters organizer and the nurses nominee on the committee, told a meeting Wednesday that the recommendations called for wage scales of $426 to $517 a month, retroactive to last April 1, to replace present levels of $392 to $462. He said A. G. Richardson, the government nominee, dissented.

Unanimity was reached on recommendations calling for 10 statutory paid holidays retroactive to April, 75-cent-an-hour differential for afternoon and night shifts, a call time increase to six hours from four, and a six-week anniversary vacation after 25 years service.

Dwight Wenham, association executive secretary, said the nurses "are going to stick to our word and accept them (the recommendations) as binding."

He said an executive meeting will be called within two weeks to determine a course of action.

Police Hold Man, 79, In Stabbing

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 79-year-old man is expected to be charged today in connection with the knife slaying Wednesday of newspaper vendor George Eddlestone, 53.

However, police said it is unlikely their suspect will ever go to trial because of medical reasons.

Eddlestone was killed amid crowds of people at his downtown newspaper stand.

The former Edmonton man lay for several minutes on the crowded sidewalk gasping while passersby stopped, watched, but did nothing.

Police arrested a man at the scene and seized a jack knife with a four-inch blade.

"The poor little man just lay there, gasping for breath," said Mrs. June Morel, a sales clerk in a nearby dress store.

"The other man—the one who did the stabbing, I guess—just stood there, waiting. He had dropped the knife; it lay on the pavement near the news vendor.

"Quite a few people gathered around, but nobody did anything for the little man on the sidewalk. I suppose they shouldn't have moved him or anything, but it all seemed so pathetic."

"Newsie Jack" Kanchikoff, a long-time newspaper vendor on a corner nearby, put up his own headline as soon as he heard about the slaying.

"Sun and Province news vendor stabbed to death at Howe and Georgia," he scribbled on a piece of cardboard.

A friend of the dead man said he had not been in Vancouver long. He said Eddlestone used to sell newspapers in Edmonton and had previously worked as a farmer.

MRS. HANSON
. . . slain in school

Soldier Held In Shooting Of Teacher

DUNDEE, Scotland (AP)—A 19-year-old Scottish army private was charged today with the murder of a woman schoolteacher after invading her classroom and holding her and 11 teen-age girls captive for 90 minutes.

Pte. Robert Francis Mone of Dundee was accused of killing Mrs. Nanette Hanson, a 26-year-old needlework teacher at St. John's high school.

Mone, a former pupil at the school, was on leave from a British army unit in West Germany. He was to have returned today.

A judge ordered him held for further examination. No motive for the crime was given.

Police said Mone entered Mrs. Hanson's classroom brandishing a shotgun and kept the 11 pupils captive for 45 minutes before he released them.

After another 45 minutes, in which several shots were fired, tracker dogs cornered the youth and police subdued him.

Mrs. Hanson died in hospital, shot in the abdomen. Some of the girls were treated for shock.

Tribunal Approved

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Lord Bertrand Russell's self-styled war crimes tribunal won government clearance Tuesday to conduct a 10-day session on the Vietnam war in Denmark starting Nov. 20. In a reversal of the government's position, Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag said foreigners who are to attend the tribunal will be admitted to Denmark.

PERCH HAUL UP

In Lake Ontario the catch of perch nearly doubled to 138,000 pounds for the first six months of 1967 from 71,000 in the same period of 1966.

Wales School Picked

LONDON (UPI) — Prince Charles, 18-year-old heir to the British throne, plans to attend the University College of Wales in the summer of 1969. An announcement from Buckingham Palace today said Charles, now a freshman at Cambridge University, would study history, language and current problems of Wales.

Film Raises Libel Scream From Haiti

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Haiti told the U.S. Wednesday it found nothing funny in the movie The Comedians, and protested its showing before the North American public as a libelous assault on the island republic.

Haitian ambassador Arthur Bonhomme filed the complaint in a three-page letter to Secretary of State Rusk after he attended a private screening of the film written by British author Graham Greene.

BASED ON NOVEL

The movie is based on a Greene novel set in Haiti under the regime of President Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier. It was filmed in the West African republic of Dahomey after Duvalier's government refused to let the movie makers into his country.

Bonhomme wrote Rusk that Haiti never would permit such "aggression or assaults to take place on its territory against the prestige and the dignity of the noble American people, government or president."

He sent another, sizzling complaint to the movie's producer, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Neither MGM nor the state department commented.

The movie, starring Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton and Alec Guinness, opened in New York City Tuesday night and received favorable reviews.

One critic said the "most agitating aspect" of the film "is the sinister image it presents of a rigid reign of terror in a Caribbean country under a black dictatorship."

UTTERLY DISTORTED

Bonhomme charged the film "constitutes an inflammatory libel against Haiti and has been publicly released to mislead the American people." He called it an "utterly distorted picture."

The ambassador said Haiti was depicted with "a wrecked port, dirty customs, shabby taxis, dilapidated hotels and houses, broken-up streets and roads, crippled beggars, voodoo worshippers and killers."

'Filled Milk' Worries U.S. Dairy Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economically troubled U.S. dairy industry—still feeling the effects of oleomargarine's inroads on its once lucrative butter market—now faces a threat to milk sales from an inexpensive new substitute.

Generally referred to as "filled" or "imitation" milk, the new product is being offered at prices several cents a quart below that of milk.

As in the case of oleomargarine, the new milk uses vegetable fats in place of the more expensive dairy fats.

What to do about it is something the National Milk Producers Federation will debate at its convention in Miami Beach, Fla., Nov. 12-16.

Filled milk already is well established in western states and making its way east. Its rising sales curve comes at a time when many dairymen claim inadequate milk prices are forcing them out of business.

Big Game Hunters In B.C.'s Gunsight

The B.C. government will speed up its efforts to reorganize the big game hunting business so that it will attract more customers and begin drawing them from as far away as Europe.

That apparently was the determination of Travel Industry Minister Kenneth Kiernan who returned Wednesday from a European tour to seek ideas for promoting tourism here.

Mr. Kiernan said the province hasn't even begun to tap the European market for tours to North America and it will have to develop a variety of "package tours" to do so.

A good way to start would be to develop big game hunting trips for Europeans and this will be given emphasis for the present, he said in a press conference.

Mr. Kiernan added that the recreation and conservation department was completing a reorganization of the hunting guide services in the province.

BASTION ACTRESS

Got Start Playing Shy Animals Karen Tackles Big 'Kate' Role

By KATHRINE THOMAS

Karen Austin was 13 when she decided to become an actress.

But in school, she always played animal parts.

"My teachers though I was too shy," she says.

It's not true anymore — for Bastion Theatre this season, she's playing the tempestuous Kate in The Taming of the Shrew and Corrie in Barefoot in the Park.

"I've been dying to play Kate for years," Karen says, "but I never thought anyone would let me do it. Corrie is a marvellous part too — it's a lot of fun playing in a light comedy.

"The parts aren't similar — but the core of both girls is essentially the same. They both discover love — learn they have to make a sacrifice too."

Karen's first important theatrical experience was watching a performance of Peter Pan in London, Ontario, when she was 11.

AUSTIN
. . . never shy now

DRIVEN TO ACT

"The thing that bothered me was that next day all the actors could go back and do it again. I couldn't stand it — they still had it, but it was lost to me. I think that feeling has driven me to act."

Summers watching the Stratford Shakespearean Festival also proved a strong incentive.

"I got a good training from just listening. I remember being so moved by Christopher Plummer's Hamlet, that I couldn't talk for hours."

Karen wanted to enter the National Theatre School in Montreal after two years at the University of Alberta, but her mother advised her to get her BA in drama first.

She's glad she did.

"Nobody is the worse for any kind of learning. You bring to the theatre, to each role you do at the time, everything you are — so why rush it."

Before entering the school, Karen spent a summer as an apprentice at Stratford.

LONELY LIFE

"While I was there, I realized how lonely an actor's life could be. I would watch the actors walk on stage for rehearsal. They would talk to each other, touch each other, but I had the overwhelming feeling they were all so alone.

"Because of the nature of an actor's work, you have to keep moving all the time. Of necessity, your friends stem from the people with whom you work. It can be very lonely. I'm terribly happy to be settled in Victoria for seven months."

Karen spent three important years at the National Theatre School.

"I'm very much in favor of training for an actor, formal or informal, though it's harder to do on your own. Your voice, body and imagination all need to be developed and you need to be in isolation — in an atmosphere where you can fail."

After graduating, Karen worked with the Cincinnati Playhouse in the Park and spent four months as a member of Manitoba Theatre Centre's Young Company — touring schools and performing in children's theatre.

OUT OF WORK

Then in Toronto she was out of work for a long time.

"I had 30 seconds on CBC's Wojeck and one second on Festival. I was very unhappy, but then I got a six-month job with the Crest Hour Company touring Ontario schools."

Karen auditioned for Peter Mannering by using a tape recorder.

"It was better than the usual audition — I could sit there and erase what I didn't want."

She has no immediate plans after the Bastion season.

RARE CHINESE VASES STOLEN FROM MUSEUM

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Yale University confirmed Wednesday that four rare Chinese porcelain vases, valued at more than $432,000, have been stolen. In September, Yale's Peabody Museum of Natural History reported the objects were missing but was unsure whether they were stolen or misplaced.

FAIRY TALE TREASURE

Miniature Palace Sold, Will Remain Showpiece

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP) — Titania's Palace, the fairy tale treasure auctioned last week at Christie's in aid of children's charities, will be kept as a national showpiece by its new owners and may tour Canada and other countries.

Baron Keyes, one of two partners who bought the miniature palace for 30,000 guineas ($94,500), says he has had " a lot of encouragement from a very well-known Canadian" in Britian who offered help in organizing such a tour. Lord Keyes said he could not disclose the Canadian's identity.

The 49-year-old baron plans to exhibit the palace for six months of the year in his 17th-century stately home at Leith Hill, a noted Surrey beauty spot. During the summer it will go to the other partner, Olive Hodgkinson, who own Wookey Hole Caves in Somerset, a spectacular natural wonder that she calls "the oldest stately home in England."

The caves date from the pre-Christian era. Mrs. Hodgkinson plans to erect a special building for Titania's Palace nearby. In Keyes' home it will occupy a room where it has already been on show for the last year.

HAS GREAT DETAIL

The palace, which measures eight feet 10 inches long by seven feet six inches wide, is built in Italian renaissance style of mahogany ornamented with bronze. It contains exquisite miniature furniture, paintings, porcelain, tapestries and other works of art, some of great antiquity. Detail is complete down to Titania's gold-and-enamel lorgnette.

Sir Neville Wilkinson, an Irish nobelman, designed it in 1907 for his three-year-old daughter, Gwendoline.

The palace, which took 15 years to complete, was offigially opened by Queen Mary in 1922. Gwendoline Wilkinson, now 64, became a member of the Titania Palace trust, which put the palace up for sale after years of touring it for children's charities.

It has been seen by several million people around the world and has raised more than $300,000.

SPACE TOYS ON RISE

By KARIN MOSER

MONTREAL (CP)—The kids never had it so good.

A fantastic array of space toys are likely to push the long-disputed war toys far into the background on department store shelves during the Christmas shopping season this year.

They will include rockets, space crawlers—a spider-like vehicle supposed to crawl over the surface of planets just as a car travels over earth-planet and stations and entire planet exploring outfits.

Previewed Tuesday by the Canadian Toy Manuracturers' Association, the glittering toys are enough to delight the heart of the most precocious child.

There are planet surface probing vehicles, dress-up dolls that fly and a balloon-suspended craft that operates in a controlled air stream from earth to planet stations.

"It takes time for adult inventions to travel to the world of children," said Dennis Tiberiis of Toronto, president of the association.

"But once the kids latch onto something, it's really in. War toys have not disappeared completely, but they've certainly taken a backseat to space toys."

STORIES BILINGUAL

For parents who want to introduce youngsters to either the French or English language there are bilingual "storykins." These consist of a set of six recorded favorite fairy tales, including Cinderella and Goldilocks. The story is related in French on one side of the disc and in English on the other.

"All the toys created today are non-allergic, rust-proof, durable, and in most instances contain no sharp edges on which children can hurt themselves," said Mr. Tiberiis. "Colors cannot be chewed off and toys can be washed.

"There is also a return to metal toys for cars, tow trucks and fire engines as they stand up better under wear and tear than plastic versions."

Perennial favorites, and strong sellers include chemistry sets, games, tricycles and coasters.

"For 1967 the volume of sales is expected to exceed $180,000,000," said Mr. Tiberiis.

"That is on the retail level. More than 80 per cent of the toys sold are manufactured in Canada and exports account for more than $2,000,000,000."

FAMED GARAGE DOOMED

CHICAGO (AP)—A garage on the North Side where seven gangsters were assasinated on St. Valentine Day, 1929, soon will be razed to make way for a home for the elderly. The brick garage was front-page news when seven of George (Bugs) Moran's men were lined up against a wall inside and cut down by machine-gun fire. The killings were laid to rivalry between Moran's and Al Capone's gangs.

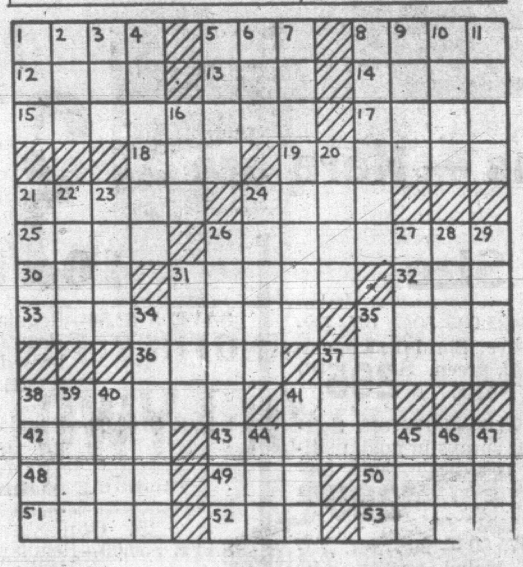

Withdrawal Moved Up

LONDON (AP) — The British government has decided to complete its military and political withdrawal from turbulent South Arabia by Nov. 30, 40 days ahead of schedule, informed diplomatic sources reported Tuesday night. The speed-up is to be announced in Parliament Thursday by Foreign Secretary George Brown. Informants said the withdrawal is designed to impel rival nationalist groups into an agreement on formation of the successor government.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a World Book Atlas.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Gemma Courtado, age 13, of Flushing, New York, for her question:

Does the pineapple belong to the apple plant family?

Columbus was one of the first Europeans to taste a pineapple. The warlike Caribans were then in the West Indies after vanquishing much of South America. Their language was an offshoot of the Tupian speech of the Amazon basin and their word for the spiky pineapple sounded something like nana. The Spanish borrowed and modified this native word. After no doubt smacking their lips in appreciation, they sent some of these nanas (eq) to the folks back home. However, since the tropical plant is choosy about soil and weather, Europeans could not grow it in quantities.

But they liked the juicy bite of its rare flavor. And what they liked they named. Apart from a few botany experts, few people were familiar with plant classification. To them, the fruit of fruits was the apple. It was plentiful, easy to store and easy to grow. What's more, the image of the apple as the fruit of fruits was rooted deeply in their legends and history. The botanists knew that the apple tree belongs in the fruity Roseaceae family, along with the cherries and plums, strawberries and blackberries, raspberries, loganberries and peaches.

It seemed logical, then, to think of the big, meaty fruit from the New World as some kind of apple. Pine trees also were very familiar. Everybody knew the handsome geometric design of a pinecone by heart. And, of course, the strange fruit looked like a coconut-sized pinecone. Everyone agreed that a more suitable name than pineapple could not be found for it. Nobody got around to investigating the basic family characteristics of certain relatives of the pineapple until the 17th century. This botanical investigation proved beyond question that pineapples are unrelated to the apple family.

Specie Transplanted

The botanical detective responsible for this clarification was Olaf Bromel of Sweden. His work began with a number of epiphytes of tropical America. These aerial plants are smallish herbs that attach themselves high on the boughs of jungle trees. Some of them bear stuepndous, gaudy blooms. Their unique features merited them a plant genus of their own and the genus was named Bromelia in honor of Olaf Bromel.

About 1,000 other plants with the same basic features have been classified, forming a family of 40 genera. Bromel's name was borrowed and given a Latin twist to name it. It is the plant family Bromeliaceae. One of its members is the aerial epiphyte called Spanish moss. The pineapple is one of the few soil-growing members of the plant family Bromeliaceae. Its genus term is borrowed from its original Indian name and its species name meaning bristly. The non-apple pineapple goes under the name of Ananas comosus.

Since the days of Columbus, the pineapple has been transplanted to many suitable new locations around the world. Commerical plantations flourish in Hawaii and the Philippines and also in their ancestral American homes. Meantime Spanich moss grows in wild festoons on our southern quick oaks.

★ ★ ★

Andy sends a 14" World Book Globe to Edgar Reynolds, age 11, of Mentor, Ohio, for his question:

Where is the constellation Draco?

It is possible to find this snaky constellation on any clear night in the year. But the best viewing is late spring and early summer when Draco is at its highest above the northern horizon. It is a constellation of the Northern Hemisphere which means that south of the equator it is out of sight. Since it is visible to us throughout the year, Draco is a circumpolar constellation. With a group of other constellations it cirlces the sky around Polaris, the North Star. Only one of its 18 or so visible stars is outstandingly bright. But when you know where to look, you can find them.

The general pattern is a snaky dragon. Find the two pointer stars in the Big Dipper. The tip of Draco's tail is about 10 degrees along the line of Polaris. The tail continues with a widely spaced row of dim stars between the Big Dipper and the Little Dipper. It curves around the bowl of the Little Dipper and then the snaky body turns and swerves back. The dragon's head faces away from Polaris. The tail and body are a single line of dim stars. The head is a triangular group of five visible stars and one of Draco's starry eyes is much brighter than the other.

OFF NEW ENGLAND COAST

Soviet Trawler Fleet Outfishing U.S. Rivals

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) —A streamlined and efficient Soviet trawler fleet now outfishes U.S. rivals off the New England coast.

Huge Soviet catches from Georges Bank have raised fears that the area is being over-exploited. There are demands from the U.S. fishing industry for sharply increased spending on fisheries research.

Georges Bank, 8,500 miles square, is a main habitat of the haddock, the fish species most valuable to the United States.

Seventy per cent of Canada's fish exports go to the U.S.

In 1965, the Soviets caught 82,000 metric tons of haddock in this area, the United States 55,000. The total catch by all nations which fish the bank was the greatest ever, but the U.S. catch was about average for the last 20 years.

Within 10 years, the Russians have overtaken U.S. fish production—doubled their catch to more than 5,000,000 tons in 1965, acquired an 18,000-vessel fleet, and now propose to add 1,500 new vessels during the next five years.

By contrast, the total U.S. catch has remained static, slightly below 3,000,000 tons, and Harold E. Crowther, director of the U.S. bureau of commercial fisheries, estimates that 90 per cent of the American fleet, 12,000 vessels over five net tons, ought to be replaced because of age.

At present, there are about 60 Soviet vessels on Georges Bank; during 1962-63 there were 300 to 400. The Russian trend is to produce more poundage with fewer and more modern ships.

The Soviet fishing operation is sophisticated.

Large refrigerated trawlers, 190 to 280 feet, have canning and fish meal plants.

Russian factory stern trawlers—most American vessels still use the earlier method of fishing from the side—have fish processing and dehydration plants. They can catch, freeze, salt or can fish and produce fish meal.

Tropik class factory trawlers —260 feet—have freezing equipment and are capable of long lining, purse seining and otter trawling—the three basic methods of catching fish at the surface, at mid-depth and on the bottom. Often, a U.S. vessel requires three weeks to change from one type of fishing to another; a majority cannot be changed at all.

Americans send to Georges Bank a vessel of from 80 to 125 feet; more often wood than steel and more likely built before 1950 than since, with a crew of from eight to 16, and capable of bottom trawling only. It cannot freeze or process after five or six days on the grounds, must make the 100-plus-mile run back to port.

Russian and U.S. scientists afloat are examining this fishery resource co-operatively. Ashore, U.S. and Russian spokesmen are trying to work out an Atlantic fish conservation agreement patterned after a similar, successful west coast arrangement between the two nations.

HOME GARDEN

Spiraeas Add Bright Fall Color

By HILDA BEASTALL

Color in gardens at this season is found contributed by unexpected plants.

We don't usually think of the spiraeas in terms of fall color, since their primary claim to garden space is their prolific spring flowers.

Hilda

When November comes and fall winds and rain have removed leaves from some of the shrubs in the garden, we begin to notice new color.

In the far corner for instance, what is the source of that brilliant scarlet splash?

It turns out to be none other than Siraea prunifolia plena (the spiraea with leaves like the plum and double blooms). This spiraea flowers in late spring with its long arching branches closely packed with tiny double white blossoms.

When these branches are shortened immediately after flowering, they produce new growths during summer bearing the leaves which color so vividly in late fall.

If this pruning is not done, or is done too late, fall effect is reduced and the shrub is mediocre.

Another spiraea colors in fall to a pleasing dull rose or perhaps carmine. This is the summer-flowering spiraea, Anthony Waterer, which bears flat clusters of dull rose blossoms in July and August. There is a deeper red variety "Spiraea bumalda coccniea.

These late summer blooming shrubs are pruned hard in early spring (usually early April here) and produce long new branches bearing the flowers in summer and leaves which color well in fall, giving several weeks of extra service for they remain on the shrubs for a long time.

Of a quite different fall coloring are two early spring spiraeas, S. thunbergi with a scattering of tiny white flowers from late winter to early spring, and S. van Houttei, later blooming but prolific.

Their fall colorings are in bronze tones, while not spectacular they tone well with chrysanthemums.

Merger Bid Opposed By Tadanac

VANCOUVER (CP) — The District of Tadanac Wednesday launched a Supreme Court action aimed at halting attempts to have it amalgamated with the City of Trail.

The district and William Kolthammer, a chemical engineer living in Tadanac, filed suit against Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell, the City of Trail Mayor Joseph Palyga of Trail and Kenneth Smith, director of finance and statistics division of department of municipal affairs.

The plaintiffs seek a Supreme Court declaration that Tadanac is not required to submit the question of amalgamation with Trail to voters in December elections.

They also seek a declaration that an amalgamation report made Sept. 11 is invalid because the commission which studied the desirability of amalgamation between Trail and Tadanac was biased, or could have been.

The plaintiffs ask for an injunction which would stop Trail from taking any steps in the direction of amalgamation.

Mr. Kolthammer is suing as the owner of two lots in Tadanac. He claims his taxes will be increased by amalgamation and that the merger will affect hospital and school debts.

Tadanac and Mr. Kolthammer allege the commission which sat to consider amalgamation earlier this year was not constituted according to law because the chairman, Mr. Smith, is an official in the department of municipal affairs. They claim he could have had an interest in the departmental policy of amalgamating municipalities.

ONE GUNMAN DEAD, OTHER BATTERED

Clerk Swings Cleaver To Foil Store Holdup

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two holdup men walked into a Brooklyn grocery Wednesday night, demanded cash, then shot the owner.

A clerk rushed to the aid of the grocer.

He hacked one of the would-be robbers to death with a meat cleaver, and split open the other's head.

Police identified the holdup men as Samuel Davis, 29, and John Edwards, 30. They said the men entered the grocery and ordered owner Victor Gonzales, 33, to empty the cash register. While Davis held Gonzales and the clerk, Manuel Rodriguez, 23, at bay, Edwards began rifling the cash register, police said.

Suddenly Rodriguez leaped as Edwards bent over the register. He split the bandit's head with a blow from the cleaver while Davis, startled, fired a shot into Gonzales' chest.

Davis then tried to wrestle the cleaver away from the clerk, and was mortally wounded. Rodriguez also was badly slashed in the melee. Edwards, blood puring from his head wound, fled, leaving $61 cash, covered with blood, by the register.

Rodriguez managed to help Gonzalez to St. Mary's Hospital, and while the grocer and his clerk were being treated, Edwards staggered in, a bloody handkerchief held over the gash in his head.

"That's him! That's him!" the two men shouted. Edwards was arrested after physicians closed his wound.

RAZOR BLADES IN HALLOWEEN CANDY, APPLES

EDMONTON (CP) — Police have reported a series of complaints of Halloween treats being handed out to children imbedded with pieces of razor blades.

Police told of three separate cases where a small girl and boys, nine and 14, found pieces of razor blades in candy or apples.

The only injury reported was to the small girl who cut her finger on a razor blade found in an apple.

MLA Acquitted On Tax Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—Gordon Dowding, New Democrat MLA for Burnaby-Edmonds, was acquitted Wednesday on four charges of failing to file his 1965 income tax on demand.

Magistrate Murray Hyde said there is reasonable doubt that Mr. Dowding received a final registered mail notice of demand for payment because he is often away from his home, in Victoria and elsewhere.

8 CARD OF THANKS

I wish to tender most grateful thanks to the Drs. and staff of Rm. 213, St. Joseph's Hospital during my late husband's recent illness. Also to friends, neighbours, Pallbearers, McCall Bros. for their kind messages of sympathy during his illness and death.—Irene Crause.

9 IN MEMORIAM

FORSYTH — In loving memory of a dear brother John who passed away suddenly three years ago.
Gone is the face we loved so dear
Silent is the voice we loved to hear
Too far away for sight or speech
But not too far for thought to reach
Sweet to remember him who once was here
And who though absent is just as dear.
—Always remembered by your loving sister, Eva.

FRY—In loving memory of my dear Aunt Mary Ann Fry, who passed away Nov. 2, 1934.
—Always remembered by her niece, Mrs. R. Burton.

STUDLEY—In loving memory of a dear husband, Dad, and grandad, James George, who passed away Nov. 2, 1964.
I seem to see in the soft, dim light,
A face I loved the best.
And think of him when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far-off West.
I miss you no less as the time passes on
Than I did on the day of your going.
For absence can never close the door of my heart,
And the lamp of my love is still glowing.
Your heart was the truest in all the wide world,
Your love the best to recall,
For no one on earth could take your place,
You are the dearest of all.
—His loving wife, Lilian.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

They're moaning the blues in the new expansionist cities of the National Hockey League because of the lack of crowds. This, despite the expenditure of fairly respectable sums of money advertising the game.

Stephen

Broadcasting, the Canadian radio-TV trade magazine, reports the California Seals, for instance, invested some $65,000 in advertising that began last June, while Philadelphia spent $50,000 on six radio and three TV stations, as well as local newspaper and magazines.

The magazine also rounds up the sums being spent for broadcast coverage by radio and TV stations.

The biggest deal appears to have been Jack Kent Cooke's 10-year contract with Atlantic Richfield Company for an estimated $10 million for exclusive rights to the Los Angeles Kings, Lakers and Wolves.

The six new NHL clubs (Los Angeles, California, Minnesota, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh) started the season with broadcast contracts totalling an estimated $5.4 million in rights.

The six original teams (Toronto, Montreal, Chicago, New York, Boston and Detroit) will get about $3.8 million on local, and in this country, national radio-TV agreements. Montreal and Toronto will receive an estimated $1.5 million this season from advertisers and both the CBC and CTV networks.

CBS-TV had also agreed to pay the NHL an estimated $3.6 million for three years of network coverage through 1967-69 with first refusal rights on renewal. CBS will telecast 14 weekend afternoon games, Dec. 30, 1967, through March 31, 1968, plus the Stanley Cup playoff games.

TID BITS: Bob Quintrell will replace Monty Macfarlane as host of CBUT's Other Cheek show. Monty and producers agreed he wasn't coming off. Now the danger to avoid is that the Monday night 30-minuter will not take on a Seven O'Clock show look . . . CBC-TV plans a 90-minute color look back at Canada's Confederation celebrations for New Year's Day, 1968.

Bing Crosby will narrate a Nov. 21 ABC-TV documentary about on-the-road show business, "One Night Stands."

AVOID THIS PITFALL IN SELLING YOUR HOME

Too many home owners try to sell their homes themselves. "Why pay 5% when I can do it myself." The owner also does his own evaluating . . . usually asks more than the property is worth. "I can always come down later" he says. In most cases rejects early reasonable offers then ends up accepting less than market value. List your home with

Police Chief Asks Press To Leave

VANCOUVER (CP) — City police chief Ralph Booth demanded that newsmen leave a meeting which he was addressing Wednesday evening. He said that fear of distortion of his remarks made it impossible for him to speak freely with reporters present.

Mr. Booth accused the press of sensationalism and telling only half a story.

"I am going to be blunt," he said. "A good deal of the problems we are dealing with are created by the press."

The police chief was speaking at a meeting of the British Columbia Correctional Association. A second speaker was Dr. Robert Rowan, political philosophy professor at the University of British Columbia, who said that rights which civilized society had acquired over centuries should not be casually set aside.

He was referring to a brief presented to the Canadian Association of Police Chiefs last April and signed by Mr. Booth which advocated increasing police powers. The brief called for police rights to enter and search homes without warrants of persons suspected of minor crimes, and psychological tests for magistrates.

The brief raised public protests, as have previous demands by Mr. Booth for compulsory identity cards, universal fingerprinting of citizens, and the right for policemen to lift licences of drivers they suspect of drinking alcohol.

Arctic Expert To Speak

An Arctic explorer and a leading authority on Canada's northlands will speak to the Men's Canadian Club of Victoria next Thuesday.

Lieut.-Col. P. D. Baird, geology department, McGill University, will speak on "a future for the Canadian Arctic" at a luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel, starting at 12:15 p.m.

The Cambridge University-educated geologist, was a member of the Sir James Wordie expedition to Greenland and Baffin Island and of the British Canadian Arctic expedition in 1936-37.

He served in the Second World War and later became nationally known as commander of Exercise "Muskox," the first mechanized military force to cross the Arctic barrens in winter from Churchill to the Rockies and Edmonton.

He is a member of the Arctic defence research board, the Arctic Institute of North America, and Research Fellow Aberdeen University.

Doctoral Degree Key To Economic Status

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Patrick McTaggart-Cowan, president of Simon Fraser University, said Wednesday the key to current social and economic status is a doctoral degree.

"The graduate with a BA today has no greater storehouse of knowledge than I had in 1929 when I matriculated from high school," he said in an interview.

More had to be taught young people in lower grades, to free the higher levels to handle new knowledge. If presented properly, calculus could be taught at the Grade 2 level.

McTaggart-Cowan, whose university opened two years ago in Burnaby, is a delegate to the annual meeting of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada this week.

He said the education process of the future may begin to teach people how to think instead of forcing them to remember facts.

"The rate at which new knowledge increases is going up, but you can't go on just piling it on the backs of students—all you get is mental indigestion."

Embalmer's Knife Revives 'Dead' Man

WASHINGTON (AP)—A young American soldier, pronounced dead of wounds, showed signs of life while under the knife of a U.S. Army embalmer in Vietnam.

Specialist Jacky C. Bayne, 22, of Fort Mill, S.C., was pronounced dead near Chu Lai last July 16 after doctors had worked for 45 minutes trying resuscitation.

His seemingly lifeless body was sent routinely to an Army graves-registration section nearby and it was sometime later—no one knows exactly how long—when the embalmer's knife made its first incision.

There was a faint flicker of life and Bayne was taken back to a field hospital. After more resuscitation and numerous blood transfusions there were other signs of life.

Today, more than three months later, Bayne is moving toward at least limited recovery at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

The Bayne story was published today by the Knight newspapers.

Army doctors at Walter Reed call the Bayne story "amazing" and "astounding." No doctor interviewed could recall such a case before.

CAR CRASH KILLS VICTORIA MAN

One of two men killed in a car crash on the Trans-Canada Highway near Hell's Gate last week was identified by police Wednesday night as Mike Ellis, 1157 Balmoral.

The other is Lloyd Zygraliski of Lillooet.

The car missed a curve on the highway last Thursday and plunged off a cliff 400 feet below the highway.

The wreckage of their car was only discovered by police Wednesday.

Twelve other persons have been killed on the same stretch of highway in the past year.

Newfoundland Gets Czech Pavilion

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The Czechoslovakian Pavilion at Expo 67 has been presented as "an outright gift to the government and people of Newfoundland," Premier Joseph Smallwood announced today.

He made the announcement at a news conference attended by Zdenek Koudelka, deputy commissioner general of the pavilion, and two other representatives of the Czech government.

Mr. Smallwood also disclosed that he will go to Prague within the next few weeks to meet Czechoslovakian Prime Minister Josef Lenart "to thank him and the government and people of Czechoslovakia for a very, very handsome gesture."

Mr. Smallwood, with the approval of the Czech delegates, also disclosed plans to name the two arts and culture centres at Gander and Grand Falls—for which the two-building pavilion would be used—after Czechoslovakian composer Anton Dvorak and a 16th-century Roman Catholic educationist, Bishop Comenius. They would be the Dvorak Centre at Gander and the Comenius Centre at Grand Falls.

Mr. Smallwood gave the floor to Mr. Koudelka, but joked with him during his remarks about the premier's vying with Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau for the $4,000,000 pavilion.

Mr. Koudelka said: "Mr. Drapeau was very interested . . . but Mr. Smallwood acted very fast and was very friendly to us."

Australians Discover 'Unique Star'

ADELAIDE (Reuters) — Australian scientists have announced the discovery of an apparently new type of star with a life span of only about two years.

The existence of "this unique object" was announced by a research group led by Prof. K. G. McCracken of the University of Adelaide and Dr. A. G. Fenton of the University of Tasmania.

Their six-month study could upset the theories of some scientists who believe X-ray stars—the mysterious power stations of outer space—have radiated for millions of years.

McCracken said observations made by detectors on a rocket launched from Woomera in April and others made by U.S. scientists in Hawaii a month later suggest a bright X-ray star near the constellations Crux and Centaurus was born and died within two years—a matter of moments on the astronomical scale.

Mammoth Park Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Senate voted Wednesday to create a mammoth national park in California to spare thousands of acres of virgin redwoods timberland from the lumberman's axe.

But, to help defray the cost of the 64,000-acre preserve on California's northern coast, it decided to trade a 14,567-acre tract of government-owned redwood timber to four large lumber companies in exchange for their private lands inside the park area.

The park proposal, which will be taken up by the House Interior Committee next year, passed 77 to 6, but the land-swap arrangement survived by a vote of 51 to 30.

Crackdown in Spain

VICTORIA, Spain (AP) — Police have cracked down on two underground organizations, one Communist and the other separatist, in this Basque region, the semi-official Cifra news agency has reported. The agency said police detained 14 men, including members of the Spanish Communist party, and others belonging to the ETA, a Basque separatist organization.

U.S. Cadets Plan Visit

A group of 38 cadets and seven officers from the United States Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, will visit the Canadian Services College Royal Roads for four days, starting Nov. 9.

This is an annual exchange visit designed to foster friendship between the academies.

The U.S. cadets will attend lectures and will also participate in a program of sports.

Sports competitions will be held on Nov. 11, after cadets from both colleges have attended the Remembrance Day Service at the Cenotaph.

Cadets will participate in a 4.3 mile cross country run and later, at 2:30 p.m., a soccer game will be held.

The teams are well matched. In the last two years only one goal has been scored during the games. In 1965 the score was 1-0 for Royal Roads, and in 1966 it was a 0-0 tie.

The college grounds will be open to visitors for the soccer game.

THREE HOURS BEFORE SINKING

Liferaft Drop Rejected by Captain

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Less than three hours before the freighter Panoceanic Faith sank in Alaskan waters Oct. 9, the skipper rejected an offered drop of liferafts, a U.S. navy flier told a coast guard board of inquiry Wednesday.

Cmdr. Neil Holt testified that his Neptune patrol plane, stationed at Adak, was over the stricken ship early in the afternoon. His was the first plane on the secne and the only one low enough to watch the ship's sinking as darkness approached.

Holt testified that he radioed the Panoceanic's skipper, Capt. John Ogles, and asked if he should drop liferafts. Holt said Ogles replied he didn't want the drop then because he might not be able to pick the rafts up due to steering difficulties.

"The condition of the sip appeared to be reasonably good the first hours I was there," Holt testified. "But later the wind picked up, the swells got higher and the list became worse."

Later, Holt said, he could see 25 men in the port lifeboat.

When the ship started going down, it went quickly, disappearing beneath the waves in about two minutes, he said.

Holt testified that just before the ship sank he dropped five life-rafts. The rafts were the type that have to be inflated after reaching water, but Holt said he was sure that one 12-man raft and two seven-man rafts were inflated.

The witness said he had not talked with the skipper for at least a half hour before that becaue Ogles was talking to a Japanese ship heading for the scene from about 14 miles away.

Only five out of the crew of 40 survived.

The hearing continues.

Students Plan Hike For Charity

High school and university students will hike through Greater Victoria this month to focus attention on their aid program for underprivileged students elsewhere in the world.

The "money for miles" trek, scheduled for Nov. 25, is to raise more money for a student centennial scheme called Project 100 which will provide mobile classrooms for underdeveloped countries within the Commonwealth.

The students are looking for sponsors who will agree to pay a set sum for each mile covered by volunteer walkers. A student committee is laying out a course which will wander through the city for "at least 25 miles."

The sponsors note the walk is not an athletic contest but a means of focusing attention on the plan to help needy students. They hope prominent citizens will take part.

Woman Hurt In Collision

A 72-year-old woman is in fair condition in hospital today with cuts and bruises suffered in a car accident Wednesday at 5:15 p.m.

Mrs. Grace Longworth, 1110 Vista Heinghts, was a passenger in a car police said was dirven by Charles Longworth of 2545 Killarney.

The car was in collision with a car reportedly driven by Ralph Proceviat, 2616 Blackwood, at the intersection of Blackwood and Vista Heights.

Dutch to Denounce Canada Air Treaty

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—The Netherlands intends to denounce its current aviation agreement with Canada because it failed to obtain landing rights for LKM Royal Dutch Airlines in Toronto.

The Dutch minister of transport and waterways, Johannes Bakker, told the lower house permanent transport committee here Wednesday that it was the first time in the history of Dutch civil aviation that such an action towards Canada was contemplated.

Canadians were reported to be surprised by the Dutch statement, especially in view of the recent decision by Canadian Pacific Airlines to move its European sales headquarters from London to Amsterdam.

Observers said the Canadians asked for reciprocal rights in return for the Toronto concession, but Holland could offer nothing beyond the existing facilities. A similar situation previously caused friction with the United States when KLM wanted landing rights there.

The current civil aviation agreement with Canada can be terminated by both parties but denunciation of the treaty by Holland would require approval of the Dutch Parliament. Even after approval of the denunciation the treaty would continue to be valid for 12 months.

Dutch officials said today that all this gave plenty of time for further talks with the Canadians and also would open up fresh opportunities for negotiating a new treaty which might be much better than the present one. Holland, in any case is willing to negotiate a new treaty.

Angry American Chooses Canada

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—A pacifist student at Brown University said he would leave for Montreal Friday to renounce his American citizenship because of his "disgust" with U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

John R. Stahl, 20, of Auburndale, Mass., made his decision while watching the anti-war demonstrations in Washington last week, he said. He took no part in the rally but was grabbed at random along with 35 other persons and thrown into a truck by the military police, Stahl said.

Expo Workers Seek New Jobs in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — An influx of former Expo employees looking for jobs on the west coast is worrying officials of the British Columbia Hotels Association.

J. Roy Corbett, managing director of the association, said Wednesday 36 people visited his office the previous day, looking for jobs in hotels, motels or restaurants, compared to the normal one or two.

SEGREGATIONIST ESCAPES PRE-ELECTION GUNFIRE

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Four shots were fired early today at U.S. Rep. John R. Rarick, D—La., staunchly segregationist candidate for governor of Louisiana, by "three or four dark figures" in a small car. He was not hurt.

Police quoted Rarick as saying the assailants were Negroes. Rarick's administrative assistant later denied it.

Rarick had finished a campaign commercial at a television station and was about to get into his car in a parking lot in New Orleans' historic French quarter when the small car appeared and the shots rang out.

Rarick's administrative assistant, E. Neil Edwards, was with the congressman, his wife and Dr. Fred Beck of New Orleans. Edwards said the party dived behind cars in the parking lot and the small car sped away.

Rarick opposes Gov. John J. McKeithen for the gubernatorial nomination—tantamount to election in Louisiana—in Saturday's Democratic primary. The largest field of Negro candidates in state history also is on the ballot and many Negroes will be voting for the first time.

Police said Rarick told them "at least four Negro men fired the shots. But Edwards told newsmen several hours later he could not tell.

"Everything happened so fast," Edwards said. "The small dark car appeared and someone started firing. Those in the party ducked for cover.

It is personally hard for me to say they were white or colored. It was so dark."

Police posted a guard at Rarick's home.

Euromart Move 'Total' Says Brown

Political, Economic Destiny

LONDON (AP) — Britain's commitment to join the European Common Market is total, Foreign Secretary George Brown declared today.

"Our major field of operations from now on must be in and through Europe," Brown told a packed House of Commons.

The foreign secretary was speaking against the background of a political turmoil which has placed his own government post in danger.

Britain, he said, wants to "work out in Europe, and with other Europeans, our common destiny and not just our economic destiny, but our political destiny too."

Brown said there is a growing public opinion in Europe urging Britain and Europe onward toward "a really effective European unity." But he shied away from advocating some form of federalism when questioned by a Labor MP.

PROMPTED LAUGHTER

He brought laughter to ease the tension somewhat when he referred to French opposition to British entry into the Common Market as "the immovable object." He quickly added:

"The forces building up more and more in support of our entry into the European communities are not ranged against France and they are not ranged against the French government.

"The tide of public opinion is for Europe. And France, no less than Britain, is an essential part of Europe."

Brown said he has noted a shift in emphasis in the last few weeks in the French position toward British entry. The British have long maintained that President de Gaulle's attitude toward British membership is political.

Now, said Brown, the French see Britain's economic strength and the world role of sterling as the main obstacle. The British government, he said, stands ready to discuss in detail these viewpoints during negotiations.

The foreign secretary spoke of Vietnam and the possibilities of peace in glum terms. He said prospects of negotiations are dim "because the gulf between the combatants seems at the moment to be much too wide."

SEES HALT IN BOMBING

He said he remains convinced the Americans will halt the bombing of North Vietnam "as soon as it is clear that the possibility of progress to negotiations for peace is in sight." He added, however:

"But with no indication from the other side of what might or might not flow from a decision to stop the bombings, the cost has to be counted in terms of Vietnamese, American, Australian and New Zealand lives."

On the Middle East dispute between Arab and Jew, he warned that time is running out.

"Yet I believe there are no elements in the problem fundamentally insoluble. It is the cloud of suspicion, of fear and of recrimination which prevents progress and I believe that cloud is so dense that it is unrealistic that the mere pressure of events will bring the two sides together in negotiation."

He said he hopes to announce soon resumption of diplomatic relations with Egypt.

University Autonomy To Be Studied

MONTREAL (CP)—A study of relations between universities and governments—from the ground up—was announced at a press conference today by representatives of university students and teachers.

Announcement of the study was made on an assurance received Wednesday that the Ford Foundation will finance the $150,000 project.

Dr. Jacques St. Pierre, chairman of a steering committee of teachers and student leaders which approached the foundation, said three commissioners would be appointed "within the next few weeks" to undertake the year-long study.

The steering committee includes Dr. St. Pierre, professor of mathematical studies, University of Montreal, Doug Ward of the Canadian Union of Students, Robert Thessier of the Quebec General Students Union, Dr. A. B. B. Moore, president of Toronto's Victoria University, and J. Percy Smith, executive director of the Canadian Association of University Teachers.

Dr. St. Pierre said the mandate of the study is to examine "the distinctive role of universities in the changing Canadian society and to determine the need, nature and extent of both university autonomy and government control of universities."

Recommendations on the basis of the study will be submitted by the three-man commission for approval to the student and teacher associations and the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada.

DENIES INFERENCE

Dr. St. Pierre denied that the study was given impetus by the decision last year of the federal government to discontinue grants to universities, thereby leaving them dependent on provincial governments in financial negotiations for public money.

The problem of university-government relations, he said, has been growing increasingly acute in the opinion of members of the academic community in the last few years. It has also been recognized by governments.

"When we approached the departments of education of each of the 10 provincial governments they were very enthusiastic about the proposal, but didn't feel they were in a position to contribute financially."

The steering committee eventually applied to the Ford Foundation in preference to a Canadian financial source, he said, because the only possible sources in this country are government-sponsored, and "we didn't want it to look as though we were beginning with loaded dice."

Mr. Thessier, representing the French-speaking students' union, said in French that although his organization was a strongly autonomous one, its executive welcomed the opportunity to take part in the "first university-governments relations study which has not been pragmatic, bureaucratic and content to accept the status quo."

Dr. St. Pierre said the commission would receive briefs from all interested groups and would hold public hearings.

'MILLIONS APPROVED WITHOUT DEBATE'

STARR
. . . unfair to taxpayer

OTTAWA (CP) — Michael Starr, interim leader of the Opposition, today bitterly criticized the government and Commons rules for allowing millions of dollars in 1967-68 appropriations to be voted by the end of the day without adequate debate.

He said the Progressive Conservatives will not agree to renewal next session of the temporary rule now in effect requiring all remaining spending estimates to be voted on the 30th day of Commons study of the appropriations.

"This is not what the taxpayer expects of Parliament," Mr. Starr told a press conference. "It's not fair to the taxpayer."

CELEBRATION ON

Moscow Unveils Statue of Lenin

MOSCOW (CP)—Russia today began its formal celebration of the 50th anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution by unveiling a statue of Lenin in the Kremlin.

Leonid Brezhnev, Communist party general secretary, walked slowly up to the pedestal holding the statue of Lenin, founder of the Soviet state, and cut the ribbon holding a sheet over it.

Russia planned six days of festivities to mark the anniversary. The celebrations are to culminate in an hour-long military parade through Red Square Nov. 7 and a spectacular fireworks display that night.

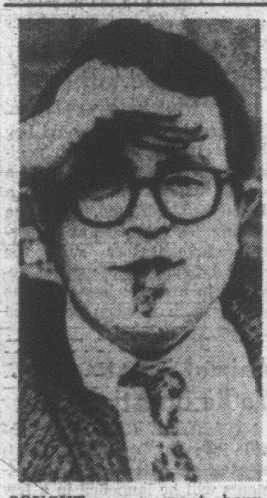

While Soviet factories produced replicas of old coats and conical hats worn by the first Red Army, Communist leaders began gathering for talks. A key subject was China, the one major Communist power that snubbed Russia's invitation to the big party.

Communist sources said they expected the current discussions to lead toward a world Communist conference at which the Soviet concept of proper Communist policies could be officially endorsed and China's condemned.

SOVIET SPACE 'SPECTACULAR' STILL AWAITED

BOCHUM, Germany (UPI) —The West Germar space observatory today reported the Soviets were broadcasting Russian march music and songs on their space experiment frequencies, apparently as a prelude to a new space spectacular.

Heinz Kaminski, director of the institute for satellite and space research at Bochum, said "apparently the Soviets are trying to free these frequencies entirely to use them for the major space experiment we are expecting."

FROM ANGOLA

Mercenaries Invade Congo

KINSHASA (AP) — A column of white mercenaries and Negro soldiers invaded The Congo's Katanga province from the Portuguese colony of Angola, Congolese government sources said today.

The unidentified band crossed the border some time Wednesday and stole at least four trucks, the army reported. Other government reports put the number of trucks at 16.

From the border the soldiers drove about 60 miles east and captured a train, the army said.

Latest reports put them about halfway to Lubumbashi, the Katangan capital formerly known as Elisabethville, with about 100 miles to go.

Military sources said The Congo Army would probably blow up one of several bridges along the way. The government said all troops in the area have been dispatched to cut off the column.

PROMISE ACTION

In a recent interview in the Brussels daily La Derniere Heure, two close collaborators of the Belgian mercenary leader, Col. Jean Schramme, had announced that if negotiations with The Congo government for the evacuation of the rebels failed, a new action would be undertaken. The interviewed mercenaries added that at any rate the political action against the Mobutu regime would continue.

Reports in Kinshasa, the federal capital formerly known as Leopoldville, said Congolese troops have launched a new attack in the Bukavu area.

The Red Cross has been trying in vain to organize evacuation from Bukavu of the white mercenaries and rebel Katangans. The Congolese government has not yet replied to a Red Cross request for a ceasefire so that the rebels could be flown out of The Congo.

Bukavu, near the eastern border of The Congo, is about 1,000 miles northeast of the force reported invading from Angola.

Communists Beaten Off, 463 Killed

SAIGON (CP) — Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops tried and failed again in a massive attack today to capture Loc Ninh, a district headquarters town they first struck last Sunday. U.S. and South Vietnamese soldiers, artillery and planes hurled them back.

Field dispatches said 463 Communists were killed in this fourth drive of the week on Loc Ninh, near the Cambodian frontier 72 miles north of Saigon. Geurrillas in retreat after a disastrous setback Tuesday had told villagers they would return.

St. Vincent Society

By TED GASKELL

The St. Vincent de Paul Society only receives 1.3 per cent of the United Red Feather Red Cross Appeal budget but every penny will be well spent.

Its total budget is $5,810 and the United Appeal will provide $5,245.

Where does the money go? It goes to families in need; it helps to provide homes, permanent and temporary for children who are destitute.

In the first 10 months of this year, says secretary Maurice Johnson, the society has provided 2,750 quarts of milk to the needy. It has served 400 hot meals, provided 870 night's shelter. Last Christmas the society distributed 53 hampers which served 205 persons.

It has found homes, foster or adoption, for 88 children and gave a Christmas party for the same number.

Two truckloads of warm clothing were sent up to Tofino to help out people who had suffered as the result of the tidal wave.

Not long ago the society learned of an elderly couple, both too old to work, who lived in two rooms which they couldn't afford to heat. The society paid the fuel bill.

Four youngsters in a family were suffering because their father was too sick to work but wasn't eligible for welfare. The society provided for their needs until the social welfare could take over.

A tradesman from the east expecting to find work here, moved out with his family. There was no work and no money until St. Vincent de Paul Society arranged for him to retrain at a vocational school and provided temporary help for his family.

"We try to get people to help themselves wherever possible," said Mr. Johnson. "We have no office and always visit the needy at their homes so we can see for ourselves what is required.

But the society isn't always paying out.

Sometimes the families helped make donations when they are financially able. Recently a cheque was received from Quebec from the family of a transient the society had helped here.

The society helps in the case of fires and disasters and is working on a plan to act as a central control for general aid.

"The society, under the proposed plan, would act as a co-ordinator of donations," said president G. F. Cox.

"At the moment there is sometimes an embarrassment of one thing and a shortage of another, when disaster or fire strikes.

"As co-ordinator we would accept donations and issue clothing and furniture as needed. In case of duplication we would hold articles for use at another time."

Committee To Hear Viet Monk

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons external affairs committee decided today to call a Vietnamese Buddhist monk as a witness Nov. 16.

It decided at the same time by a vote of 4 to 2—the other seven committee members present abstained—to call a witness who would express the viewpoint of the South Vietnamese government.

The monk is Thich Venerable Nhat Hanh, who lives in Paris.

The committee also instructed the external affairs department to find out whether a Canadian Parliamentary delegation would be welcome in Saigon and Hanoi.

Marcel Lambert (PC—Edmonton West) said that if the committee is going to provide a platform for everyone who wants to sound off it should also hear both sides of the Middle East, Rhodesia and Nigeria problems.

Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) said that if the committee is going to delve into the Vietnam situation it should call Canadians to testify.

He suggested Chester Ronning, who made two diplomatic missions to Hanoi for the Canadian government last year.

'Freedom This Month'

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain announced today it will give independence to the South Arabian Federation in the second half of this month, when all British forces will be withdrawn.

Co-operation Aim of Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and France have made a deal to co-operate more closely in development of programs in the field of defence production, research and development, it was announced today.

A brief government release said the move was aimed at strengthening relations between the two countries. But it was understood that another aim is to promote trade in the defence field between the two countries.

'OPPRESSION'

China Raps Russian Leadership

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The New China news agency today launched a violent attack on the Russian leadership, accusing it of capitalist-style exploitation and police state oppression.

In a lengthy article, marking the start in Russia of celebrations of the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, the agency bitterly denounced what it called "the privileged bourgeois stratum" ruling Russia.

"It exercises strict control over the armed troops, ceaselessly strengthens police measures, plants plainclothed agents in every nook and corner of the country, sets up many concentration camps and ruthlessly supresses the discontent and opposition of the working people," the agency said.

The agency claimed that demonstrations and strikes are held in many places in Russia despite police suppression.

'BACKUP' PLANE HIT

KUALA LUMPUR (AP)—A U.S. Air Force C-118 transport, scheduled to serve as a backup plane for U.S. Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey's South Vietnam battlefield tour Wednesday, was hit by four rounds of small-arms fire while on a flight with only the crew aboard, a U.S. spokesman in this Malaysian capital said today. No one was hurt.

STANFIELD ELECTION FOES ALLEGE BRIBERY ATTEMPT

TRURO, N.S. (CP) — The two candidates running as independents in the federal Colchester-Hants byelection Monday say they have been offered bribes to withdraw from the contest. The third candidate is Progressive Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield.

Elwood Smith of Sudbury, Ont., campaigning as an independent despite membership in the New Democratic Party, said today he has sent a letter to Chief Electoral Officer J. M. Hamel in Ottawa asking for an inquiry.

He says in the letter he is prepared to name the persons involved in the bribery offer to an inquiry.

Robert Kirk, an Independent Liberal who came last at the polls when Colchester-Hants was won by Conservative Cyril Kennedy in the 1965 election, said he too had been offered bribes.

"Definite," he said in confirming the report. He was urged to withdraw by "not only bribery but by threats of life."

The bribes were offered in person by individuals he would not name. The threats were made by telephone and became so violent that "I had to get the doctor to come and give my wife a needle for her nerves."

However, Mr. Kirk said he would make no pre-election protest because it might hurt his chances. "The election might be called off and I think I can defeat Stanfield."

In his letter to Mr. Hamel, Mr. Smith says that "on Oct. 24 an offer of money was made to encourage me to withdraw from the campaign.

"The offer indicated that I would be paid my nomination fee and possibly additional money to cover expenses."

Railmen Ask Ottawa To Delay CNR Layoffs

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers pressed Prime Minister Pearson Wednesday to delay mass layoffs by the CNR.

W. J. Smith, president of the 32,000-member union, said in a letter to Mr. Pearson CNR supervisors across the country have been instructed to reduce staff by as much as 10 per cent.

The publicly-owned railway already has laid off 427 workers in the Atlantic region and distributed layoff notices to 500 employees in the Prairies.

SHORT NOTICE

Mr. Smith said the government should prevail on the CNR to "act in a more humane and socially responsible manner." Employees were being cut on four days' notice.

"We find it ironic that, at a time when your government is attempting to relieve the economic hardships resulting from the irresponsible and inhumane actions of a private corporation at Sydney, N.S., a publicly-owned corporation should be behaving in a similar manner, if on a somewhat smaller scale."

DOSCO PARALLEL

This was an apparent reference to the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. decision to close its Sydney steel mill next April.

Smith said the CNR layoffs are the result of a traffic decline caused by a new express-freight rate structure. He said a loss of business resulting from a management decision such as this should be borne by the company, not the workers.

Saanichton Fair To Mark Centenary

Committees will be appointed to plan celebrations to mark the 100th anniversary of the Saanichton Fair at the annual meeting of the North and South Agricultural Society Monday.

The meeting, starting at 8 p.m., will be chaired by president Gordon Michell.

FISHERMEN SEEK HELP

VANCOUVER (CP) — The fisherman's union said Wednesday it will appeal to Ottawa for emergency action to find employment for 1,000 men put out of work by the closure of the British Columbia herring grounds.

Homer Stevens, Secretary of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union, said Labor Minister Nicholson and Fisheries Minister Robichaud will be asked to come to B.C. to discuss the possibility of finding employment for the herring fishermen and plant workers.

Mr. Stevens said fishermen place the blame for the decline of herring stock at the door of the federal government.

Italian Couturiers Like Navy and White

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI)—Italian fashion designers think mother was right when she said there is nothing like navy blue with a touch of white for spring.

International fashion experts seem to agree with them because one of the most applauded collections in today's knitwear shows was toned in on navy and white.

The Milan knitwear house of Cadette also reflected the Italian fashion world's marked nostalgia for the good old days of the 1930s. The hemlines of the collection's navy and white outfits all hit well below the knee. Suit jackets had wide lapels, usually faced in white and adorned with a flower in the buttonhole.

Avagold also played up the blue and white theme. Maljana, another Milan knitwear designer, added touches of red or yellow to the basic mixture.

Today's knitwear collections wind up three days of spring-summer style shows in Florence. Designers presented their high fashion ready-to-wear and boutique styles as well as knits.

AT WEDNESDAY SHOW

Jungle Makes Fashion Hit

Exotic jungle colors set in the opulent fabrics of French velvets, silks and chiffons and many magic new synthetics will step out of milday's boudoir this season and be worn for dining and dancing.

Such was the prediction at the showing of "Dream Fashions," held in the McPherson Playhouse restaurant on Wednesday.

Canadian lounge-wear, featuring the award-winning Clair Haddad fashions, and Bards and Carolyn Wear designs, were on show from "Impacts and Imports."

Fashions were only part of the picture at the affair for all the Centennial Square merchants were represented. "The Handloom" put on a display of Canadian handicrafts and the "Book Nook" designed a display table of new publications.

McPherson Restaurant provided the delicious tea and pastries, to say nothing of the perfect backdrop of the sunlit square.

Fashion held the spotlight, though. Reminiscent of African drum beats was a velvet coat, printed with black, shocking pink and orange on a green ground . . . or a silk brown and white zebra-striped kaftan.

The Oriental look of Japan appeared in an orchid-toned cut velvet kimono, finished with a wide orchid tulle cumburbund and kimono sleeves . . . a dress for at-home lounging or the most sumptuous dinner party.

The romantic look will never die, and an Ariel-like mini-gown of green and yellow chiffon complete with a chiffon cape that shimmered to the hemline was the epitome of this fashion favorite. A gown of white French cut velvet, featuring a muted gold design and trimmed with a blond mink collar, was fit for a fairy princess.

Stanfield Opponents Allege Bribe Attempt

N.S. Election Probe Requested

TRURO, N.S. (CP)—The two candidates running as independents in the federal Colchester-Hants by-election Monday say they have been offered bribes to withdraw from the contest. The third candidate is Progressive Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield.

Elwood Smith of Sudbury, Ont., campaigning as an independent despite membership in the New Democratic Party, said today he has sent a letter to Chief Electoral Officer J. M. Hamel in Ottawa asking for an inquiry.

He says in the letter he is prepared to name the persons involved in the bribery offer to an inquiry.

Robert Kirk, an Independent Liberal who came last at the polls when Colchester-Hants was won by Conservative Cyril Kennedy in the 1965 election, said he too had been offered bribes.

"Definite," he said in confirming the report. He was urged to withdraw by "not only bribery but by threats of life."

The bribes were offered in person by individuals he would not name. The threats were made by telephone and became so violent that "I had to get the doctor to come and give my wife a needle for her nerves."

However, Mr. Kirk said he would make no pre-election protest because it might hurt his chances. "The election might be called off and I think I can defeat Stanfield."

In his letter to Mr. Hamel, Mr. Smith says that "on Oct. 24 an offer of money was made to encourage me to withdraw from the campaign.

"The offer indicated that I would be paid my nomination fee and possibly additional money to cover expenses."

FINAL BULLETINS

'Everybody in CBC Smeared'

OTTAWA (CP) — Stanley Knowles (NDP-Winnipeg North Centre) today accused State Secretary LaMarsh of smearing everybody in the CBC.

He made the comment during an angry Commons exchange about Miss LaMarsh's charge on television that CBC suffers from "rotten management" in many areas of its operation.

Greek Actress Put Under Guard

NEW YORK (AP)—Greek-born actress Melina Mercouri has been informed by the FBI that there may be an attempt on her life, presumably because of her criticism of Greece's ruling junta, a spokesman said today. The spokesman said she has been put under police protection. Miss Mercouri is appearing on the Broadway stage in "Illya Darling".

Stars Fined for Poor NHL Play

FROM ANGOLA

Mercenaries Invade Congo

KINSHASA (AP) — A column of white mercenaries and Negro soldiers invaded The Congo's Katanga province from the Portuguese colony of Angola, Congolese government sources said today.

The unidentified band crossed the border some time Wednesday and stole at least four trucks, the army reported. Other government reports put the number of trucks at 16.

From the border the soldiers drove about 60 miles east and captured a train, the army said.

Latest reports put them about halfway to Lubumbashi, the Katangan capital formerly known as Elisabethville, with about 100 miles to go.

Military sources said The Congo Army would probably blow up one of several bridges along the way. The government said all troops in the area have been dispatched to cut off the column.

PROMISE ACTION

In a recent interview in the Brussels daily La Derniere Heure, two close collaborators of the Belgian mercenary leader, Col. Jean Schramme, had announced that if negotiations with The Congo government for the evacuation of the rebels failed, a new action would be undertaken. The interviewed mercenaries added that at any rate the political action against the Mobutu regime would continue.

Reports in Kinshasa, the federal capital formerly known as Leopoldville, said Congolese troops have launched a new attack in the Bukavu area.

The Red Cross has been trying in vain to organize evacuation from Bukavu of the white mercenaries and rebel Katangans. The Congolese government has not yet replied to a Red Cross request for a cease-fire so that the rebels could be flown out of The Congo.

Bukavu, near the eastern border of The Congo, is about 1,000 miles northeast of the force reported invading from Angola.

Government sources said heavy fighting has left 28 mercenaries and 87 rebel Katangan gendarmes dead at Bukavu. Diplomatic sources, while not confirming the casualty figures, reported gains by The Congo Army.

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Cosmos 188, one of two Soviet satellites that automatically linked together Monday, has been brought back to earth, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today. The other satellite was brought back Monday.

Communists Beaten Off, 463 Killed

SAIGON (CP) — Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops tried and failed again in a massive attack today to capture Loc Ninh, a district headquarters town they first struck last Sunday. U.S. and South Vietnamese soldiers, artillery and planes hurled them back.

Field dispatches said 463 Communists were killed in this fourth drive of the week on Loc Ninh, near the Cambodian frontier 72 miles north of Saigon. Geurrillas in retreat after a disastrous setback Tuesday had told villagers they would return.

If confirmed, the new casualty figure would push the total Communist dead through the running battle in that sector to 832.

A U.S. spokesman reported the southern allied losses through the week totalled 35 dead and 106 wounded.

CELEBRATION ON

Moscow Unveils Statue of Lenin

MOSCOW (CP)—Russia today began its formal celebration of the 50th anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution by unveiling a statue of Lenin in the Kremlin.

Leonid Brezhnev, Communist party general secretary, walked slowly up to the pedestal holding the statue of Lenin, founder of the Soviet state, and cut the ribbon holding a sheet over it.

Russia planned six days of festivities to mark the anniversary. The celebrations are to culminate in an hour-long military parade through Red Square Nov. 7 and a spectacular fireworks display that night.

While Soviet factories produced replicas of old coats and conical hats worn by the first Red Army, Communist leaders began gathering for talks. A key subject was China, the one major Communist power that snubbed Russia's invitation to the big party.

Communist sources said they expected the current discussions to lead toward a world Communist conference at which the Soviet concept of proper Communist policies could be officially endorsed and China's condemned.

'Freedom This Month'

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain announced today it will give independence to the South Arabian Federation in the second half of this month, when all British forces will be withdrawn.

'OPPRESSION'

China Raps Russian Leadership

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The New China news agency today launched a violent attack on the Russian leadership, accusing it of capitalist-style exploitation and police state oppression.

In a lengthy article, marking the start in Russia of celebrations of the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, the agency bitterly denounced what it called "the privileged bourgeois stratum" ruling Russia.

"It exercises strict control over the armed troops, ceaselessly strengthens police measures, plants plainclothed agents in every nook and corner of the country, sets up many concentration camps and ruthlessly supresses the discontent and opposition of the working people," the agency said.

The agency claimed that demonstrations and strikes are held in many places in Russia despite police suppression.

Euromart Move 'Total'—Brown

LONDON (AP) — Britain's commitment to join the European Common Market is total, Foreign Secretary George Brown declared today.

"Our major field of operations from now on must be in and through Europe," Brown told a packed House of Commons.

The foreign secretary was speaking against the background of a political turmoil which has placed his own government post in danger.

Britain, he said, wants to "work out in Europe, and with other Europeans, our common destiny and not just our economic destiny, but our political destiny too."

Brown said there is a growing public opinion in Europe urging Britain and Europe onward toward "a really effective European unity." But he shied away from advocating some form of federalism when questioned by a Labor MP.

PROMPTED LAUGHTER

He brought laughter to ease the tension somewhat when he referred to French opposition to British entry into the Common Market as "the immovable object." He quickly added:

"The forces building up more and more in support of our entry into the European communities are not ranged against France and they are not ranged against the French government.

"The tide of public opinion is for Europe. And France, no less than Britain, is an essential part of Europe."

Brown said he has noted a shift in emphasis in the last few weeks in the French position toward British entry. The British have long maintained that President de Gaulle's attitude toward British membership is political.

Now, said Brown, the French see Britain's economic strength and the world role of sterling as the main obstacle. The British government, he said, stands ready to discuss in detail these viewpoints during negotiations.

The foreign secretary spoke of Vietnam and the possibilities of peace in glum terms. He said prospects of negotiations are dim "because the gulf between the combatants seems at the moment to be much too wide."

SEES HALT IN BOMBING

He said he remains convinced the Americans will halt the bombing of North Vietnam "as soon as it is clear that the possibility of progress to negotiations for peace is in sight." He added, however:

"But with no indication from the other side of what might or might not flow from a decision to stop the bombings, the cost has to be counted in terms of Vietnamese, American, Australian and New Zealand lives."

University Autonomy To Be Studied

MONTREAL (CP)—A study of relations between universities and governments—from the ground up—was announced at a press conference today by representatives of university students and teachers.

Announcement of the study was made on an assurance received Wednesday that the Ford Foundation will finance the $150,000 project.

Dr. Jacques St. Pierre, chairman of a steering committee of teachers and student leaders which approached the foundation, said three commissioners would be appointed "within the next few weeks" to undertake the year-long study.

The steering committee includes Dr. St. Pierre, professor of mathematical studies, University of Montreal, Doug Wahl of the Canadian Union of Students, Robert Thessier of the Quebec General Students Union, Dr. A. B. B. Moore, president of Toronto's Victoria University, and J. Percy Smith, executive director of the Canadian Association of University Teachers.

Dr. St. Pierre said the mandate of the study is to examine "the distinctive role of universities in the changing Canadian society and to determine the need, nature and extent of both university autonomy and government control of universities."

Recommendations on the basis of the study will be submitted by the three-man commission for approval to the student and teacher associations and the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada.

DENIES INFERENCE

Dr. St. Pierre denied that the study was given impetus by the decision last year of the federal government to discontinue grants to universities, thereby leaving them dependent on provincial governments in financial negotiations for public money.

The problem of university-government relations, he said, has been growing increasingly acute in the opinion of members of the academic community in the last few years. It has also been recognized by governments.

"When we approached the departments of education of each of the 10 provincial governments they were very enthusiastic about the proposal, but didn't feel they were in a position to contribute financially."

St. Vincent Society

By TED GASKELL

The St. Vincent de Paul Society only receives 1.3 per cent of the United Red Feather Red Cross Appeal budget but every penny will be well spent.

Its total budget is $5,810 and the United Appeal will provide $5,245.

Where does the money go? It goes to families in need; it helps to provide homes, permanent and temporary for children who are destitute.

In the first 10 months of this year, says secretary Maurice Johnson, the society has provided 2,750 quarts of milk to the needy. It has served 400 hot meals, provided 870 night's shelter. Last Christmas the society distributed 53 hampers which served 205 persons.

It has found homes, foster or adoption, for 88 children and gave a Christmas party for the same number.

Two truckloads of warm clothing were sent up to Tofino to help out people who had suffered as the result of the tidal wave.

Not long ago the society learned of an elderly couple, both too old to work, who lived in two rooms which they couldn't afford to heat. The society paid the fuel bill.

Four youngsters in a family were suffering because their father was too sick to work but wasn't eligible for welfare. The society provided for their needs until the social welfare could take over.

A tradesman from the east expecting to find work here, moved out with his family. There was no work and no money until St. Vincent de Paul Society arranged for him to retrain at a vocational school and provided temporary help for his family.

"We try to get people to help themselves wherever possible," said Mr. Johnson. "We have no office and always visit the needy at their homes so we can see for ourselves what is required.

But the society isn't always paying out.

Sometimes the families helped make donations when they are financially able. Recently a cheque was received from Quebec from the family of a transient the society had helped here.

The society helps in the case of fires and disasters and is working on a plan to act as a central control for general aid.

"The society, under the proposed plan, would act as a co-ordinator of donations," said president G. F. Cox.

"At the moment there is sometimes an embarrassment of one thing and a shortage of another, when disaster or fire strikes.

"As co-ordinator we would accept donations and issue clothing and furniture as needed. In case of duplication we would hold articles for use at another time."

Inflation is high prices. Th' spirallin' starts when y' stop complainin' about 'em.

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1967 --PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

We got a letter from Montreal the other morning with snips and snaps of news, and woven through all, a lament for the dear departed. This is, or I should say was, Expo 67 — and who can blame Mayor Jean Drapeau for hoping that at least a shadow of a fair so wondrous may remain?

But Expo's end was ordained even before its amazing birth. The funeral rites have been pronounced, and though the shell still stands, the essence has departed.

That, I suppose, is as it should be since we get nowhere by dwelling on past triumphs beyond the point where they bear upon our future.

What this may be, we can only guess, and if Laurier Lapierre's well-publicized forebodings are realized, Expo could have been Canada's swan song.

Dr. Lapierre, however, is stalking a seat in Commons. From an ingrained distrust of even the semi-political speech, I prefer to table his warning along with the claims of hasty eulogists who insist that because of Expo. all must now be well with Ca-na-da.

For myself, I don't believe that either national damnation or salvation are as yet so starkly visible. I'm content to be mighty proud of the fact that we succeeded in building a highly superior Big Rock Candy Mountain, which we shared in near-perfect amity with all the world.

★

I first saw Expo as a bewilderment of mud and raw red structural steel, and, standing in danger of sudden death from galloping truck and flying cable, tried hard to project the finished picture.

But imagination can only extend so far; and Expo in embryo did not prepare the viewer for the full-feathered reality.

If you were lucky enough to see it with your own eyes, you don't need my picture. For those who didn't make the pilgrimage, let me tell you first that Expo as it burst upon my startled sight something over a year after that first visit, was uncommonly like my childhood picture of heaven.

There were no pearly gates, only ticket booths and turnstiles, and the paving was common blacktop instead of gold. I didn't see any identifiable angels, either, although the total friendliness of the place suggested that here indeed was millenium.

You walked uncrowded, although one of a vast throng; and ahead of you, and on both sides, and behind you, incredible buildings blossomed.

You could spend hours ransacking with amazed eyes the treasures that any of them contained, and pass on to the next and the one after that, knowing the catalogue of wonders was inexhaustible.

Some of those buildings had spires—you have seen their pictures—and some were mere airily-supported roofs, that flowed in compound curves, both delicate and strong. There was the great orb that glowed at night as earth must when seen from distant space, and a jewel-like pagoda, looking languid at a waterway where sampans cruised.

True the sampans were motorized, and so were the gondolas; and for a reminder that heaven hadn't altogether materialzied on the St. Lawrence, such lineups as we may never witness again.

There were also beer gardens where the nations met and the brew was good.

I remember one in particular where a physical education teacher from Pennsylvania leaped lithe as a gazelle over a railing, beer mug in one hand and my wife's camera in the other, to oblige us by taking our picture.

She wouldn't do anything like that at home, I'll bet, or in Victoria either, always provided we had become civilized to the point of acquiring beer gardens. This, though, was Expo, a moated city of peculiar magic.

Expo was all I have tried to tell you, and infinitely more. It was even worth the sacrifice of three fishing weeks. Higher tribute than that, I cannot pay.

Actions on Secret Report Bared by Reeve Bryant

DIRECTORS BACK CHAMBER CHIEF

Esquimalt Chamber of Commerce directors today backed president Ian Andersen in his dispute with Reeve Ray Bryant and Coun. Gerald Horne.

The directors agreed the reeve should not have blamed political opponents for the unofficial release of the controversial Macdonell Report on municipal police and fire department inefficiency.

And the directors said the reeve should not have criticized Mr. Andersen for objecting to the reeve's statements.

A statement issued by the chamber said:

"Esquimalt Chamber of Commerce directors met this morning and gave a unanimous vote of confidence to its president, Ian Andersen."

NOT INVOLVED

The directors noted that the reeve and councillor had publicly claimed Mr. Andersen was hurting the chamber image by being politically biases.

"While the chamber does not intend to get involved in political issues . . . they unanimously endorsed president Andersen's stand that the reeve should not have gone on national television and local media accusing his election opponents of dirty politics and smear tactics when no one knows who released the report or why it was released."

PRESSURE GROUP

The directors are Peter Gardner, vice-president; Ken Bishop, secretary; Len Wakeman, Charles Harris, George Laak and Ed Liersch. Jim Turnbull was absent from the meeting.

They said they were concerned about continued accusations that the chamber is a political pressure group that does little for the community.

The directors attached a long list of community projects carried out in the past year on publicity, park planning, beautification planning, window painting and costume contests and anti-litter campaigning.

"With some encouragement from council there is much more the chamber could do," the statement added.

Esquimalt police commission this morning listed the major recommendations of the Macdonell job evaluation report already implemented in the municipality.

In releasing the list, Police Commission chairman Reeve Ray Bryant said the commission would not discuss now, nor in the future, the personality problems mentioned in the report by retired RCMP officer Macdonell.

"If anyone wishes to publicly discuss them they will find from competent legal advice that they will immediately be subject to legal action," he said.

One of the major recommendations of the Macdonell report was that the Esquimalt police force be strengthened.

"In May, 1966, the Esquimalt police force totalled one chief, two sergeants, two corporals and 17 constables," the statement released today by the three-man commission states.

"As of October this year the force totals one chief, two sergeants, five corporals, 16 constables, three clerk communicators and clerk typist.

"Also there now exists a signed mutual assistance fire agreement with the Dockyard Fire Department which did not exist in May, 1966."

Other changes made following receipt of the Macdonell report include:

- The establishment of a detective branch when practical and necessary but with a training program formulated at once.
- Revision of holiday roster.
- A non-commissioned officer in charge of each shift.
- Improved office accommodation and a complete renovation of the police station.
- More and better police equipment.

Changes in the promotion system placing merit above seniority.

Changes recommended by the Macdonell report but not implemented by the police commission included a suggestion that the rank of corporal be abolished.

Reeve Bryant said serious consideration was given to the recommendation but the unamimous decision was that the rank of corporal should be retained for the time being.

"This is only some of the work done by the commission since receiving the report," the police commission statement said. "But it is felt that it is sufficient to correct any suggestions that the commission has ignored this report.

"The commission would like to go on record at this time and categorically state its pride in the Esquimalt police department, the members of the force and their record of service and protection to the people of Esquimalt."

Two Seek Saanich Seat

An insurance underwriter and a woman active in parent-teacher activities said Wednesday they will contest the lone Saanich seat coming vacant on the Great Victoria School Board.

They are Richard Reeve, 4105 Torquay, who previously served 14 years on the board, retiring undefeated in 1963, and Mrs. R. B. Restall, 3208 Bellevue, past-president of the Greater Victoria Parent-Teacher Council.

Both will be after the seat now held by Mrs. Frances Thompson, a 10-year veteran who announced recently she will not be seeking re-election.

There are three urban Saanich representatives on the nine-man Greater Victoria board, three from Victoria, two from Oak Bay and one from Esquimalt. Members serve staggered two-year terms.

NO OPPONENT

No opponent has yet declared himself against board chairman Peter Bunn who sits for Oak Bay and is seeking re-election.

In Victoria, past-chairman John Porteous and newcomer trustee Dr. Victor Rogers are completing two-year terms. Mr. Porteous said he will seek a fourth term and Dr. Rogers said he has not made his mind up yet.

This is an off-year for election of Esquimalt's trustee.

Books Loaned At Night

Evening hours at libraries in two Greater Victoria schools were introduced for the first time Wednesday evening.

At Victoria High, where the library will be open from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Monday to Thursday on an experimental basis, principal Duncan Lorimer said he was pleased with the initial response from students.

"They were coming and going but there was up to about 20 using it," he said, predicting use will increase as word spreads.

The evening hours will provide students with more facilities to research projects and do homework, he said.

The same hours will be kept by Esquimalt Junior Secondary School.

Principal Don Smith said there had been little advance notice and only two students showed up Wednesday night.

"But I think they'll be more tonight. It's going to take a little time to catch on."

In both cases the use of the libraries is restricted to students at the school.

Marijuana Trial Set

The trial of a man charged with possession of marijuana for purposes of trafficking has been set for Nov. 27.

Francis Neel, 746 Dupplin, was one of four men who appeared in magistrate's court today to have the dates for trial fixed on marijuana charges.

Edward Sukis, 809 Penwell, charged with possession, will also be tried on Nov. 27.

The joint trial of Verne Green, 536 Johnson, and Alfons Hughes, Lake Cowichan, was fixed to continue Friday afternoon.

All four have pleaded not guilty.

DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE
. . . supports younger generation

Hippies Block Out Good Efforts Of Young—Duke

The hippies are getting hippier and the squares are getting squarer.

That is how the Duke of Devonshire sees the young people of Britain today.

"I use the term 'square' in reference to the hard core of young men and women who are working really hard to make something of themselves.

"The hippies are still very much with us, but in Britain, as elsewhere, they get all the publicity and little is heard of the solid young citizens who are part of our national backbone.

"In the mass, I have no fears for our younger generation."

The tall, 47-year-old Duke of Devonshire flew to Victoria this morning to address a joint luncheon of the Royal Commonwealth Society, Greater Victoria Chamber of Commerce and Victoria Rotary Club in the Empress Hotel.

TORY MINISTER

He is both president of the Federation of Commonwealth Chambers of Commerce and chairman of the Royal Commonwealth Society, which has a world membership of 30,000.

The duke last visited Victoria in May, 1964, when he was Britain's minister of state for Commonwealth Relations in the then Conservative government.

"I'm out of politics now," he said, "and I think the British Labor government will be in power for quite a while."

He declined comment on the current fracas between British Foreign Secretary George Brown and Lord Thomson of Fleet but said of Lord Thomson:

"He is a good friend of mine and he makes a fine contribution to many debates in the House of Lords."

The duke believes Britain should join the European Common Market and says it wouldn't weaken her link with the Commonwealth.

MANY THREADS

"The Commonwealth is changing fast," he said, "but I see no integral weakness in it. We are a cross-section of the world composed of prosperous countries, poor countries and developing countries. We are tied, not by a rope, but by a myriad of threads."

The duke believes Canada and other senior countries of the Commonwealth are doing much to help developing countries.

"This is not only morally right; it is in our own interests, for when these countries get on their feet they will create markets for us, and they will be less likely to join with Communist powers."

The duke, whose family title goes back to 1694, has a castle in Southern Ireland, a home in Derbyshire, England, and a residence in London. He was entertained at a reception given by the Victoria branch, Royal Commonwealth Society, this afternoon.

Shares Stolen From Home

Some $30,000 worth of shares were stolen from a Lansdowne Road home Monday, but it appears they are worthless to the thieves.

Oak Bay police doubt the shares, taken from the home of Edward Rosenthall, 3020 Lansdowne, are of any use to anyone other than the registered owner.

Cuff links, a watch, radio and some food were also taken.

AS STOP-GAP MEASURE

Send Work West Mayor Urges PM

By JIM HUME
Times City Hall Reporter

Mayor Hugh Stephen will wire Prime Minister Pearson today urging that some federal shipbuilding or ship repair programs be swung to the west coast.

The mayor said he felt that some work could be shifted west even if only as a stop-gap measure to keep the VMD shipyard active while alternate solutions to the present impasse were found.

Mayor Stephen made the statement following a long session in his office with shipyard union officials and Harold Husband, president of VMD.

'OPENLY, HONESTLY'

"It was an amicable meeting," the mayor said. "We discussed just about every facet of the problem openly and honestly. No definite proposals for the future emerged, but then we didn't expect any. The idea of the meeting was that we should get together and openly discuss the problem and that is what we did."

Mayor Stephen said he had received a telephone call from MP David Groos in Ottawa stating that the Liberal member for the area was still working on the problem but so far without definite signs of success.

The matter has, however, been placed before the prime minister and it is with this in view that the mayor was to communicate with Mr. Pearson expressing the city's concern at the loss of one of the major payrolls in the area.

"I don't think there is much else we can say at this time," the mayor said.

The announcement that VMD had built its last ship was made last Friday by Mr. Husband.

Fund Target $250,000 For New Clinic

A $650,000 building is planned on Queen Alexandra Solarium grounds by the Handicapped Children Clinic.

A capital campaign aimed at raising $250,000 will be held after the first of the new year.

Balance of the cost has been pledged by federal and provincial governments, clinic board of directors president Fred Tanner confirmed today.

Mr. Tanner said the project resulted from an offer of three acres of land by the Solarium or. a 40-year lease basis. The renewable lease will cost the clinic $1 per year.

"It is all contingent on us raising the $250,000," said Mr. Tanner. He said it had not been intended to announce the drive until after the current Red Feather-Red Cross campaign.

The clinic depends on the united appeal drive for $20,000 of its annual $50,000 operating cost. The province gives an operational grant of $15,000 annually and the women's auxiliary to the clinic raises $15,000 independently.

TREATMENTS

The clinic, which now offers treatments and training to 112 youngsters, most of whom suffer from neuro-muscular ailments, opened at Royal Jubilee hospital 13 years ago.

Since then it has been forced by an expanded clientele to move to an abandoned army hut on Argyle Street. Today this is overcrowded.

"We began negotiations with the two governments a couple of years ago," said Mr. Tanner.

A staff of 19 is employed by the clinic, including four teachers and an aide who are paid by Greater Victoria School Board.

Columnist Sues Broadcaster

Bill Thomas, columnist with The Daily Colonist, has filed a suit for slander against Ralph Pashley, open-line broadcaster with radio station CKDA.

The suit, filed in B.C. Supreme Court here Wednesday, is in respect of an alleged defamatory statement made by Mr. Pashley regarding Mr. Thomas in an open-line program on Feb. 28 last.

Louis Lindholm is counsel for Mr. Thomas.

No Sale Before Summer

Victoria lost its first London barrow-boy this morning before he unlimbered his first load of fruit and flowers on the Causeway.

But there is a good chance that ex-Cockney P. H. P. Helleher, 1076 Esquimalt Road, may pop up in Bastion Square next summer with a "fresh apples—don't bruise 'em if you ain't gonna buy 'em" cry.

Mr. Helleher asked Victoria's health committee this morning for permission to operate a fresh fruit and flowers "barrer" on the Causeway.

The committee declined.

"If we allow one there will be many other requests," Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said.

City Manager Denis Young agrees, but with regret.

"I must say the idea is appealing," he said. "But I thnk we have to refuse."

Ald. Lily Wilson suggested a compromise.

"For a long time I have had the idea that during the summer a part of Bastion Square could be used for the sale of fresh fruits and flowers," she said. "I think it would be a pleasant and attractive addition to the Square and would be bound to attract traffic."

The rest of the committee agreed and Mr. Young was instructed to check the possibilities of operating such a miniature farmers' market in the Square during the summer months—with, naturally, at least one London "barrer boy" selling his wares.

Ask The Times

Q. Where are TV personalities Bob Quintrell and Brad Keane? B.L.G.

A. Quintrell is freelancing in Vancouver and is also a researcher and on-the-air interviewer for the CBC 7 o'Clock Show.

Keane is an account executive with CHQM in Vancouver. He also does sports for that station and does freelance work.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Indecent Calls

A 19-year-old youth pleaded guilty in magistrate's court today to eight counts of making indecent phone calls.

Oak Bay police testified the youth admitted to placing over 100 of the calls to women selected at random from the telephone directory.

Most of the calls took place in early July.

Magistrate Ostler remanded the case to Nov. 10 and ordered a pre-sentence and a psychiatric report.

POPPIES in memory of servicemen who made the supreme sacrifice go on sale to the public Friday evening and all day Saturday, and proceeds will go to help Victoria veterans. George Burnham, 620 Cook, displays box of poppies beside Royal Canadian Legion's memorial window display at Fort and Government. A non-denominational Remembrance Day service will be held in St. John's Anglican Church, Sunday, at 3 p.m., when Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will read the lesson.

SIDNEY, NORTH SAANICH — POLL TEST SATURDAY

Survey Hints Merger Vote Will Read 'No'

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Will residents of North Saanich and Sidney vote in favor of amalgamation?

The question is uppermost in the minds of residents of the two districts who will cast their votes for or against merger at the two municipal halls Saturday between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.

●

While the question will be decided at the polls a consensus at this date indicates the vote will be "no" unless (and this is unlikely) there is a last-minute swing.

There are several factors which appear to doom the union proposal at the present time.

The first is that a 60 per cent majority vote in each of the two municipalities is necessary. Both Sidney and North Saanich must favor union.

Another involves the social characteristics of the two districts.

Sidney, for example, has a high proportion of elderly people who are expected to vote "no" because union will mean a tax increase. Statistics show that 23 per cent of the population is under 14 years and 25 per cent over 65 years.

While the Stevenson and Kellogg report shows that Sidney will stand to gain taxwise by amalgamation in a few years, public opinion is that elderly people with limited income will vote against union.

Family incomes are also lower in Sidney than North Saanich. It averages $4,822.

●

The family income in North Saanich is $5,199, almost 8 per cent higher.

But despite higher family incomes and with fewer residents over the age of 65 (21 per cent), the majority of North Saanich voters are also expected to vote "no," but for different reasons.

The main objection to union is the fear it will result in the destruction of the rural amenities of the municipality.

This view is not shared by Sidney residents who are on the whole just as interested in preserving the open spaces of the adjoining municipality. Taxation is the only issue.

Sidney Mayor A. W. Freeman and North Saanich Reeve J. B. Cummings are divided on the subject.

Mayor Freeman feels amalgamation would be a good thing, but the people are not yet ready for it.

He feels the matter should be considered at some later date.

Reeve Cummings takes a different view.

As head and a member of various inter-municipal committees and boards dealing with such problems as sanitation, hospitals, recreation and planning, he feels union should take place now to curb rising taxes.

●

It would be cheaper to unite now than later, he believes.

Another factor induced him to bring the amalgamation to the fore and that was to find out what the residents wanted so that planning could go ahead in one direction or the other.

Police Chief Asks Press To Leave

VANCOUVER (CP) — City police chief Ralph Booth demanded that newsmen leave a meeting which he was addressing Wednesday evening. He said that fear of distortion of his remarks made it impossible for him to speak freely with reporters present.

Mr. Booth accused the press of sensationalism and telling only half a story.

"I am going to be blunt," he said. "A good deal of the problems we are dealing with are created by the press."

The police chief was speaking at a meeting of the British Columbia Correctional Association. A second speaker was Dr. Robert Rowan, political philosophy professor at the University of British Columbia, who said that rights which civilized society had acquired over centuries should not be casually set aside.

He was referring to a brief presented to the Canadian Association of Police Chiefs last April and signed by Mr. Booth which advocated increasing police powers. The brief called for police rights to enter and search homes without warrants of persons suspected of minor crimes, and psychological tests for magistrates.

The brief raised public protests, as have previous demands by Mr. Booth for compulsory identity cards, universal fingerprinting of citizens, and the right for policemen to lift licences of drivers they suspect of drinking alcohol.

Arctic Expert To Speak

An Arctic explorer and a leading authority on Canada's northlands will speak to the Men's Canadian Club of Victoria next Thuesday.

Lieut.-Col. P. D. Baird, geology department, McGill University, will speak on "a future for the Canadian Arctic" at a luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel, starting at 12:15 p.m.

The Cambridge University-educated geologist, was a member of the Sir James Wordie expedition to Greenland and Baffin Island and of the British Canadian Arctic expedition in 1936-37.

He served in the Second World War and later became nationally known as commander of Exercise "Muskox," the first mechanized military force to cross the Arctic barrens in winter from Churchill to the Rockies and Edmonton.

He is a member of the Arctic defence research board, the Arctic Institute of North America, and Research Fellow Aberdeen University.

Doctoral Degree Key To Economic Status

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Patrick McTaggart-Cowan, president of Simon Fraser University, said Wednesday the key to current social and economic status is a doctoral degree.

"The graduate with a BA today has no greater storehouse of knowledge than I had in 1929 when I matriculated from high school," he said in an interview.

More had to be taught young people in lower grades, to free the higher levels to handle new knowledge. If presented properly, calculus could be taught at the Grade 2 level.

McTaggart-Cowan, whose university opened two years ago in Burnaby, is a delegate to the annual meeting of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada this week.

He said the education process of the future may begin to teach people how to think instead of forcing them to remember facts.

"The rate at which new knowledge increases is going up, but you can't go on just piling it on the backs of students—all you get is mental indigestion."

Embalmer's Knife Revives 'Dead' Man

WASHINGTON (AP)—A young American soldier, pronounced dead of wounds, showed signs of life while under the knife of a U.S. Army embalmer in Vietnam.

Specialist Jacky C. Bayne, 22, of Fort Mill, S.C., was pronounced dead near Chu Lai last July 16 after doctors had worked for 45 minutes trying resuscitation.

His seemingly lifeless body was sent routinely to an Army graves-registration section nearby and it was sometime later—no one knows exactly how long—when the embalmer's knife made its first incision.

There was a faint flicker of life and Bayne was taken back to a field hospital. After more resuscitation and numerous blood transfusions there were other signs of life.

Today, more than three months later, Bayne is moving toward at least limited recovery at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

The Bayne story was published today by the Knight newspapers.

CAR CRASH KILLS VICTORIA MAN

One of two men killed in a car crash on the Trans-Canada Highway near Hell's Gate last week was identified by police Wednesday night as Mike Ellis, 1157 Balmoral.

The other is Lloyd Zygraliski of Lillooet.

The car missed a curve on the highway last Thursday and plunged off a cliff 400 feet below the highway.

The wreckage of their car was only discovered by police Wednesday.

Twelve other persons have been killed on the same stretch of highway in the past year.

Newfoundland Gets Czech Pavilion

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP))—The Czechoslovakian Pavilion at Expo 67 has been presented as "an outright gift to the government and people of Newfoundland," Premier Joseph Smallwood announced today.

He made the announcement at a news conference attended by Zdenek Koudelka, deputy commissioner general of the pavilion, and two other representatives of the Czech government.

Mr. Smallwood also disclosed that he will go to Prague within the next few weeks to meet Czechoslovakian Prime Minister Josef Lenart "to thank him and the government and people of Czechoslovakia for a very, very handsome gesture."

Mr. Smallwood, with the approval of the Czech delegates, also disclosed plans to name the two arts and culture centres at Gander and Grand Falls—for which the two-building pavilion would be used—after Czechoslovakian composer Anton Dvorak and a 16th-century Roman Catholic educationist, Bishop Comenius. They would be the Dvorak Centre at Gander and the Comenius Centre at Grand Falls.

Mr. Smallwood gave the floor to Mr. Koudelka, but joked with him during his remarks about the premier's vying with Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau for the $4,000,000 pavilion.

Mr. Koudelka said: "Mr. Drapeau was very interested . . . but Mr. Smallwood acted very fast and was very friendly to us."

between Arab and Jew, he warned that time is running out.

"Yet I believe there are no elements in the problem fundamentally insoluble. It is the cloud of suspicion, of fear and of recrimination which prevents progress and I believe that cloud is so dense that it is unrealistic that the mere pressure of events will bring the two sides together in negotiation."

He said he hopes to announce soon resumption of diplomatic relations with Egypt.

Co-operation Aim of Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and France have made a deal to co-operate more closely in development of programs in the field of defence production, research and development, it was announced today.

A brief government release said the move was aimed at strengthening relations between the two countries. But it was understood that another aim is to promote trade in the defence field between the two countries.

Mammoth Park Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Senate voted Wednesday to create a mammoth national park in California to spare thousands of acres of virgin redwoods timberland from the lumberman's axe.

But, to help defray the cost of the 64,000-acre preserve on California's northern coast, it decided to trade a 14,567-acre tract of government-owned redwood timber to four large lumber companies in exchange for their private lands inside the park area.

The park proposal, which will be taken up by the House Interior Committee next year, passed 77 to 6, but the land-swap arrangement survived by a vote of 51 to 30.

Mr. Thessier, representing the French-speaking students' union, said in French that although his organization was a strongly autonomous one, its executive welcomed the opportunity to take part in the "first university-governments relations study which has not been pragmatic, bureaucratic and content to accept the status quo."

Dr. St. Pierre said the commission would receive briefs from all interested groups and would hold public hearings.

Air Crash Kills 5

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (UPI) — Five persons, two of them children, were found dead today in the wreckage of a plane near the Grand Canyon airport.

THREE HOURS BEFORE SINKING

Liferaft Drop Rejected by Captain

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Less than three hours before the freighter Panoceanic Faith sank in Alaskan waters Oct. 9, the skipper rejected an offered drop of liferafts, a U.S. navy flier told a coast guard board of inquiry Wednesday.

Cmdr. Neil Holt testified that his Neptune patrol plane, stationed at Adak, was over the stricken ship early in the afternoon. His was the first plane on the secne and the only one low enough to watch the ship's sinking as darkness approached.

Holt testified that he radioed the Panoceanic's skipper, Capt. John Ogles, and asked if he should drop liferafts. Holt said Ogles replied he didn't want the drop then because he might not be able to pick the rafts up due to steering difficulties.

"The condition of the sip appeared to be reasonably good the first hours I was there," Holt testified. "But later the wind picked up, the swells got higher and the list became worse."

Later, Holt said, he could see 25 men in the port lifeboat.

When the ship started going down, it went quickly, disappearing beneath the waves in about two minutes, he said.

Holt testified that just before the ship sank he dropped five life-rafts. The rafts were the type that have to be inflated after reaching water, but Holt said he was sure that one 12-man raft and two seven-man rafts were inflated.

The witness said he had not talked with the skipper for at least a half hour before that becaue Ogles was talking to a Japanese ship heading for the scene from about 14 miles away.

Only five out of the crew of 40 survived.

The hearing continues.

Students Plan Hike For Charity

High school and university students will hike through Greater Victoria this month to focus attention on their aid program for underprivileged students elsewhere in the world.

The "money for miles" trek, scheduled for Nov. 25, is to raise more money for a student centennial scheme called Project 100 which will provide mobile classrooms for underdeveloped countries within the Commonwealth.

The students are looking for sponsors who will agree to pay a set sum for each mile covered by volunteer walkers. A student committee is laying out a course which will wander through the city for "at least 25 miles."

The sponsors note the walk is not an athletic contest but a means of focusing attention on the plan to help needy students. They hope prominent citizens will take part.

Woman Hurt In Collision

A 72-year-old woman is in fair condition in hospital today with cuts and bruises suffered in a car accident Wednesday at 5:15 p.m.

Mrs. Grace Longworth, 1110 Vista Heinghts, was a passenger in a car police said was dirven by Charles Longworth of 2545 Killarney.

The car was in collision with a car reportedly driven by Ralph Proceviat, 2616 Blackwood, at the intersection of Blackwood and Vista Heights.

SEGREGATIONIST ESCAPES PRE-ELECTION GUNFIRE

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Four shots were fired early today at U.S. Rep. John R. Rarick, D—La., staunchly segregationist candidate for governor of Louisiana, by "three or four dark figures" in a small car. He was not hurt.

Police quoted Rarick as saying the assailants were Negroes. Rarick's administrative assistant later denied it.

Rarick had finished a campaign commercial at a television station and was about to get into his car in a parking lot in New Orleans' historic French quarter when the small car appeared and the shots rang out.

Rarick's administrative assistant, E. Neil Edwards, was with the congressman, his wife and Dr. Fred Beck of New Orleans. Edwards said the party dived behind cars in the parking lot and the small car sped away.

Rarick opposes Gov. John J. McKeithen for the gubernatorial nomination—tantamount to election in Louisiana—in Saturday's Democratic primary. The largest field of Negro candidates in state history also is on the ballot and many Negroes will be voting for the first time.

Police said Rarick told them "at least four Negro men fired the shots. But Edwards told newsmen several hours later he could not tell.

"Everything happened so fast," Edwards said. "The small dark car appeared and someone started firing. Those in the party ducked for cover.

It is personally hard for me to say they were white or colored. It was so dark."

Police posted a guard at Rarick's home.

Dutch to Denounce Canada Air Treaty

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—The Netherlands intends to denounce its current aviation agreement with Canada because it failed to obtain landing rights for LKM Royal Dutch Airlines in Toronto.

The Dutch minister of transport and waterways, Johannes Bakker, told the lower house permanent transport committee here Wednesday that it was the first time in the history of Dutch civil aviation that such an action towards Canada was contemplated.

Canadians were reported to be surprised by the Dutch statement, especially in view of the recent decision by Canadian Pacific Airlines to move its European sales headquarters from London to Amsterdam.

Observers said the Canadians asked for reciprocal rights in return for the Toronto concession, but Holland could offer nothing beyond the existing facilities. A similar situation previously caused friction with the United States when KLM wanted landing rights there.

The current civil aviation agreement with Canada can be terminated by both parties but denunciation of the treaty by Holland would require approval of the Dutch Parliament. Even after approval of the denunciation the treaty would continue to be valid for 12 months.

Dutch officials said today that all this gave plenty of time for further talks with the Canadians and also would open up fresh opportunities for negotiating a new treaty which might be much better than the present one. Holland, in any case is willing to negotiate a new treaty.

Angry American Chooses Canada

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—A pacifist student at Brown University said he would leave for Montreal Friday to renounce his American citizenship because of his "disgust" with U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

John R. Stahl, 20, of Auburndale, Mass., made his decision while watching the anti-war demonstrations in Washington last week, he said. He took no part in the rally but was grabbed at random along with 35 other persons and thrown into a truck by the military police, Stahl said.

Expo Workers Seek New Jobs in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — An influx of former Expo employees looking for jobs on the west coast is worrying officials of the British Columbia Hotels Association.

J. Roy Corbett, managing director of the association, said Wednesday 36 people visited his office the previous day, looking for jobs in hotels, motels or restaurants, compared to the normal one or two.

Euromart Move 'Total' Says Brown

Political, Economic Destiny

LONDON (AP) — Britain's commitment to join the European Common Market is total, Foreign Secretary George Brown declared today.

"Our major field of operations from now on must be in and through Europe," Brown told a packed House of Commons.

The foreign secretary was speaking against the background of a political turmoil which has placed even his government post in danger.

Britain, he said, wants to "work out in Europe, and with other Europeans, our common destiny and not just our economic destiny, but our political destiny too."

Brown said there is a growing public opinion in Europe urging Britain and Europe onward toward "a really effective European unity." But he shied away from advocating some form of federalism when questioned by a Labor MP.

PROMPTED LAUGHTER

He brought laughter to ease the tension somewhat when he referred to French opposition to British entry into the Common Market as "the immovable object." He quickly added:

"The forces building up more and more in support of our entry into the European communities are not ranged against France and they are not ranged against the French government.

"The tide of public opinion is for Europe. And France, no less than Britain, is an essential part of Europe."

Brown said he has noted a shift in emphasis in the last few weeks in the French position toward British entry. The British have long maintained that President de Gaulle's attitude toward British membership is political.

Now, said Brown, the French see Britain's economic strength and the world role of sterling as the main obstacle. The British government, he said, stands ready to discuss in detail these viewpoints during negotiations.

The foreign secretary spoke of Vietnam and the possibilities of peace in glum terms. He said prospects of negotiations are dim "because the gulf between the combatants seem at the moment to be much too wide."

SEES HALT IN BOMBING

He said he remains convinced the Americans will halt the bombing of North Vietnam "as soon as it is clear that the possibility of progress to negotiations for peace is in sight." He added, however:

"But with no indication from the other side of what might or might not flow from a decision to stop the bombings, the cost has to be counted in terms of Vietnamese, American, Australian and New Zealand lives."

On the Middle East dispute between Arab and Jew, he warned that time is running out.

"Yet I believe there are no elements in the problem fundamentally insoluble. It is the cloud of suspicion, of fear and of recrimination which prevents progress and I believe that cloud is so dense that it is unrealistic that the mere pressure of events will bring the two sides together in negotiation."

He said he hopes to announce soon resumption of diplomatic relations with Egypt.

University Autonomy To Be Studied

MONTREAL (CP)—A study of relations between universities and governments—from the ground up—was announced at a press conference today by representatives of university students and teachers.

Announcement of the study was made on an assurance received Wednesday that the Ford Foundation will finance the $150,000 project.

Dr. Jacques St. Pierre, chairman of a steering committee of teachers and student leaders which approached the foundation, said three commissioners would be appointed "within the next few weeks" to undertake the year-long study.

The steering committee includes Dr. St. Pierre, professor of mathematical studies, University of Montreal, Doug Ward of the Canadian Union of Students, Robert Thessier of the Quebec General Students Union, Dr. A. B. B. Moore, president of Toronto's Victoria University, and J. Percy Smith, executive director of the Canadian Association of University Teachers.

Dr. St. Pierre said the mandate of the study is to examine "the distinctive role of universities in the changing Canadian society and to determine the need, nature and extent of both university autonomy and government control of universities."

Recommendations on the basis of the study will be submitted by the three-man commission for approval to the student and teacher associations and the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada.

DENIES INFERENCE

Dr. St. Pierre denied that the study was given impetus by the decision last year of the federal government to discontinue grants to universities, thereby leaving them dependent on provincial governments in financial negotiations for public money.

The problem of university-government relations, he said, has been growing increasingly acute in the opinion of members of the academic community in the last few years. It has also been recognized by governments.

"When we approached the departments of education of each of the 10 provincial governments they were very enthusiastic about the proposal, but didn't feel they were in a position to contribute financially."

The steering committee eventually applied to the Ford Foundation in preference to a Canadian financial source, he said, because the only possible sources in this country are government-sponsored, and "we didn't want it to look as though we were beginning with loaded dice."

Mr. Thessier, representing the French-speaking students' union, said in French that although his organization was a strongly autonomous one, its executive welcomed the opportunity to take part in the "first university-governments relations study which has not been pragmatic, bureaucratic and content to accept the status quo."

Dr. St. Pierre said the commission would receive briefs from all interested groups and would hold public hearings.

'MILLIONS APPROVED WITHOUT DEBATE'

STARR
. . . unfair to taxpayer

OTTAWA (CP) — Michael Starr, interim leader of the Opposition, today bitterly criticized the government and Commons rules for allowing millions of dollars in 1967-68 appropriations to be voted by the end of the day without adequate debate.

He said the Progressive Conservatives will not agree to renewal next session of the temporary rule now in effect requiring all remaining spending estimates to be voted on the 30th day of Commons study of the appropriations.

"This is not what the taxpayer expects of Parliament," Mr. Starr told a press conference. "It's not fair to the taxpayer."

CELEBRATION ON

Moscow Unveils Statue of Lenin

From Reuters-AP

MOSCOW (CP)—Russia today began its formal celebration of the 50th anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution by unveiling a statue of Lenin in the Kremlin.

Leonid Brezhnev, Communist party general secretary, walked slowly up to the pedestal holding the statue of Lenin, founder of the Soviet state, and cut the ribbon holding a sheet over it.

Russia planned six days of festivities to mark the anniversary. The celebrations are to culminate in an hour-long military parade through Red Square Nov. 7 and a spectacular fireworks display that night.

While Soviet factories produced replicas of old coats and conical hats worn by the first Red Army, Communist leaders began gathering for talks. A key subject was China, the one major Communist power that snubbed Russia's invitation to the big party.

Communist sources said they expected the current discussions to lead toward a world Communist conference at which the Soviet concept of proper Communist policies could be officially demned.

SOVIET SPACE 'SPECTACULAR' STILL AWAITED

BOSCHUM, Germany (UPI) —The West German space observatory today reported the Soviets were broadcasting Russian march music and songs on their space experiment frequencies, apparently as a prelude to a new space spectacular.

Heinz Kaminski, director of the institute for satellite and space research at Bochum, said "apparently the Soviets are trying to free these frequencies entirely to use them for the major space experiment we are expecting."

'OPPRESSION'

China Raps Russian Leadership

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The New China news agency today launched a violent attack on the Russian leadership, accusing it of capitalist-style exploitation and police state oppression.

In a lengthy article, marking the start in Russia of celebrations of the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, the agency bitterly denounced what it called "the privileged bourgeois stratum" ruling Russia.

"It exercises strict control over the armed troops, ceaselessly strengthens police measures, plants plainclothed agents in every nook and corner of the country, sets up many concentration camps and ruthlessly supresses the discontent and opposition of the working people," the agency said.

The agency claimed that demonstrations and strikes are held in many places in Russia despite police suppression.

'BACKUP' PLANE HIT

KUALA LUMPUR (AP)—A U.S. Air Force C-118 transport, scheduled to serve as a backup plane for U.S. Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey's South Vietnam battlefield tour Wednesday, was hit by four rounds of small-arms fire while on a flight with only the crew aboard, a U.S. spokesman in this Malaysian capital said today. No one was hurt.

FROM ANGOLA

Mercenaries Invade Congo

KINSHASA (AP) — A column of white mercenaries and Negro soldiers invaded The Congo's Katanga province from the Portuguese colony of Angola, Congolese government sources said today.

The unidentified band crossed the border some time Wednesday and stole at least four trucks, the army reported. Other government reports put the number of trucks at 16.

From the border the soldiers drove about 60 miles east and captured a train, the army said.

Latest reports put them about halfway to Lubumbashi, the Katangan capital formerly known as Elisabethville, with about 100 miles to go.

Military sources said The Congo Army would probably blow up one of several bridges along the way. The government said all troops in the area have been dispatched to cut off the column.

PROMISE ACTION

In a recent interview in the Brussels daily La Derniere Heure, two close collaborators of the Belgian mercenary leader, Col. Jean Schramme, had announced that if negotiations with The Congo government for the evacuation of the rebels failed, a new action would be undertaken. The interviewed mercenaries added that at any rate the political action against the Mobutu regime would continue.

Reports in Kinshasa, the federal capital formerly known as Leopoldville, said Congolese troops have launched a new attack in the Bukavu area.

The Red Cross has been trying in vain to organize evacuation from Bukavu of the white mercenaries and rebel Katangans. The Congolese government has not yet replied to a Red Cross request for a ceasefire so that the rebels could be flown out of The Congo.

Bukavu, near the eastern border of The Congo, is about 1,000 miles northeast of the force reported invading from Angola.

Communists Beaten Off, 463 Killed

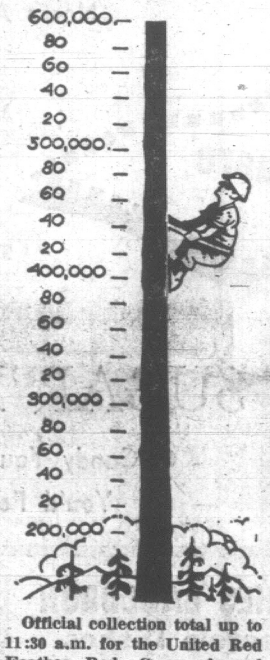

From AP-Reuters

SAIGON (CP) — Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops tried and failed again in a massive attack today to capture Loc Ninh, a district headquarters town they first struck last Sunday. U.S. and South Vietnamese soldiers, artillery and planes hurled them back.

Field dispatches said 463 Communists were killed in this fourth drive of the week on Loc Ninh, near the Cambodian frontier 72 miles north of Saigon. Geurrillas in retreat after a disastrous setback Tuesday had told villagers they would return.

St. Vincent Society

By TED GASKELL

The St. Vincent de Paul Society only receives 1.3 per cent of the United Red Feather Red Cross Appeal budget but every penny will be well spent.

Its total budget is $5,810 and the United Appeal will provide $5,245.

Where does the money go? It goes to families in need; it helps to provide homes, permanent and temporary for children who are destitute.

In the first 10 months of this year, says secretary Maurice Johnson, the society has provided 2,750 quarts of milk to the needy. It has served 400 hot meals, provided 870 night's shelter. Last Christmas the society distributed 53 hampers which served 205 persons.

It has found homes, foster or adoption, for 88 children and gave a Christmas party for the same number.

Two truckloads of warm clothing were sent up to Tofino to help out people who had suffered as the result of the tidal wave.

Not long ago the society learned of an elderly couple, both too old to work, who lived in two rooms which they couldn't afford to heat. The society paid the fuel bill.

Four youngsters in a family were suffering because their father was too sick to work but wasn't eligible for welfare. The society provided for their needs until the social welfare could take over.

A tradesman from the east expecting to find work here, moved out with his family. There was no work and no money until St. Vincent de Paul Society arranged for him to retrain at a vocational school and provided temporary help for his family.

"We try to get people to help themselves wherever possible," said Mr. Johnson. "We have no office and always visit the needy at their homes so we can see for ourselves what is required.

But the society isn't always paying out.

Sometimes the families helped make donations when they are financially able. Recently a cheque was received from Quebec from the family of a transient the society had helped here.

The society helps in the case of fires and disasters and is working on a plan to act as a central control for general aid.

"The society, under the proposed plan, would act as a co-ordinator of donations," said president G. F. Cox.

"At the moment there is sometimes an embarrassment of one thing and a shortage of another, when disaster or fire strikes.

"As co-ordinator we would accept donations and issue clothing and furniture as needed. In case of duplication we would hold articles for use at another time."

Committee To Hear Viet Monk

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons external affairs committee decided today to call a Vietnamese Buddhist monk as a witness Nov. 16.

It decided at the same time by a vote of 4 to 2—the other seven committee members present abstained—to call a witness who would express the viewpoint of the South Vietnamese government.

The monk is Thich Venerable Nhat Hanh, who lives in Paris.

The committee also instructed the external affairs department to find out whether a Canadian Parliamentary delegation would be welcome in Saigon and Hanoi.

Marcel Lambert (PC—Edmonton West) said that if the committee is going to provide a platform for everyone who wants to sound off it should also hear both sides of the Middle East, Rhodesia and Nigeria problems.

Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) said that if the committee is going to delve into the Vietnam situation it should call Canadians to testify.

He suggested Chester Ronning, who made two diplomatic missions to Hanoi for the Canadian government last year.

'Freedom This Month'

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain announced today it will give independence to the South Arabian Federation in the second half of this month, when all British forces will be withdrawn.

Co-operation Aim of Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and France have made a deal to co-operate more closely in development of programs in the field of defence production, research and development, it was announced today.

A brief government release said the move was aimed at strengthening relations between the two countries. But it was understood that another aim is to promote trade in the defence field between the two countries.

STANFIELD ELECTION FOES ALLEGE BRIBERY ATTEMPT

TRURO, N.S. (CP) — The two candidates running as independents in the federal Colchester-Hants byelection Monday say they have been offered bribes to withdraw from the contest. The third candidate is Progressive Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield.

Elwood Smith of Sudbury, Ont., campaigning as an independent despite membership in the New Democratic Party, said today he has sent a letter to Chief Electoral Officer J. M. Hamel in Ottawa asking for an inquiry.

He says in the letter he is prepared to name the persons involved in the bribery offer to an inquiry.

Robert Kirk, an Independent Liberal who came last at the polls when Colchester-Hants was won by Conservative Cyril Kennedy in the 1965 election, said he too had been offered bribes.

"Definite," he said in confirming the report. He was urged to withdraw by "not only bribery but by threats of life."

The bribes were offereed in person by individuals he would not name. The threats were made by telephone and became so violent that "I had to get the doctor to come and give my wife a needle for her nerves."

However, Mr. Kirk said he would make no pre-election protest because it might hurt his chances. "The election might be called off and I think I can defeat Stanfield."

In his letter to Mr. Hamel, Mr. Smith says that "on Oct. 24 an offer of money was made to encourage me to withdraw from the campaign.

The offer indicated that I would be paid my nomination fee and possibly additional money to cover expenses."

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1967 --PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

We got a letter from Montreal the other morning with snips and snaps of news, and woven through all, a lament for the dear departed. This is, or I should say was, Expo 67 — and who can blame Mayor Jean Drapeau for hoping that at least a shadow of a fair so wondrous may remain?

But Expo's end was ordained even before its amazing birth. The funeral rites have been pronounced, and though the shell still stands, the essence has departed.

That, I suppose, is as it should be since we get nowhere by dwelling on past triumphs beyond the point where they bear upon our future.

What this may be, we can only guess, and if Laurier Lapierre's well-publicized forebodings are realized, Expo could have been Canada's swan song.

Dr. Lapierre, however, is stalking a seat in Commons. From an ingrained distrust of even the semi-political speech, I prefer to table his warning along with the claims of hasty eulogists who insist that because of Expo. all must now be well with Ca-na-da.

For myself, I don't believe that either national damnation or salvation are as yet so starkly visible. I'm content to be mighty proud of the fact that we succeeded in building a highly superior Big Rock Candy Mountain, which we shared in near-perfect amity with all the world.

★

I first saw Expo as a bewilderment of mud and raw red structural steel, and, standing in danger of sudden death from galloping truck and flying cable, tried hard to project the finished picture.

But imagination can only extend so far; and Expo in embryo did not prepare the viewer for the full-feathered reality.

If you were lucky enough to see it with your own eyes, you don't need my picture. For those who didn't make the pilgrimage, let me tell you first that Expo as it burst upon my startled sight something over a year after that first visit, was uncommonly like my childhood picture of heaven.

There were no pearly gates, only ticket booths and turnstiles, and the paving was common blacktop instead of gold. I didn't see any identifiable angels, either, although the total friendliness of the place suggested that here indeed was millenium.

You walked uncrowded, although one of a vast throng; and ahead of you, and on both sides, and behind you, incredible buildings blossomed.

You could spend hours ransacking with amazed eyes the treasures that any of them contained, and pass on to the next and the one after that, knowing the catalogue of wonders was inexhaustible.

Some of those buildings had spires—you have seen their pictures—and some were mere airily-supported roofs, that flowed in compound curves, both delicate and strong. There was the great orb that glowed at night as earth must when seen from distant space, and a jewel-like pagoda, looking languid at a waterway where sampans cruised.

True the sampans were motorized, and so were the gondolas; and for a reminder that heaven hadn't altogether materialzied on the St. Lawrence, such lineups as we may never witness again.

There were also beer gardens where the nations met and the brew was good.

I remember one in particular where a physical education teacher from Pennsylvania leaped lithe as a gazelle over a railing, beer mug in one hand and my wife's camera in the other, to oblige us by taking our picture.

She wouldn't do anything like that at home, I'll bet, or in Victoria either, always provided we had become civilized to the point of acquiring beer gardens. This, though, was Expo, a moated city of peculiar magic.

Expo was all I have tried to tell you, and infinitely more. It was even worth the sacrifice of three fishing weeks. Higher tribute than that, I cannot pay.

Actions on Secret Report Bared by Reeve Bryant

Esquimalt police commission this morning listed the major recommendations of the Macdonell job evaluation report already implemented in the municipality.

In releasing the list, Police Commission chairman Reeve Ray Bryant said the commission would not discuss now, nor in the future, the personality problems mentioned in the report by retired RCMP officer Macdonell.

"If anyone wishes to publicly discuss them they will find from competent legal advice that they will immediately be subject to legal action," he said.

One of the major recommendations of the Macdonell report was that the Esquimalt police force be strengthened.

"In May, 1966, the Esquimalt police force totalled one chief, two sergeants, two corporals and 17 constables," the statement released today by the three-man commission states.

"As of October this year the force totals one chief, two sergeants, five corporals, 16 constables, three clerk communicators and clerk typist.

"Also there now exists a signed mutual assistance fire agreement with the Dockyard Fire Department which did not exist in May, 1966."

Other changes made following receipt of the Macdonell report include:

- The establishment of a detective branch when practical and necessary but with a training program formulated at once.
- Revision of holiday roster.
- A non-commissioned officer in charge of each shift.
- Improved office accommodation and a complete renovation of the police station.
- More and better police equipment.
- Changes in the promotion system placing merit above seniority.

Changes recommended by the Macdonell report but not implemented by the police commission included a suggestion that the rank of corporal be abolished.

Reeve Bryant said serious consideration was given to the recommendation but the unamimous decision was that the rank of corporal should be retained for the time being.

"This is only some of the work done by the commission since receiving the report," the police commission statement said. "But it is felt that it is sufficient to correct any suggestions that the commission has ignored this report.

"The commission would like to go on record at this time and categorically state its pride in the Esquimalt police department, the members of the force and their record of service and protection to the people of Esquimalt."

DIRECTORS BACK CHAMBER CHIEF

Esquimalt Chamber of Commerce directors today backed president Ian Andersen in his dispute with Reeve Ray Bryant and Coun. Gerald Horne.

The directors agreed the reeve should not have blamed political opponents for the unofficial release of the controversial Macdonell Report on municipal police and fire department inefficiency.

And the directors said the reeve should not have criticized Mr. Andersen for objecting to the reeve's statements.

A statement issued by the chamber said:

"Esquimalt Chamber of Commerce directors met this morning and gave a unanimous vote of confidence to its president, Ian Andersen."

NOT INVOLVED

The directors noted that the reeve and councillor had publicly claimed Mr. Andersen was hurting the chamber image by being politically biases.

"While the chamber does not intend to get involved in political issues ... they unanimously endorsed president Andersen's stand that the reeve should not have gone on national television and local media accusing his election opponents of dirty politics and smear tactics when no one knows who released the report or why it was released."

PRESSURE GROUP

The directors are Peter Gardner, vice-president; Ken Bishop, secretary; Len Wakeman, Charles Harris, George Laak and Ed Liersch. Jim Turnbull was absent from the meeting.

They said they were concerned about continued accusations that the chamber is a political pressure group that does little for the community.

The directors attached a long list of community projects carried out in the past year on publicity, park planning, beautification planning, window painting and costume contests and anti-litter campaigning.

"With some encouragement from council there is much more the chamber could do," the statement added.

Two Seek Saanich Seat

An insurance underwriter and a woman active in parent-teacher activities said Wednesday they will contest the lone Saanich seat coming vacant on the Great Victoria School Board.

They are Richard Reeve, 4105 Torquay, who previously served 14 years on the board, retiring undefeated in 1963, and Mrs. R. B. Restall, 3208 Bellevue, past-president of the Greater Victoria Parent-Teacher Council.

Both will be after the seat now held by Mrs. Frances Thompson, a 10-year veteran who announced recently she will not be seeking re-election.

There are three urban Saanich representatives on the nine-man Greater Victoria board, three from Victoria, two from Oak Bay and one from Esquimalt. Members serve staggered two-year terms.

NO OPPONENT

No opponent has yet declared himself against board chairman Peter Bunn who sits for Oak Bay and is seeking re-election.

In Victoria, past-chairman John Porteous and newcomer trustee Dr. Victor Rogers are completing two-year terms. Mr. Porteous said he will seek a fourth term and Dr. Rogers said he has not made his mind up yet.

This is an off-year for election of Esquimalt's trustee.

Books Loaned At Night

Evening hours at libraries in two Greater Victoria schools were introduced for the first time Wednesday evening.

At Victoria High, where the library will be open from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Monday to Thursday on an experimental basis, principal Duncan Lorimer said he was pleased with the initial response from students.

"They were coming and going but there was up to about 20 using it," he said, predicting use will increase as word spreads.

The evening hours will provide students with more facilities to research projects and do homework, he said.

The same hours will be kept by Esquimalt Junior Secondary School.

Principal Don Smith said there had been little advance notice and only two students showed up Wednesday night.

"But I think they'll be more tonight. It's going to take a little time to catch on."

In both cases the use of the libraries is restricted to students at the school.

Marijuana Trial Set

The trial of a man charged with possession of marijuana for purposes of trafficking has been set for Nov. 27.

Francis Neel, 746 Dupplin, was one of four men who appeared in magistrate's court today to have the dates for trial fixed on marijuana charges.

Edward Sukis, 809 Penwell, charged with possession, will also be tried on Nov. 27.

The joint trial of Verne Green, 536 Johnson, and Alfons Hughes, Lake Cowichan, was fixed to continue Friday afternoon.

All four have pleaded not guilty.

DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE
... supports younger generation

Hippies Block Out Good Efforts Of Young—Duke

The hippies are getting hippier and the squares are getting squarer.

That is how the Duke of Devonshire sees the young people of Britain today.

"I use the term 'square' in reference to the hard core of young men and women who are working really hard to make something of themselves.

"The hippies are still very much with us, but in Britain, as elsewhere, they get all the publicity and little is heard of the solid young citizens who are part of our national backbone.

"In the mass, I have no fears for our younger generation."

The tall, 47-year-old Duke of Devonshire flew to Victoria this morning to address a joint luncheon of the Royal Commonwealth Society, Greater Victoria Chamber of Commerce and Victoria Rotary Club in the Empress Hotel.

TORY MINISTER

He is both president of the Federation of Commonwealth Chambers of Commerce and chairman of the Royal Commonwealth Society, which has a world membership of 30,000.

The duke last visited Victoria in May, 1964, when he was Britain's minister of state for Commonwealth Relations in the then Conservative government.

"I'm out of politics now," he said, "and I think the British Labor government will be in power for quite a while."

He declined comment on the current fracas between British Foreign Secretary George Brown and Lord Thomson of Fleet but said of Lord Thomson:

"He is a good friend of mine and he makes a fine contribution to many debates in the House of Lords."

The duke believes Britain should join the European Common Market and says it wouldn't weaken her link with the Commonwealth.

MANY THREADS

"The Commonwealth is changing fast," he said, "but I see no integral weakness in it. We are a cross-section of the world composed of prosperous countries, poor countries and developing countries. We are tied, not by a rope, but by a myriad of threads."

The duke believes Canada and other senior countries of the Commonwealth are doing much to help developing countries.

"This is not only morally right; it is in our own interests, for when these countries get on their feet they will create markets for us, and they will be less likely to join with Communist powers."

The duke, whose family title goes back to 1694, has a castle in Southern Ireland, a home in Derbyshire, England, and a residence in London. He was entertained at a reception given by the Victoria branch, Royal Commonwealth Society, this afternoon.

Shares Stolen From Home

Some $30,000 worth of shares were stolen from a Lansdowne Road home Monday, but it appears they are worthless to the thieves.

Oak Bay police doubt the shares, taken from the home of Edward Rosenthall, 3020 Lansdowne, are of any use to anyone other than the registered owner.

Cuff links, a watch, radio and some food were also taken.

AS STOP-GAP MEASURE

Send Work West Mayor Urges PM

By JIM HUME
Times City Hall Reporter

Mayor Hugh Stephen will wire Prime Minister Pearson today urging that some federal shipbuilding or ship repair programs be swung to the west coast.

The mayor said he felt that some work could be shifted west even if only as a stop-gap measure to keep the VMD shipyard active while alternate solutions to the present impasse were found.

Mayor Stephen made the statement following a long session in his office with shipyard union officials and Harold Husband, president of VMD.

'OPENLY, HONESTLY'

"It was an amicable meeting," the mayor said. "We discussed just about every facet of the problem openly and honestly. No definite proposals for the future emerged, but then we didn't expect any. The idea of the meeting was that we should get together and openly discuss the problem and that is what we did."

Mayor Stephen said he had received a telephone call from MP David Groos in Ottawa stating that the Liberal member for the area was still working on the problem but so far without definite signs of success.

The matter has, however, been placed before the prime minister and it is with this in view that the mayor was to communicate with Mr. Pearson expressing the city's concern at the loss of one of the major payrolls in the area.

"I don't think there is much else we can say at this time," the mayor said.

The announcmeent that VMD had built its last ship was made last Friday by Mr. Husband.

Fund Target $250,000 For New Clinic

A $650,000 building is planned on Queen Alexandra Solarium grounds by the Handicapped Children Clinic.

A capital campaign aimed at raising $250,000 will be held after the first of the new year.

Balance of the cost has been pledged by federal and provincial governments, clinic board of directors president Fred Tanner confirmed today.

Mr. Tanner said the project resulted from an offer of three acres of land by the Solarium on a 40-year lease basis. The renewable lease will cost the clinic $1 per year.

"It is all contingent on us raising the $250,000," said Mr. Tanner. He said it had not been intended to announce the drive until after the current Red Feather-Red Cross campaign.

The clinic depends on the united appeal drive for $20,000 of its annual $50,000 operating cost. The province gives an operational grant of $15,000 annually and the women's auxiliary to the clinic raises $15,000 independently.

TREATMENTS

The clinic, which now offers treatments and training to 112 youngsters, most of whom suffer from neuro-muscular ailments, opened at Royal Jubilee hospital 13 years ago.

Since then it has been forced by an expanded clientele to move to an abandoned army hut on Argyle Street. Today this is overcrowded.

"We began negotiations with the two governments a couple of years ago," said Mr. Tanner.

A staff of 19 is employed by the clinic, including four teachers and an aide who are paid by Greater Victoria School Board.

Columnist Sues Broadcaster

Bill Thomas, columnist with The Daily Colonist, has filed a suit for slander against Ralph Pashley, open-line broadcaster with radio station CKDA.

The suit, filed in B.C. Supreme Court here Wednesday, is in respect of an alleged defamatory statement made by Mr. Pashley regarding Mr. Thomas in an open-line program on Feb. 28 last.

Louis Lindholm is counsel for Mr. Thomas.

No Sale Before Summer

Victoria lost its first London barrow-boy this morning before he unlimbered his first load of fruit and flowers on the Causeway.

But there is a good chance that ex-Cockney P. H. P. Helleher, 1076 Esquimalt Road, may pop up in Bastion Square next summer with a "fresh apples—don't bruise 'em if you ain't gonna buy 'em" cry.

Mr. Helleher asked Victoria's health committee this morning for permission to operate a fresh fruit and flowers "barrer" on the Causeway.

The committee decined.

"If we allow one there will be many other requests," Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said.

City Manager Denis Young agrees, but with regret.

"I must say the idea is appealing," he said. "But I thnk we have to refuse."

Ald. Lily Wilson suggested a compromise.

"For a long time I have had the idea that during the summer a part of Bastion Square could be used for the sale of fresh fruits and flowers," she said. "I think it would be a pleasant and attractive addition to the Square and would be bound to attract traffic."

The rest of the committee agreed and Mr. Young was instructed to check the possibilities of operating such a miniature farmers' market in the Square during the summer months—with, naturally, at least one London "barrer boy" selling his wares.

Ask The Times

Q. Where are TV personalities Bob Quintrell and Brad Keane? B.L.G.

A. Quintrell is freelancing in Vancouver and is also a researcher and on-the-air interviewer for the CBC 7 o'Clock Show.

Keane is an account executive with CHQM in Vancouver. He also does sports for that station and does freelance work.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Indecent Calls

A 19-year-old youth pleaded guilty in magistrate's court today to eight counts of making indecent phone calls.

Oak Bay police testified the youth admitted to placing over 100 of the calls to women selected at random from the telephone directory.

Most of the calls took place in early July.

Magistrate Ostler remanded the case to Nov. 10 and ordered a pre-sentence and a psychiatric report.

SIDNEY, NORTH SAANICH — POLL TEST SATURDAY

Survey Hints Merger Vote Will Read 'No'

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Will residents of North Saanich and Sidney vote in favor of amalgamation?

The question is uppermost in the minds of residents of the two districts who will cast their votes for or against merger at the two municipal halls Saturday between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.

●

While the queation will be decided at the polls a consensus at this date indicates the vote will be "no" unless (and this is unlikely) there is a last-minute swing.

There are several factors which appear to doom the union proposal at the present time.

The first is that a 60 per cent majority vote in each of the two municipalities is necessary. Both Sidney and North Saanich must favor union.

Another involves the social characteristics of the two districts.

Sidney, for example, has a high proportion of elderly people who are expected to vote "no" because union will mean a tax increase. Statistics show that 23 per cent of the population is under 14 years and 25 per cent over 65 years.

While the Stevenson and Kellogg report shows that Sidney will stand to gain taxwise by amalgamation in a few years, public opinion is that elderly people with limited income will vote against union.

Family incomes are also lower in Sidney than North Saanich. It averages $4,822.

●

The family income in North Saanich is $5,199, almost 8 per cent higher.

But despite higher family incomes and with fewer residents over the age of 65 (21 per cent), the majority of North Saanich voters are also expected to vote "no," but for different reasons.

The main objection to union is the fear it will result in the destruction of the rural amenities of the municipality.

This view is not shared by Sidney residents who are on the whole just as interested in preserving the open spaces of the adjoining municipality. Taxation is the only issue.

Sidney Mayor A. W. Freeman and North Saanich Reeve J. B. Cummings are divided on the subject.

Mayor Freeman feels amalgamation would be a good thing, but the people are not yet ready for it.

He feels the matter should be considered at some later date.

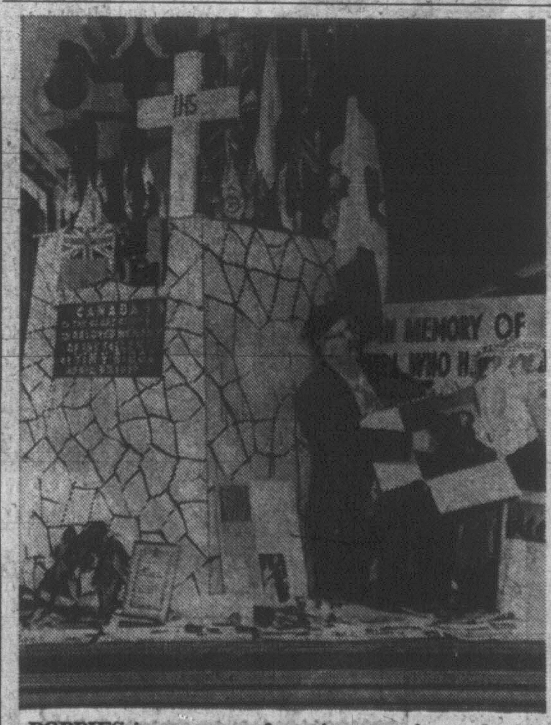

Reeve Cumming takes a different view.

As head and a member of various inter-municipal committees and boards dealing with such problems as sanitation, hospitals, recreation and planning, he feels union should take place now to curb rising taxes.

●

It would be cheaper to unite now that later, he believes.

Another factor induced him to bring the amalgamation to the fore and that was to find out what the residents wanted so that planning could go ahead in one direction or the other.

POPPIES in memory of servicemen who made the supreme sacrifice go on sale to the public Friday evening and all day Saturday, and proceeds will go to help Victoria veterans. George Burnham, 620 Cook, displays box of popies beside Royal Canadian Legion's memorial window display at Fort and Government. A non-denominational Remembrance Day service will be held in St. John's Anglican Church, Sunday, at 3 p.m., when Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will read the lesson.

Police Chief Asks Press To Leave

VANCOUVER (CP) — City police chief Ralph Booth demanded that newsmen leave a meeting which he was addressing Wednesday evening. He said that fear of distortion of his remarks made it impossible for him to speak freely with reporters present.

Mr. Booth accused the press of sensationalism and telling only half a story.

"I am going to be blunt," he said. "A good deal of the problems we are dealing with are created by the press."

The police chief was speaking at a meeting of the British Columbia Correctional Association. A second speaker was Dr. Robert Rowan, political philosophy professor at the University of British Columbia, who said that rights which civilized society had acquired over centuries should not be casually set aside.

He was referring to a brief presented to the Canadian Association of Police Chiefs last April and signed by Mr. Booth which advocated increasing police powers. The brief called for police rights to enter and search homes without warrants of persons suspected of minor crimes, and psychological tests for magistrates.

The brief raised public protests, as have previous demands by Mr. Booth for compulsory identity cards, universal fingerprinting of citizens, and the right for policemen to lift licences of drivers they suspect of drinking alcohol.

Arctic Expert To Speak

An Arctic explorer and a leading authority on Canada's northlands will speak to the Men's Canadian Club of Victoria next Thuesday.

Lieut.-Col. P. D. Baird, geology department, McGill University, will speak on "a future for the Canadian Arctic" at a luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel, starting at 12:15 p.m.

The Cambridge University-educated geologist, was a member of the Sir James Wordie expedition to Greenland and Baffin Island and of the British Canadian Arctic expedition in 1936-37.

He served in the Second World War and later became nationally known as commander of Exercise "Muskox," the first mechanized military force to cross the Arctic barrens in winter from Churchill to the Rockies and Edmonton.

He is a member of the Arctic defence research board, the Arctic Institute of North America, and Research Fellow Aberdeen University.

Doctoral Degree Key To Economic Status

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Patrick McTaggart-Cowan, president of Simon Fraser University, said Wednesday the key to current social and economic status is a doctoral degree.

"The graduate with a BA today has no greater storehouse of knowledge than I had in 1929 when I matriculated from high school," he said in an interview.

More had to be taught young people in lower grades, to free the higher levels to handle new knowledge. If presented properly, calculus could be taught at the Grade 2 level.

McTaggart-Cowan, whose university opened two years ago in Burnaby, is a delegate to the annual meeting of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada this week.

He said the education process of the future may begin to teach people how to think instead of forcing them to remember facts.

"The rate at which new knowledge increases is going up, but you can't go on just piling it on the backs of students—all you get is mental indigestion."

Embalmer's Knife Revives 'Dead' Man

WASHINGTON (AP)—A young American soldier, pronounced dead of wounds, showed signs of life while under the knife of a U.S. Army embalmer in Vietnam.

Specialist Jacky C. Bayne, 22, of Fort Mill, S.C., was pronounced dead near Chu Lai last July 16 after doctors had worked for 45 minutes trying resuscitation.

His seemingly lifeless body was sent routinely to an Army graves-registration section nearby and it was sometime later—no one knows exactly how long—when the embalmer's knife made its first incision.

There was a faint flicker of life and Bayne was taken back to a field hospital. After more resuscitation and numerous blood transfusions there were other signs of life.

Today, more than three months later, Bayne is moving toward at least limited recovery at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

The Bayne story was published today by the Knight newspapers.

CAR CRASH KILLS VICTORIA MAN

One of two men killed in a car crash on the Trans-Canada Highway near Hell's Gate last week was identified by police Wednesday night as Mike Ellis, 1157 Balmoral.

The other is Lloyd Zygraliski of Lillooet.

The car missed a curve on the highway last Thursday and plunged off a cliff 400 feet below the highway.

The wreckage of their car was only discovered by police Wednesday.

Twelve other persons have been killed on the same stretch of highway in the past year.

Newfoundland Gets Czech Pavilion

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The Czechoslovakian Pavilion at Expo 67 has been presented as "an outright gift to the government and people of Newfoundland," Premier Joseph Smallwood announced today.

He made the announcement at a news conference attended by Zdenek Koudelka, deputy commissioner general of the pavilion, and two other representatives of the Czech government.

Mr. Smallwood also disclosed that he will go to Prague within the next few weeks to meet Czechoslovakian Prime Minister Josef Lenart "to thank him and the government and people of Czechoslovakia for a very, very handsome gesture."

Mr. Smallwood, with the approval of the Czech delegates, also disclosed plans to name the two arts and culture centres at Gander and Grand Falls—for which the two-building pavilion would be used—after Czechoslovakian composer Anton Dvorak and a 16th-century Roman Catholic educationist, Bishop Comenius. They would be the Dvorak Centre at Gander and the Comenius Centre at Grand Falls.

Mr. Smallwood gave the floor to Mr. Koudelka, but joked with him during his remarks about the premier's vying with Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau for the $4,000,000 pavilion.

Mr. Koudelka said: "Mr. Drapeau was very interested . . . but Mr. Smallwood acted very fast and was very friendly to us."

Australians Discover 'Unique Star'

ADELAIDE (Reuters) — Australian scientists have announced the discovery of an apparently new type of star with a life span of only about two years.

The existence of "this unique object" was announced by a research group led by Prof. K. G. McCracken of the University of Adelaide and Dr. A. G. Fenton of the University of Tasmania.

Their six-month study could upset the theories of some scientists who believe X-ray stars—the mysterious power stations of outer space—have radiated for millions of years.

McCracken said observations made by detectors on a rocket launched from Woomera in April and others made by U.S. scientists in Hawaii a month later suggest a bright X-ray star near the constellations Crux and Centaurus was born and died within two years—a matter of moments on the astronomical scale.

Mammoth Park Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Senate voted Wednesday to create a mammoth national park in California to spare thousands of acres of virgin redwoods timberland from the lumberman's axe.

But, to help defray the cost of the 64,000-acre preserve on California's northern coast, it decided to trade a 14,567-acre tract of government-owned redwood timber to four large lumber companies in exchange for their private lands inside the park area.

The park proposal, which will be taken up by the House Interior Committee next year, passed 77 to 6, but the land-swap arrangement survived by a vote of 51 to 30.

Crackdown in Spain

VICTORIA, Spain (AP) — Police have cracked down on two underground organizations, one Communist and the other separatist, in this Basque region, the semi-official Cifra news agency has reported. The agency said police detained 14 men, including members of the Spanish Communist party, and others belonging to the ETA, a Basque separatist organization.

U.S. Cadets Plan Visit

A group of 38 cadets and seven officers from the United States Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, will visit the Canadian Services College Royal Roads for four days, starting Nov. 9.

This is an annual exchange visit designed to foster friendship between the academies.

The U.S. cadets will attend lectures and will also participate in a program of sports.

Sports competitions will be held on Nov. 11, after cadets from both colleges have attended the Remembrance Day Service at the Cenotaph.

Cadets will participate in a 4.3 mile cross country run and later, at 2:30 p.m., a soccer game will be held.

The teams are well matched. In the last two years only one goal has been scored during the games. In 1965 the score was 1-0 for Royal Roads, and in 1966 it was a 0-0 tie.

The college grounds will be open to visitors for the soccer game.

THREE HOURS BEFORE SINKING

Liferaft Drop Rejected by Captain

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Less than three hours before the freighter Panoceanic Faith sank in Alaskan waters Oct. 9, the skipper rejected an offered drop of liferafts, a U.S. navy flier told a coast guard board of inquiry Wednesday.

Cmdr. Neil Holt testified that his Neptune patrol plane, stationed at Adak, was over the stricken ship early in the afternoon. His was the first plane on the scene and the only one low enough to watch the ship's sinking as darkness approached.

Holt testified that he radioed the Panoceanic's skipper, Capt. John Ogles, and asked if he should drop liferafts. Holt said Ogles replied he didn't want the drop then because he might not be able to pick the rafts up due to steering difficulties.

"The condition of the sip appeared to be reasonably good the first hours I was there," Holt testified. "But later the wind picked up, the swells got higher and the list became worse."

Later, Holt said, he could see 5 men in the port lifeboat.

When the ship started going down, it went quickly, disappearing beneath the waves in about two minutes, he said.

Holt testified that just before the ship sank he dropped five life-rafts. The rafts were the type that have to be inflated after reaching water, but Holt said he was sure that one 12-man raft and two seven-man rafts were inflated.

The witness said he had not talked with the skipper for at least a half hour before that because Ogles was talking to a Japanese ship heading for the scene from about 14 miles away.

Only five out of the crew of 40 survived.

The hearing continues.

Students Plan Hike For Charity

High school and university students will hike through Greater Victoria this month to focus attention on their aid program for underprivileged students elsewhere in the world.

The "money for miles" trek, scheduled for Nov. 25, is to raise more money for a student centennial scheme called Project 100 which will provide mobile classrooms for underdeveloped countries within the Commonwealth.

The students are looking for sponsors who will agree to pay a set sum for each mile covered by volunteer walkers. A student committee is laying out a course which will wander through the city for "at least 25 miles."

The sponsors note the walk is not an athletic contest but a means of focusing attention on the plan to help needy students. They hope prominent citizens will take part.

Woman Hurt In Collision

A 72-year-old woman is in fair condition in hospital today with cuts and bruises suffered in a car accident Wednesday at 5:15 p.m.

Mrs. Grace Longworth, 1110 Vista Heinghts, was a passenger in a car police said was dirven by Charles Longworth of 2545 Killarney.

The car was in collision with a car reportedly driven by Ralph Proceviat, 2616 Blackwood, at the intersection of Blackwood and Vista Heights.

Dutch to Denounce Canada Air Treaty

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—The Netherlands intends to denounce its current aviation agreement with Canada because it failed to obtain landing rights for LKM Royal Dutch Airlines in Toronto.

The Dutch minister of transport and waterways, Johannes Bakker, told the lower house permanent transport committee here Wednesday that it was the first time in the history of Dutch civil aviation that such an action towards Canada was contemplated.

Canadians were reported to be surprised by the Dutch statement, especially in view of the recent decision by Canadian Pacific Airlines to move its European sales headquarters from London to Amsterdam.

Observers said the Canadians asked for reciprocal rights in return for the Toronto concession, but Holland could offer nothing beyond the existing facilities. A similar situation previously caused friction with the United States when KLM wanted landing rights there.

The current civil aviation agreement with Canada can be terminated by both parties but denunciation of the treaty by Holland would require approval of the Dutch Parliament. Even after approval of the denunciation the treaty would continue to be valid for 12 months.

Dutch officials said today that all this gave plenty of time for further talks with the Canadians and also would open up fresh opportunities for negotiating a new treaty which might be much better than the present one. Holland, in any case is willing to negotiate a new treaty.

Angry American Chooses Canada

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—A pacifist student at Brown University said he would leave for Montreal Friday to renounce his American citizenship because of his "disgust" with U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

John R. Stahl, 20, of Auburndale, Mass., made his decision while watching the anti-war demonstrations in Washington last week, he said. He took no part in the rally but was grabbed at random along with 35 other persons and thrown into a truck by the military police, Stahl said.

Expo Workers Seek New Jobs in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — An influx of former Expo employees looking for jobs on the west coast is worrying officials of the British Columbia Hotels Association.

J. Roy Corbett, managing director of the association, said Wednesday 36 people visited his office the previous day, looking for jobs in hotels, motels or restaurants, compared to the normal one or two.

Superb whisky flavour is a Schenley Tradition

There's really only one way to judge a whisky, and that's by its flavour. If it makes your drink taste better, it's a better whisky. This is what brings people to Schenley Tradition. Tradition's friendly blend of superb whiskies makes any drink taste better — and it has for a long time. It's a Tradition worth staying with.

SEGREGATIONIST ESCAPES PRE-ELECTION GUNFIRE

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Four shots were fired early today at U.S. Rep. John R. Rarick, D—La., staunchly segregationist candidate for governor of Louisiana, by "three or four dark figures" in a small car. He was not hurt.

Police quoted Rarick as saying the assailants were Negroes. Rarick's administrative assistant later denied it.

Rarick had finished a campaign commercial at a television station and was about to get into his car in a parking lot in New Orleans' historic French quarter when the small car appeared and the shots rang out.

Rarick's administrative assistant, E. Neil Edwards, was with the congressman, his wife and Dr. Fred Beck of New Orleans. Edwards said the party dived behind cars in the parking lot and the small car sped away.

Rarick opposes Gov. John J. McKeithen for the gubernatorial nomination—tantamount to election in Louisiana—in Saturday's Democratic primary. The largest field of Negro candidates in state history also is on the ballot and many Negroes will be voting for the first time.

Police said Rarick told them "at least four Negro men fired the shots. But Edwards told newsmen several hours later he could not tell.

"Everything happened so fast," Edwards said. "The small dark car appeared and someone started firing. Those in the party ducked for cover.

It is personally hard for me to say they were white or colored. It was so dark."

Police posted a guard at Rarick's home.
